

COOLIDGE SEES FAILURE OF REPARATIONS PLAN;
WILL NOT SEND CABINET MEMBER AS DELEGATESchool Teachers To Receive Pay in "Scrip" RESTRICTIONS MAY KEEP AMERICA OUT
OF GERMAN PROBEPUBLIC SCHOOL BOARD IS FACING
$769,000 DEFICIT

Pres. Gaines Says That Every Possible Economy Is Being Practiced and Cuts Are Imposable.

ASKS FOR 37 PER CENT OF INCOME OF ATLANTA

Mayor Sims Says School Percentage Can Not Be Increased—Conference Committee Is Named.

Atlanta's 1923 public school deficit will be passed on for settlement next year by issuance of "scrip" in payment of November and December salaries and an effort to prevent an estimated 1924 deficit of $769,000 will be made by a special committee composed of school board and council members. It was decided at a conference Friday afternoon of the board of education with Mayor Walter A. Sims, the school committee of council and the chairman of the finance committee of council.

The "scrip" issued on 1923 accounts will be similar to that used in former years when the city has run out of funds at the end of the year. Salary checks will be attached to statements which, in effect, will be promissory notes of the city of Atlanta payable in January, 1924. These checks, as obligations of the city of Atlanta, will be acceptable for discount at banks. Council will underwrite the scrip by resolution at its last meeting in November. The resolution will provide that interest on the "scrip" will be paid by the city so that the teachers will not lose because of the school board's financial straits.

Door Is Opened.
Although the city administration and the school administration apparently were brought no closer together on the question of school expenditures than they were before the conference, the creation of a special joint committee opens a door to possible ultimate agreement.

W. W. Gaines, president of the school board, announced the committee Friday night as follows: Mayor Walter A. Sims, Alderman L. N. Ragdale, chairman of the council finance committee; Councilman Edward H. Imman, chairman of council schools committee; Councilman Allen Couch, Councilman J. J. Greer, representing city council; W. L. McClellan, Jr., chairman of the finance and building committee of the school board; Claude L. Trussell, Mrs. Z. R. Peterson, John T. Hancock, Dr. E. M. Eubanks, Superintendent William A. Sutton and Mr. Gaines. Date for the first meeting of the committee was not announced.

Budget for Schools.
President Gaines submitted to the conference a proposed school budget for 1924, calling for expenditure of $2,933,368 and asked that council appropriate to schools approximately 37 per cent of the total revenue of the city.

Continued on Page 5, Column 1.

THE
ADVERTISEMENT

that gets the best result is the ad that tells the whole story—the ad that leaves nothing to be guessed. Whatever sort of ad you insert in the Want Ad columns, let it be complete. If you want a room, tell the neighborhood, about what price you will pay, how long you want it, how big a room, must it be in a rooming house or do you prefer a private family, would you like one or two meals, kitchen privileges, and when will you take possession.

Want Ad Dept.

The Atlanta Constitution

Phone MAIN 5000

"Atlanta's Best Want Ad Service"

Q. Q. Q. Orders
18 To Close Shop
Or Obey the Law

Similar Warnings Given to Two Others After Recent Flogging.

Tampa, Fla., November 2.—Eighteen restaurant and drink stand proprietors have been warned to obey the law, close up or take the consequences by the "Que Que Que," according to identical letters received today by F. M. Williams, chief of police, and a local afternoon newspaper. The letters bore special delivery stamps and Chief Williams said he was at work tracing them to their source.

Similar warnings were handed two restaurateurs Wednesday night after they had been kidnapped, flogged and left to return home by unmasked men.

Chief Williams stated that he was also investigating the statements in the letters that the owners had been sent warnings. He said all named in the letters had been arrested at one time or another for prohibition law violation.

PAGE IN SENATE
PUTS DEATH NOTE
IN WALTON HAND

Stranger Sent Boy With Letter to Executive, Then Left Building, Declares Recipient.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Oklahoma City, Okla., November 2.—Governor J. C. Walton, on trial before a senate court of impeachment, declared today that his life had been threatened in a note handed him this morning by a senate page as he sat at his counsel table.

The note was handed to a page by a stranger, the governor said he had learned. The stranger then left. Inquirers at the time were given to understand that the note was "insulting," but the governor later declared it was "a threat against his life." The governor remained in his office during the afternoon session of the court, but declared it was for the purpose of attending to personal business.

Refuses to Show Note.
Governor Walton declined to show the alleged note to a press representative.

Counsel for Governor Walton let it be known that if the decision in the impeachment case is unfavorable to him an appeal will be taken to the United States district court.

They declined to reveal details of the contemplated action, but intimated that the October 2 special election, which was held when the election officials and voters ignored the governor's order to keep the polls closed, would in some way be made the basis of the appeal.

Counsel for Governor Walton opened their offensive as soon as court convened this morning, taking up first article one of the impeachment bill which charges the executive with

Continued on Page 12, Column 3.

HAIR CUT SHORT,
ROUGE ON CHEEK
HELP MAKE LADY

Chicago, November 2.—"My wife isn't a lady; she bobs her hair and puts on rouge," Frank Campagna told Judge Morgan.

"I ask you, Judge, don't I look like a lady," implored Evangeline, his wife.

"Bobbed hair," ruled the court, "is worn in the best of families. The very nicest ladies, Mr. Campagna, also use rouge."

Frank agreed to take the judge's word for it and Evangeline promised to forgive him for a recent spanking that caused the court appearance.

SPOONERS GET RELIEF
Cook County Nooks Made Safe for Petting Parties.

Chicago, November 2.—Sheriff Hoffman has declared a closed season on spooners in the Cook county forest preserves.

The county highway police have been ordered to "lay off of petting parties."

"Go out and get the thieves, speeders and reckless drivers," Hoffman told them.

GOVERNMENT STAR
WITNESS IN BOOZE
CASE IS INDICTED

Return of a True Bill Against "Red" Tosh Proves Surprise to Prosecution and Defense.

Similar warnings were handed two restaurateurs Wednesday night after they had been kidnapped, flogged and left to return home by unmasked men.

Chief Williams stated that he was also investigating the statements in the letters that the owners had been sent warnings. He said all named in the letters had been arrested at one time or another for prohibition law violation.

GARNER AND DEPUTIES ARE INDICTED AGAIN

Both Sides Announce Ready for Trial in Sensational Gwinnett Liquor Conspiracy Case.

Springing a surprise on both prosecution and defense by indicting the government's star witness in the case, the federal grand jury Friday afternoon returned an indictment charging conspiracy against Sheriff E. S. Garner, Deputy Sheriff Howard Garner and J. M. Bernard, of Gwinnett county, and A. L. ("Red") Tosh, indicted liquor agent, who appeared before the grand jury as principal witness against the Gwinnett officers, only to find himself jointly indicted when the jury's report was returned.

This is the second time Sheriff Garner and his two deputies have been indicted on the same conspiracy charges, the previous indictment having been thrown out of court on demurrer entered by defense counsel before Judge Samuel H. Sibley. However, the first indictment, returned at the March term of court, included two other deputies, L. S. Wages and Lum Brown, neither of whom were mentioned in Friday's action. ("Red") Tosh was called as a witness in the first indictment, but was not included in its tolls as was the case at his second appearance.

Government Surprised.
Much surprise was expressed by government officials interested in the case when it became known that Tosh had been included in the conspiracy charge. Assistant District Attorney John Henley, who drew the indictment, stated that he was aware of the fact that Tosh had been indicted, setting aside earlier reports that the principal witness had been included by mistake.

On motion of Attorney Len B. Guilbeaux, who was in court when the indictment was returned by the grand jury, Judge Sibley ruled that Sheriff Garner and Deputies Garner and Bernard could remain at liberty under the bonds made when the first indictment was found.

Attorney Guilbeaux stated that his clients denied any conspiracy charge they expect to be ready for trial when the case is called.

Due to the fact that Tosh is now serving a sentence imposed after he was captured at Fernandina, Fla., while in the possession of a cargo of liquor, no immediate action is necessary to assure his appearance at trial. He was removed from Florida to Atlanta to appear as a witness in the case.

Attorney William Seydmore, one of the four attorneys representing the Garners, stated Friday night that he was surprised to learn that Tosh had been included as a defendant in the indictment, predicting, however, that his clients would be ready for trial when the case is called.

Golding Is Silent.
George E. Golding, special officer of the intelligence bureau, under whose direction Tosh was operating when the Gwinnett officers were arrested, refused to comment on the case. He declined to reveal details of the contemplated action, but intimated that the October 2 special election, which was held when the election officials and voters ignored the governor's order to keep the polls closed, would in some way be made the basis of the appeal.

Counsel for Governor Walton opened their offensive as soon as court convened this morning, taking up first article one of the impeachment bill which charges the executive with

Continued on Page 12, Column 3.

HAIR CUT SHORT,
ROUGE ON CHEEK
HELP MAKE LADY

Chicago, November 2.—"My wife isn't a lady; she bobs her hair and puts on rouge," Frank Campagna told Judge Morgan.

"I ask you, Judge, don't I look like a lady," implored Evangeline, his wife.

"Bobbed hair," ruled the court, "is worn in the best of families. The very nicest ladies, Mr. Campagna, also use rouge."

Frank agreed to take the judge's word for it and Evangeline promised to forgive him for a recent spanking that caused the court appearance.

SPOONERS GET RELIEF
Cook County Nooks Made Safe for Petting Parties.

Chicago, November 2.—Sheriff Hoffman has declared a closed season on spooners in the Cook county forest preserves.

The county highway police have been ordered to "lay off of petting parties."

"Go out and get the thieves, speeders and reckless drivers," Hoffman told them.

Octopus Displays
Atom of Cunning
In Death Battle

Overcomes Cormorant by Clever Ruse in Water War.

Brighton, England, November 2.—More basis for William Jennings Bryan and his fellow opponents of the Darwinian theory than man got what brains he has from the lower animals.

An octopus and a cormorant were kept together in a huge glass tank at the local aquarium. They became firm enemies, and spent most of their time fighting—the cormorant using his bill and the octopus its tentacles.

Finally, the octopus, overcoming tremendous water pressure, pulled out the plug from the bottom of the tank and let out six feet of the eight feet of water in it. Then he let the plug slip back into place.

Next morning the cormorant swooped down for his morning dip. The usual battle began, and when things became too hot the cormorant, also as usual, made for the floating platform moored to the side of the tank. It was hanging six feet above the water-line; and before the bird could leave the water it was dragged under and killed.

COOLIDGE COUSIN TO HOE OWN ROW
IN VERMONT RACE

President Declines To Interfere in State Election Despite Pleas of Politicians for Support.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.
Washington, November 2.—President Coolidge has kept his hands out of the senatorial fight in his native state of Vermont, thereby avoiding the unpleasant necessity of deciding between ties of kin and those of politics. His cousin, Park H. Pollard, is the democratic candidate for United States senator in Vermont, where Coolidge was born and reared. This unique situation gives an interesting national angle to the spiraling contest over the election of a successor to the late Senator Dillingham next Tuesday.

Elections are to be held in a number of states Tuesday, but this one, and the hot fights in Maryland and Kentucky, are the only ones which are attracting much national interest.

Have Asked Support.
Vermont republican leaders have implored the president to write a letter or otherwise come to the support of his party in order to save it from defeat. Failure to register Vermont the birthplace of Coolidge, and the one state with the exception of Utah—which stayed republican in 1912, would be a serious blow to the prestige of the administration, Coolidge was told. But the several trips of republican leaders failed to move him.

His democratic cousin is fighting it out with Representative Dale, the republican senatorial candidate and a close friend of Coolidge. The dry issue is threatening to cause trouble. Vermont has a large French-Canadian population and in addition is close to the moist Canadian border, so that the republicans with their dry platform are in danger of losing the thirty vote.

Pollard also has some advantage by virtue of his relationship with Coolidge, but whether anything can overcome the republicanism of Vermont is a question.

Continued on Page 9, Column 7.

NEWSPAPER JEST
KEEPS MARY BUSY
REJECTING LOVERS

Shreveport, La., November 2.—When Mary Garden, the prima donna, was quoted on the Pacific coast recently as having declared she might marry within a year it started something, she said here today. The trouble was that somebody added a few frills to it, the principal one of which was that she had declared her preference for a westerner. Miss Garden said it was a plot hatched by newspaper reporters.

The whole affair was started in jest," she said, "but soon became a terrible reality when ranchers, would-be ranchers and used-to-be ranchers began seeking interviews with me in order to press their suit."

Continued on Page 9, Column 7.

ROME BANK CLERK
IN UNIQUE REVENGE

Rome, November 2.—A bank clerk in the Genoa branch of the Bank of Italy and America took an unusual revenge when chiefs refused to raise his pay.

The clerk confessed Friday that he burned 1,000,000 lire worth of bank deposits "to get even."

The ashes of the money have been found.

MELLON FINISHES
PINCHOT DEBATE
BY FORMAL JAB

Secretary of Treasury Issues Statement on Dry Enforcement as His Parting Shot.

Washington, November 2.—Secretary Mellon announced tonight he would continue no further the controversy initiated by Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, on the subject of prohibition enforcement.

In a formal statement, the secretary put an end to the exchange of communication, so far as the treasury is concerned, saying with finality that "all persons interested in law enforcement will see the futility of any controversy" between himself and the Pennsylvania governor, who is regarded here as a strong aspirant for the presidency.

The statement was designed to serve as a reply to Mr. Pinchot's most recent letter, in which federal enforcement again was criticized and, according to Mr. Mellon, in which Governor Pinchot charged that the treasury department had made "an effort to enforce the national prohibition act in Pennsylvania and, inferentially, no serious effort generally."

Instead of attempting a detailed answer to the various inquiries of the governor, Mr. Mellon said he proposed to confine himself to "a statement of the efforts to enforce the law that have been made in Pennsylvania and throughout the country."

Need More Money.
At the same time Mr. Mellon went into the problems which the federal enforcement officials have had to deal with and declared that the solution, in part, was more money for expansion of the government's enforcement unit. In addition to money, however, Mr. Mellon said that "patience, perseverance and united effort are necessary to the undertaking."

"Despite all hindrances," the secretary said, "I believe that, with sufficient aid, the law can be enforced."

Continued on Page 9, Column 5.

Compromise Ends
Edgewood Avenue
Widening Fight

Improvement Expected to Start Before End of This Month.

Widening and repaving of Edgewood avenue will begin before the end of November as a result of a compromise reached Friday between the streets committee of council and the public works committee of the Fulton county board of commissioners. It was announced by Councilman Claude Ashley, chairman of the streets committee, following the session of that body Friday afternoon.

The county is to pay the city's share of the cost of repaving Edgewood from Pryor to Boulevard and widening it eight feet from Courtland to Boulevard. Four feet will be cut from the sidewalks on each side of the street from Courtland to Boulevard.

The streets committee voted a formal request on the finance committee to provide funds for changing the location of water mains along the street, the only expense to which the city will be put in making the change.

The county will pay one-third of the cost and property owners along the street will be assessed for the other two-thirds, divided equally between those on the north and south sides of the street.

The street committee was told Friday that the program as finally approved by the county commissioners is satisfactory to all interests concerned. Some property owners west of Courtland had threatened to join the widening of the street so the section between Peachtree and Courtland will be left as it is. Originally, it had been proposed to widen the street 20 feet, taking 10 feet from each side, instead of four from each side as finally voted Friday.

WARREN DENIES SON IS ENGAGED TO JEANNE EAGELS

New York, November 2.—Whitney Warren, Sr., today denied published reports that his son, Whitney Warren, Jr., was betrothed to Miss Jeanne Eagels, star of the Broadway play "Rain."

The reports quoted Mrs. Julia Eagels, mother of the actress as having announced the star's engagement to Mr. Warren to a few friends last night. She also was said to have declared public announcement of the engagement was planned by Miss Eagels and Mr. Warren at a dinner next week in celebration of the long run of "Rain."

DRIVER IS INJURED
AS CAR OVERTURNS
IN SYLVANIA RACE

Sylvania, Ga., November 2.—(Special.)—In an automobile race at the fair here this afternoon, the car driven by Joe Dixon, white, turned over on a curve and he was thrown some distance and severely hurt. Sammy Burke, negro, who was in the race with him, was caught under the car and also badly hurt. It is not thought that either is fatally injured.

Bernard Pearce won the light car race and Fulton Dixon was first in the other dash.

Troops on Duty
To Foil Mutiny
In Prison Camp

Delay in Pardons Promised by Gov. Walton Makes Trouble.

Oklahoma City, Okla., November 2.—Fifty national guardsmen were called out to guard a prison camp near the capitol, late Friday, following a report to Lieutenant Governor M. E. Trapp that the prisoners threatened to mutiny.

A wholesale jail delivery plot is said to have been discovered. The men have been disgruntled over the hold-up of pardons and paroles said to have been promised to them by Governor Walton. Since his suspension action on granting the prisoners their freedom has been momentarily halted pending investigation.

Warden Townsend, who reported the threatened outbreak to Trapp, said the 68 prisoners involved would be taken to the state penitentiary at McAlester Saturday.

MRS. HELEN STOKES
IS CALM ON STAND
DESPITE GRILLING

Never Had Happy Day With Husband, She Asserts—Denies Visiting Home of Wallace.

New York, November 2.—Mrs. Helen Edwood Stokes, wife of W. E. D. Stokes, resumed the witness stand today for cross-examination in the trial of her husband's suit for divorce.

She said she could not recall having spent one happy day with Stokes since her marriage. She emphasized that she had never been at the home of Edgar T. Wallace, named as co-defendant.

Mrs. Stokes was questioned by Max D. Steur, counsel for Stokes.

"On the day you married Mr. Stokes, you regretted it," he asked.

"I did," answered Mrs. Stokes.

Not a Happy Day.
"Did you ever have a happy day with him?"

"I cannot recall that I did."

"Did you correspond with Wallace?"

"I don't recall."

"Did he write you?"

"I cannot say definitely."

"Did not your friendship ripen sufficiently to have correspondence with him?"

"You know as much about it as I do; I can't say for certain."

"Did he write you a few weeks before you took the stand in the trial of 1921?"

"He wrote, but not to me. The letter was meant to tell me where I could find him if he was needed as a witness."

She said she had always known

Continued on Page 12, Column 2.

RUMP CABINET IS STRESEMANN PLAN TO CONTINUE RULE

Withdrawal of Socialist Ministers Draws Sharp Rebuke From German Chancellor.

Berlin, November 2.—Chancellor Stresemann will attempt at present, to rule Germany with a "Rump" cabinet, following the break-up of his patch-work government through the resignation of the socialist members.

If he receives a vote of confidence from the reichstag, this project is feasible.

Otherwise he may dissolve the reichstag, and rule as an actual dictator. This is the outcome of the party strife which culminated Friday in the long predicted socialist resignations. Angered by the maintenance of the limited state of siege, which they charged resulted in troops pursuing workers while Bavarian monarchists were unmolested, the socialist party agreed, with only 19 dissenting votes, that their representatives must quit the cabinet.

Belgiums Block Separatist Raid
Action at Aix Follows Formal Protests by the British and Dutch Consuls for Nations.

By The United News.

Berlin, November 2.—Chancellor Stresemann will attempt at present, to rule Germany with a "Rump" cabinet, following the break-up of his patch-work government through the resignation of the socialist members.

If he receives a vote of confidence from the reichstag, this project is feasible.

Otherwise he may dissolve the reichstag, and rule as an actual dictator. This is the outcome of the party strife which culminated Friday in the long predicted socialist resignations. Angered by the maintenance of the limited state of siege, which they charged resulted in troops pursuing workers while Bavarian monarchists were unmolested, the socialist party agreed, with only 19 dissenting votes, that their representatives must quit the cabinet.

Belgiums Block Separatist Raid
Action at Aix Follows Formal Protests by the British and Dutch Consuls for Nations.

By The United News.

Berlin, November 2.—Chancellor Stresemann will attempt at present, to rule Germany with a "Rump" cabinet, following the break-up of his patch-work government through the resignation of the socialist members.

If he receives a vote of confidence from the reichstag, this project is feasible.

Otherwise he may dissolve the reichstag, and rule as an actual dictator. This is the outcome of the party strife which culminated Friday in the long predicted socialist resignations. Angered by the maintenance of the limited state of siege, which they charged resulted in troops pursuing workers while Bavarian monarchists were unmolested, the socialist party agreed, with only 19 dissenting votes, that their representatives must quit the cabinet.

Belgiums Block Separatist Raid
Action at Aix Follows Formal Protests by the British and Dutch Consuls for Nations.

By The United News.

Berlin, November 2.—Chancellor Stresemann will attempt at present, to rule Germany with a "Rump" cabinet, following the break-up of his patch-work government through the resignation of the socialist members.

If he receives a vote of confidence from the reichstag, this project is feasible.

Otherwise he may dissolve the reichstag, and rule as an actual dictator. This is the outcome of the party strife which culminated Friday in the long predicted socialist resignations. Angered by the maintenance of the limited state of siege, which they charged resulted in troops pursuing workers while Bavarian monarchists were unmolested, the socialist party agreed, with only 19 dissenting votes, that their representatives must quit the cabinet.

Belgiums Block Separatist Raid
Action at Aix Follows Formal Protests by the British and Dutch Consuls for Nations.

By The United News.

Berlin, November 2.—Chancellor Stresemann will attempt at present, to rule Germany with a "Rump" cabinet, following the break-up of his patch-work government through the resignation of the socialist members.

If he receives a vote of confidence from the reichstag, this project is feasible.

Otherwise he may dissolve the reichstag, and rule as an actual dictator. This is the outcome of the party strife which culminated Friday in the long predicted socialist resignations. Angered by the maintenance of the limited state of siege, which they charged resulted in troops pursuing workers while Bavarian monarchists were unmolested, the socialist party agreed, with only 19 dissenting votes, that their representatives must quit the cabinet.

Continued on Page 5, Column 4.

Restrictions May
Keep America Out
Of German Probe

President Coolidge Believes Limitations on Inquiry Make It Useless To Proceed.

Washington, November 2.—Restrictions on the scope of the proposed expert committee inquiry into German capacity to pay reparations may render it useless to proceed with the plan in the view of President Coolidge, as made known today at the white house.

The original American proposal, it was declared, was for a "complete and inclusive" examination of the question and official advice thus received from abroad have indicated acquiescence in that plan. Press reports of speeches made by Premier Poincare of France have indicated a desire to restrict the inquiry, however, and it was pointed out that the Washington government was "a yes uncertain as to what its attitude would be toward, an invitation to participate unofficially in a restricted inquiry."

It was indicated that in the event restrictions were placed on the scope of the expert committee inquiry which, in the opinion of officials here, would render its studies not hopeful of good results, American participation probably would be agreed upon only with the distinct understanding that the Washington government believed from the outset that the effort to settle the reparations question in that way would be futile.

Although no steps have been taken toward selection of the American representative or representatives on the committee of experts, the president has decided that no member of the cabinet shall be selected. The statement was made at the white house that it would be difficult for a cabinet officer to leave his post in Washington and, even if one were chosen, to keep his activities on the committee from being regarded as official.

POINCARÉ SHOWS
SYMPTOMS OF COMPROMISE

ST. LOUIS, November 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Increasing confidence is felt in government quarters here over the prospects for the early organization and meeting of a special reparations commission, which an American economic expert will chair. In the exchange of views which is proceeding between London and Paris respecting the terminology of the collective allied invitation to the United States, Premier Poincaré, it is learned, shows a perceptible desire to soften

Continued on Page 12, Column 1.

Search of Year
Ends in Finding Kidnaped Child

Bernice Scurlock, 4, Stolen From Augusta Home, Is Discovered.

Augusta, Ga., November 2.—(Special.)—Bernice Scurlock, four-year-old son of Mrs. Maude Scurlock, of Augusta, who is alleged to have been kidnapped by his father, W. B. Scurlock, last December, was found today in Spartanburg, S. C., and returned here tonight in custody of the child's uncle, H. T. Mulligan.

Mulligan was advised that the child had been located by Scurlock, so that he left Augusta early this morning for that city. The child was located by him soon after his arrival and arrangements were made to get the boy. The persons who had the boy released him to Mulligan, stating that the father of the boy had not been seen in two months. A nationwide search has been conducted by the mother for the past year.

W. B. Scurlock, former fireman on the C. and W. C. railroad, is alleged to have kidnapped Bernice Scurlock, his son, December 31, 1922. The alleged kidnapping took place in front of 1922 Broad street during the early part of the evening. Scurlock is alleged to have driven an automobile up to the curb at the sidewalk where the child was at play with his cousin, and snatched the child from her.

The little boy's cousin stated that when the child was dragged from her arms she was injured by Scurlock, so determined was he to get the boy. The child was placed in the machine and hurried away from the city. A country-wide search was conducted by the mother of the little boy, who has been frantic since the child was kidnapped.

There's a ROGERS Store near you

ROGERS

Where Satisfaction is a certainty

Savings for You TodayLarge 46-size juicy, fine GRAPEFRUIT, each 10cCar of sweet, ripe, juicy ORANGES, dozen, 23cCALIFORNIA OR IMPORTED LEMONS, dozen, 13cCanadian Rutabaga Turnips, 5 lbs. 13cLarge, smooth Idaho, IRISH POTATOES, 10 lbs. 27cGeorgia Porto Rican Yams, 10 lbs. 19cFIG BARS —Fresh from Zion City. Filled with luscious Smyrna figs, and browned to perfection. Just as wholesome and delicious as fig bars can be baked.

15c Pound; Two Pounds for . . . 25c

10 lbs. Best Granulated SUGAR 89c NEW PRUNES Pound . 12 1/2cSPECIAL SOAP VALUES

And you'll probably be pleased to know that we are offering these well-known, reliable brands at greatly reduced prices for today and Monday.

3 Bars Large Size OCTAGON SOAP . . . 17c 3 Bars Fine Quality TROPICPALM SOAP . . . 10c

3 PACKAGES OCTAGON CLEANSER FOR ONLY 19c

Walter Baker's Cocoa, Small 9c Large 19cSour Red Pitted Cherries, No. 2 Can 28cEvaporated Peaches, Practically Peeled, lb. 12 1/2c

Rumford Baking Powder, 8 oz. 14c Rogers' Sugar Corn, Sweet and tender, No. 2 can 13c

Maxwell House Coffee 38c Pound can—"Good to the last drop"—Golden Glow Coffee 42c Pound can—"For a cup of goodness"—

Your favorite brand of Evaporated Milk 53 1/4c 11 1/2cHot Cakes and Syrup

What could be finer—more delightfully appetizing and delicious—than a breakfast of Hot Cakes and Syrup?

| | |
|--------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------|
| Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour 15c | Hecker's Pancake Flour 14c |
| Aunt Jemima Buckwheat Flour 15c | Hecker's Buckwheat Flour 14c |
| Piney Woods Pure Ga. Cane Syrup, No. 1 1/2 can 14c | Log Cabin Maple Flavor Syrup, small size 27c |

Purity Markets

In ROGERS' STORES

Specials for TodayPork Steak, lb. 18c
Pork Shoulder Roast, lb. . . 16c

—Milk-Fed Veal—

Fancy Veal Stew, lb. 5c
Fancy Veal Chops, lb. . . . 22c
Fancy Veal Steak (front), lb. 18c
Fancy Veal Roast (front), lb. 18c
Sugar-Cured Hams, lb. . . . 26c

"Where Quality Prevails"

Arm & Hammer Soda, three packages for 13c

Ruby Extract 4-oz. bottle, Vanilla . . . 39c

Rogers' Quality Tissue—2,000 sheets, best quality 19c

Red Rock Ginger Ale, pint bottle . . 11c

No. "1" Macaroni or Spaghetti, a 10c value 6 1/2c

Mackerel, fine autumn caught, each . 15c

Foley's Seeded Raisins, 11-oz. package for 12c

Campbell's Beans, can . . 10c

There's a ROGERS Store near you

ROGERS

Where Satisfaction is a certainty

ATLANTAN OFFERS HOME TO DAUGHTER OF SATTERFIELD

Elizabeth Satterfield, 15-year-old daughter of J. B. Satterfield, now under death sentence for the slaying of R. H. Hart, has been offered a home with a wealthy Atlanta family, according to announcement made Friday by Attorney Murphy Holloway, who represented Satterfield at his recent trial.

Mr. Holloway informed the doomed man of the offer that had come with only one condition—that the interested person's name be withheld. Satterfield begged that the offer be accepted and put into effect as soon as his daughter recovered sufficiently from the recent attempt she made to end her life at Santa Monica, Cal. Motion for a new trial filed by his attorney saved Satterfield from the gallows Friday, the original date set for his execution. Attorney Holloway stated that his principal plea for a new trial would be based on the failure of Judge John D. Humphries to charge the jury on voluntary manslaughter.

ATLANTA CHI PHI WILL HOLD BANQUET

Celebrating its twentieth anniversary, the Chi Phi Alumni Association of Atlanta will hold its annual banquet at 7 o'clock Saturday night, November 17, at the Capital City Club. More than 350 alumni comprise the membership of the Atlanta association. Reservations for the dinner are being made at the office of R. W. Courts, Jr., of the Atlanta National bank, at Walnut 1221. Hughes Spalding is president of the association and Judge Luther Rosser is vice president.

SCHOFIELD CALLS METAL TRADES MEET

John S. Schofield, of Macon, vice president of the Georgia division of the Southern Metals Trades association, has called an important meeting of the division, to be held at Columbus, Ga., Tuesday, November 13, according to an announcement by William E. Dunn, executive secretary.

While the meeting will be devoted to a general discussion of business in the foundry trades, and the outlook for the coming year, and 1924 plans of the organization discussed, the principal subject to be taken up at the Columbus meeting will be costs.

Arrangements have been made by Mr. Dunn to show moving pictures of successful cost findings systems in use, and due to the importance of the subject to the foundry trades practically a 100 per cent attendance of the Georgia members is anticipated.

THE BUTTER FOR THE SOUTH
Distributors for Atlanta
White Provision Co.ATLANTA MARKET114 WHITEHALL ST.
WE DELIVER MAIN 0955
Pure Lard—Bulk. No Limit, lb. 15c
Pure Lard—No. 10 $1.33
Pure Lard—No. 5 69c
Side Salt Meat, 20c lb. Kind 12 1/4c
Sugar-Cured Picnic Hams . . 14c
Good Pork Sausage 20c
MAIN 0955 WE DELIVERSATURDAY SPECIALS

| | |
|----------------------------------|------------------------------|
| Fresh Pig Hams, lb. . . 17 1/2c | Pure Lard, lb. . . . 15c |
| Fresh Pig Shoulders, lb. 12 1/2c | Salt Meat, lb. . . . 10c |
| Sliced Bacon, lb. . . 20c | Picnic Hams, lb. . . 14c |
| Sliced Ham, lb. . . . 20c | Beef Pot Roast, lb. . . . 8c |
| Pork Sausage, lb. . . 15c | Veal Roast, lb. . . . 10c |
| Pork Chops, lb. . . . 20c | Good Steaks, lb. . . 10c |

MAKE YOUR DOLLARS HAVE MORE SENSE

A Syrup for Every Purpose
Ask for Karo!

Broad Street Market

78 SOUTH BROAD

J. H. Smith Crashes the Goal Line of Low Prices and Makes Them Lower
NEW MARKET, 849 PEACHTREE ST. AT 11TH—NEXT TO CONE'S—"A GOOD DRUG STORE"SPECIAL TODAY

| |
|------------------------------------|
| Fresh Dressed Hens . . . 30c |
| Fresh Dressed Friers . . 40c |
| King's Box Bacon 39c |
| Guaranteed Fresh EGGS . . 42c |
| SWIFT PREMIUM HAMS 1b. 28c |

J. H. SMITH
Fancy Western Meats
849 PEACHTREE ST. HEmlock 7798PINK CHERRY
Something Good to Eat—That's All
NORTH PRYOR AND HOUSTON STREETS

| | |
|----------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| Fancy Leg of Lamb 45c | HOME DRESSED HENS 25c |
| Home Dressed Friers . . . 45c | Guaranteed Fresh Eggs . . 45c |
| Best Grade Omelette Butter . 45c | Swift's Premium Hams . . . 45c |
| Fresh Pig Hams 45c | Fresh Fish, Oysters and Seafood . |

A Syrup for Every Use.
Try It!
Candy making, preserving or cooking in any form where sugar can be used.

We Sell
Roller Champion
The flour the best cooks use!
This Unequaled Volume Gained by Courtesy, Service and Low Prices*Sunnyfield BREAKFAST SLICED BACON No Rind 33c Lb.Rumford's BAKING POWDER 8-oz. Can, 14c 16-oz. Can, 28cSUGAR, 10 Lbs. 88cEGGS Strictly Fresh Guaranteed, dozen . 45c Fancy Selected, dozen 39cFancy Wisconsin White POTATOES 10 Lbs. 23cOven Baked B-E-A-N-S With Pork and Tomato Sauce

| | |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|
|  A&P YOU WILL LIKE THE FLAVOR No. 2 Can 9c | Campbell's Needs No Introduction No. 2 Can 10c |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|

Baker's Breakfast COCOA 1-5-lb. Can, 9c 1-2-lb. Can, 19cDelicious, Tasty, Jersey Fancy California
FIG BARS Lb. 5c PRUNES 75 12 1/2cSWIFT'S PREMIUM HAMS, lb. 28cHOLIDAY ITEMS FRUIT CAKE MATERIALS ARE HERE

| | |
|----------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|
| Peel Orange or Lemon, lb. 35c Citron, Glaced, lb. . . . 70c | NUTS Shelled Almonds, pound 65c |
| RAISINS Sunmaid Seeded or Seedless 15-oz. Pkg. 15c | English Walnuts No. 1 Lb. 31c |
| DATES Ali Baba 10-oz. Pkg. 25c | Shelled Walnuts Lb. 80c |

MINCEMEAT A&P 9-oz. Pkg. 12 1/2c NONE-SUCH, 9-oz. Pkg. . . . 16cBUCKWHEAT OR PANCAKE FLOUR, Pkg. 10c

| | |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Values in Sterling COFFEE Red Circle, lb. 35c Bokar, lb. 40c | Cold Mornings TEA A Delightful Beverage Make Hot India-Ceylon, Java or Mixed Thea-Nectar, Orange Pekoe, 1-4 lb. . 18c 1-2 lb. . 34c |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|

THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC CO.
Over 8500 stores in the U.S.A.

SAVANNAH SEEKS COTTON RATE CUT

Savannah, Ga., November 2.—(Special.)—Hearings were held in the federal court room here today by a representative of the Interstate Commerce commission upon complaints that the railroads discriminate against Savannah in the rates of freight charged for cotton.

That the rates which have been offered by the railroads bearing traffic to and from Savannah had been unduly preferential to Augusta, Atlanta and Macon in the hauling of cotton was the view expressed by E. B. Gaines, of Thomas E. Grady & Co. It was pointed out that many of the main lines of railways offered cotton growers along their route a series of rates which is prohibitively high in bringing cotton here. A great bulk of cotton which is being grown in the zone rightfully belongs to Savannah now goes to other cities before being shipped to the mills in North and South Carolina, it was said. This condition was attributed to high rates from the farms to Savannah.

Another feature of the argument, whereby it was alleged that many of the railroads were not giving Savannah equal advantages with other markets, is in the question of concentration and "stopover" facilities for cotton here. It was pointed out that Savannah, as a cotton market, suffered through poor concentration rates. Railways are charging a high rate for bringing the cotton grown along their line to Savannah, it was said. This cotton, which is often called "drifted" cotton, constitutes what will tend to produce a cotton market in a city if the rates are favorable to that city. The profit of the railway is made, it was pointed out, not by this short hauling, but the hauling of larger quantities of cotton from the market to its final destination at the mills. The price on this short haul from the farm to the city market is too high in Savannah's case, is the contention.

Certain lines do not offer a joint rate of bringing cotton to Savannah and then shipping it to its final destination in the North and South Carolina mills, it was said.

Although argued by a local firm, the traffic bureau of Savannah, acting through Thomas E. Grady & Co., and directly affecting local business interests, the hearing is national in scope. It involves every potential cotton center along the Atlantic seaboard. The case will be carried to the main bureau of the Interstate Commerce commission in Washington before final decision is rendered. It may result in the complete reorganization of the railway freight rates affecting the cotton belt.

Jacksonville, New Orleans and Charleston traffic bureaus have sent representatives here to attend the case.

MEMBER OF KU KLUX RESIGNS CITY JOB

St. Louis, November 2.—On the eve of threatened action toward his forcible removal from office for alleged Ku Klux Klan activities at the city hall and police headquarters, M. D. Riggs, chairman of the civil service commission, has tendered his resignation to Mayor Wallace M. Short.

Riggs' resignation contained denunciation of the mayor for alleged betrayal of friendship.

ATLANTAN ARRESTED FOR WEARING UNIFORM

St. Louis, November 2.—George Williams, alias "Captain Jack Williams," who claims to be a veteran of the world war, hiking from Atlanta to San Francisco on a $5,000 bet, was arrested here last night on charge of wearing the uniform of a soldier without authority. Questioned by police, Williams professed ignorance of army regulations and was held for federal authorities.

WE SELL

Absolutely Fresh,
Pure and Delicious.

Stewart D. Jones 17 E. MITCHELL ST.

10 lb. bag Pure Cane
Granulated
Sugar88c

10 lbs. Irish
Cobblers24c

Tall Bess Milk . . .10c

Tall Pet Milk . . .11c

FLOUR

Ballard's Obelisk
Roller Champion . . $1.17

Purity Creamery
Butter48c

No. 10 Pure
Lard $1.44

Paris brand Peas, smallest sifted . . .37½c

No. 2 Can Tomatoes . .10c

No. 2 Can Corn . . .10c

And more wonderful bargains on the Jones stand

Every time you miss coming we both lose

The Syrup of the Home

The flour
the best cooks
use!

46 North Pryor St. 35 East Alabar St.

LARGE SKINNED HAMs,
whole or half10c

Brooks Co.19c

SLICED HAM20c

Just Received, Fresh
Mince Meat, lb. 25c

Fine Dill—
Sour Pickles

Fresh Pig
Feet, lb.8c

Beef Roast10c

Fancy Fresh Dressed Hens and Friers

BREAKFAST BACON—whole or half strip, lb.16c

Pig Heads5c

Good for Candy or any home
use

MEDALS FOR BRAVERY GIVEN RAILROAD MEN

Washington, November 2.—Two railroad employees, Lawrence P. Lapp, of Cozad, Neb., and James A. Underwood, of Shreveport, La., have been awarded medals upon recommendation of the interstate commerce commission for bravery and meritorious conduct.

Lapp, employed by the Union Pacific at Cozad, stepped in front of a passenger train to rescue a woman and succeeded in getting her to safety without being injured.

Underwood, a switchman on the St. Louis and San Francisco, saved the tender of his engine, reached forward and lifted another woman into safety when the train threatened to run her down. He was hurt slightly in performing the act.

President Harding, before leaving for the western tour on which he died, approved the award of the medals. Since February 23, 1905, when the practice of awarding medals to railroad employees was instituted, 24 persons have been so honored.

PACKING HOUSE MARKET 39—EAST ALABAMA ST.—39

From Packer to Consumer—Hence Lower Prices for Better Meat.

LARD—No. 10 REX-PURE $1.32

Fancy Pot Roast, lb.8c

Fancy Chuck Roast, lb.10c

Pork Hams, lb.10½c

Pork Shoulders, lb.12½c

Pork Steak, lb.17½c

Spare Ribs, lb.11½c

Tender Veal Roast, lb.10c

Tender Veal Chops, lb.10c

Tender Forequarter Steak, lb.10c

Tenderloin, Round or Porterhouse12½c

Pure Pork Sausage, lb.15c

Pork and Beef Sausage10c

Whole or Half, lb.19c

SLICED—First Cuts, lb.22½c

Center Cuts, lb.35c

PICNIC HAMs, lb.12½c

Brooks County Hams20c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

Skinned Hams18c

Pork Ham19c

IF—?

—Price Is Any Inducement
—Quality Is What You Want
—Cleanliness Appeals to You
—Your Time Is Valuable

PIGGLY WIGGLY

Is Here to Serve You

Nancy Hall Flour

PLAIN

"Not the cheapest, but the best"

24-Lb. Sack $1.10
12-Lb. Sack58
6-Lb. Sack34

SELF-RISING

"Not the highest price, but the highest quality"

24-Lb. Sack $1.15
12-Lb. Sack60
6-Lb. Sack35

Every sack guaranteed to give satisfaction

SUGAR DOMINO 10 lbs. 89

25-Lb. Cloth Bag . . . $2.45 - 5-Lb. Cloth Bag50c

RAISINS—Del Monte

Seeded 15-Oz. Pkg. 14c;
Ramona, seeded, 10c;
11-Oz. Pkg.10c

DATES—Dromedary

10-Oz. Package, 22c; The Pride of Persia, 19c;
10-Oz. Pkg.19c

White's Cornfield HAMS Finest 25c

GRANDMOTHER'S pure pork SAUSAGE, per Lb.25c

GRANDMOTHER'S pure pork link SAUSAGE, per Lb., 27c

Mince Meat

Libby's Moist, per jar30c
Libby's Condensed, per Pkg. 17c

Plum Pudding

Libby's ½-Lb. can19c
Libby's 1-Lb. can29c

Preserves

Goodwin's Best, finest quality, 16-Oz. jar36c
O. B. pure fruit,
14½-Oz. glass tumbler24c
Delco, 16-Oz. glass
tumbler24c

Nuts

No. 1 Cal. S. S. Walnuts, 31c per Lb.
Large Wash Brazils,
per Lb.22c
Drake Almonds,
per Lb.20c
POPCORN
Sure Pop, per Pkg.9c

Butter Sunset Gold, fresh every day; per Lb.49c

Eggs Large, selected, guaranteed, per Doz.38c

Maxwell House Coffee Per lb. 36c

APPLES Fancy Jonathan, 20c | Grapefruit 3 Large Juicy for.25c

ORANGES Fancy Sealdsweet Per Dozen25c | Cranberries, 2 lbs. 25c

POTATOES IDAHOS 10 lbs. 25c

PIGGLY WIGGLY

UNCLE SAM BREAD

The Quality Loaf

Is All Food

Top to bottom—end to end—inside and out—the one loaf you can depend upon for true, wholesome quality

Uncle Sam Bread

Every crumb is real food, the result of skillful blending of pure ingredients.

Cinnamon Rolls

Are made of the same high-grade flour with the addition of fruits and flavors.

Your grocer has both, or he can get them

Schlesinger-Meyer Baking Co. ATLANTA

The flour the best cooks use!

What would you say is the heart of a fine cake? Yes, a firm, moist, sweet dough that baking transforms into layers of delicate lightness and delicious flavor.

It's easy to get this fineness—this flavor into your cakes when you use Roller Champion, for it is grown in the wheat and preserved by silk sifting in the flour.

J. C. DYSON, Distributor
1000 Marietta St. Atlanta
Phone IVy 7117

Roller Champion

LA FOLLETTE URGES Leaders Prepare For Great Drive

Portland, Me., November 2.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, returning today on the United States liner George Washington, after three months in Europe, told newspapermen that he had seen over-seas made him "more determined than ever to devote whatever power I possess to bring our government back to the people."

He said he was prepared to spend the balance of his life in combating with renewed energy the forces that are tending to undermine the democracy in the United States the American tradition of government.

He declined comment on the appointment of former Senator Kellogg as ambassador to Great Britain.

"I haven't a word to say about that subject," he said. "I don't want to talk about it."

In making an appeal for American aid for the people of Germany, Senator La Follette said:

"Delay means the possible overthrow of governments, dissolution, chaos, civil war and hell let loose in Europe."

"I feel bound," he said in a prepared statement, "to avail myself of the first opportunity upon my return to appeal directly to the men and women of our country to help the unfortunate people of Germany. Wholly aside from the issues involved in the war, common humanity calls upon the American people to aid the German people in their dire need and to aid them now."

The senator said that the German people had been under for seven years and were suffering for want of food, fuel and clothing.

"The situation is desperate in the large cities where food riots are common," he continued. "The crisis which is at hand involves possibilities too awful to contemplate. There is no time for protracted debate."

He urged the American people to organize for action at once, adding: "Every American citizen who believes in the fundamental principles of democracy—of government by the people—is deeply interested in saving the German republic. If the democracies which Germany has established with its enlightened constitution fails, the inevitable alternatives are communism or monarchy."

"Not only in Germany, but in many other European countries I have visited the institutions of democracy are being crushed or rent asunder by dictatorships of various forms. While this madness is upon the world the greatest contribution that America can make to Europe and to civilization is to develop and perfect her own democratic institutions and traditions so that during the dark days that are ahead they may stand as a beacon lighting the way to all people."

SPARTA IS HOST TO SCHOOL HEADS AT MEET TODAY

Sparta, Ga., November 2.—(Special.)—Elaborate preparations are being made by the superintendent and faculty of the Sparta public school for the entertainment Saturday day of all the school heads of the tenth congressional district. Practically all of the educators have signified their intention of being in Sparta Saturday. Business of importance to the school work of the district will be discussed at the meeting. The school will be open to the visiting school superintendents by the faculty and women of the city.

GOVERNOR WALKER TO MAKE ADDRESS TO S. S. WORKERS

The Atlanta Baptist Sunday School association will hold its regular monthly meeting at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist church.

This is the first meeting to be held under the direction of the newly elected officers who were installed at the last meeting. Rev. W. H. Faust, pastor of Gordon Street Baptist, being president for the ensuing year.

DELEGATES ELECTED BY A. M. E. CONFERENCE

Athens, Ga., November 2.—(Special.)—Election of eight ministerial delegates and as many alternates to the general conference was held by the A. M. E. conference here today. C. L. Williams, W. A. Fountain, J. R. Fleming, J. T. Wilkerson, J. R. Tallaferra, J. S. Downs, W. J. Jones and B. V. Thornton were chosen.

Puriza Rico sang before the conference. He is singing in more than a dozen places in the interest of Big Bethel church, Atlanta. Evangelist C. H. Payne and M. E. Tyner, visitors to this conference, are preaching between the sessions of the conference. Richard D. Stinson, of the Atlanta Normal and Industrial institute, and Dr. W. H. Harris, head of State Samaritans, will address the conference Saturday night. Bishop W. H. Heard will preside.

An interesting discussion is being held among leading pastors and delegates as to whom the bishops and the general conference will support for Episcopal honors. Secretary J. A. Lindsay or Dr. R. H. Singleton.

Presiding Elder C. L. Williams made the statement that the Home district, over which he presides, was the only district of the conference which paid in full all of its claims.

Each presiding elder of this conference was elected as a delegate today. It is in line with an expressed desire of Bishop Flipper at the Dublin annual conference. Dr. C. L. Williams lead the delegation.

Rev. R. H. Ward, pastor of Allen Temple, Atlanta, in which the Atlanta conference will convene next Wednesday, was here today. Presiding Elder J. A. Hadley is expected to lead the Atlanta conference delegation, and probably will be elected at the general conference to the head of the missionary department. Presiding Elder H. D. Cannady, Griffin district; J. H. McFarlin, Atlanta district; are expected to be delegates at the Atlanta conference. They were presented to the conference today.

J. B. Epperson, C. D. Thornton, Professor D. R. Fobbs, R. J. Jefferson, Dr. L. A. Townsley, will be elected at Atlanta, and P. W. Greatheart, who was elected at Dublin conference, and J. G. Ward, Rev. Dr. Fambro, Baptist, Athens, and Rev. Dr. Wesson, of First Methodist church, south, were presented to the body.

Dr. J. T. Hall, it is said, will be placed at the head of the church extension department, Washington, D. C., at the general conference, next May.

Rev. Dr. John Harmon today commended the Atlanta Constitution for carrying correct stories concerning the conference, which controls 175 thousand negro members and preachers of the state of Georgia.

Rev. John Harmon will be elected editor of the Southern Christian Recorder, Nashville, Tenn., at the general conference, it is expected.

Community Chest Leaders Prepare For Great Drive

By Monday every department of the Community Chest campaign will have been organized, according to the statement of Friday of Chest headquarters. One week later, on Monday, November 5, the great force of volunteer workers enrolled for this movement will get into concerted action. The plan is to complete the campaign by the end of Saturday night, November 17.

Each day that passes multiplies the activities of the campaign organization. Several meetings were held Friday, not only within the organization itself but among the general public.

E. R. Black, general chairman of the campaign, addressed the Civitan club at its luncheon meeting, painting an appealing picture of the great work that is done by the 25 social agencies that are members of the Chest. Like all the other civic organizations of Atlanta, the Civitan are stirred by the purposes of the movement and are enrolling in its working forces.

Meeting at Terrace.

The Chest has the subject of intense discussion Friday morning by a group of leading Atlanta women at the Terrace hotel.

H. C. Choate's wholesale division of the committee for organizing large concerns met Friday noon at the chamber of commerce with 12 members present, each being the selected leader for some specific type of wholesale house. Every wholesale firm in Atlanta has been asked to join this group; and the wholesale group is only one of the number comprised within the committee which Mr. Orr heads. This serves to give a fair idea of the magnitude of the organization. Mr. Orr's committee being one of several in the whole campaign.

Plans were perfected at the meeting Friday of the general executive committee, with Mr. Orr as its head. The committee immediately got ready to report to the executive committee. This plan will spread all the way down through the campaign, on the principle that a worker who himself has given to the cause is prepared to present the cause properly to others whose gifts he seeks.

Announcement was made at the executive meeting that the basement of the Healey building has been donated for the use of the campaign as its noon meeting place. This is the first time the Healey building owners ever have released the space for use of this kind. They had readily conceded the space for the Community Chest without charge. Beginning Monday morning, preparation of the basement will be undertaken. It is centrally located in the downtown section and is easily accessible from all parts of the city.

Leaflets and other literature carrying the message of the Community Chest will be delivered by direction of the executive committee to every church in the city in time for distribution at its use on Sunday morning. Every Bible class in Atlanta, of men and women, will be similarly supplied.

A general meeting of the four divisions and their entire personnel has been announced for next Thursday night, when the final plans will be revealed.

Oppose Solicitation.

Community Chest headquarters gave out Friday afternoon for publication the following letter received from officers of the board of the Churches' Home for Girls. This letter was the board's response to a report transmitted to it from Chest headquarters regarding solicitation of funds for the home by ticket sellers working in the downtown area.

The letter follows:

In regard to our conversation relative to solicitors on the streets of Atlanta trying to sell tickets for some entertainment to the benefit of the home of the living Thomas Memorial home, which is one of our Churches' Home for Girls group, we beg to advise that we have handled this matter with several of our directors and they are not in sympathy with this manner of raising money, especially by paid efforts being made to raise money while the Community Chest campaign is being carried on. We believe that it is essential to the success of the Community Chest campaign that no efforts be made to raise funds at this time.

We wish to get before the people of Atlanta that our desire is that further efforts be made for public solicitation of funds.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) Mrs. W. W. Kilpatrick, corresponding secretary; E. R. Craighead, treasurer; R. J. Quinn, vice chairman of board; John A. Marget, chairman of board.

MRS. EULALIA PERRY DIES FRIDAY NIGHT

Mrs. Eulalia Jane Perry, age 57, died Friday night at the residence on Mesador avenue, Lakewood Heights. She is survived by her husband, E. A. Perry; one son, G. W. Perry, of Atlanta; six daughters, Mrs. M. Harrison, Mrs. W. C. Ginn, Mrs. J. A. Yarbrough, Mrs. H. D. Weaver, Miss Gussie May Perry, all of Atlanta, and Mrs. A. G. Adams, of Athens, Ga.; one brother, P. D. Weaver, of Atlanta, and one sister, Mrs. J. T. Nash, of Talladega, Ala.

Funeral services will be held at the chapel of Hunter-Blanchard-Cattrell at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Dr. L. O. Bricker, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

JOHN D.'S NEPHEW GETS JOB IN BANK

Albany, N. Y., November 2.—Godfrey S. Rockefeller, son of the late William G. Rockefeller and a grand nephew of John D. Rockefeller, has got a job in a bank here.

He arrived in the city last night with his bride of five months, the former Miss Helen Gratz, of St. Louis, and found their modest apartment untenable because the gas and electricity had not been turned on.

He said he heard the Albany bank was a good bank, so he thought it would be a good place to start in. He applied for a job, he said, just like everybody has to do, and got it. Bank officials said his being a Rockefeller had no bearing on the matter, as he would be employed at the same salary as any bank clerk entering the bank.

BRISTOL DESCRIBES NEW TURK REPUBLIC

Washington, November 2.—An interesting description of the organization of the new republic of Turkey was reported by Rear Admiral Bristol, American high commissioner at Constantinople, in forwarding to the state department today a communication from Adnan Bey, representative of the Angora government at Constantinople. The form of the Turkish state is republican," the communication said, "its religion Moslem and its official language Turkish. The president of the republic," who is the chief of state, is elected by the grand national assembly from among its members for the period for which the members of the assembly are elected; and in this quality he presides wherever he judges it necessary over the assembly and the council of ministers. The prime minister is chosen from among the members of the grand national assembly by the president of the republic who chooses as well the other ministers from among the members of the same assembly. The council of ministers, thus constituted, is presented by the president of the republic for approval of the assembly. This approval is postponed until a meeting of the grand national assembly, if the latter is not in session."

It was in this language that the American government was advised of the transformation of the Turkish government from a monarchy to that of the newest republican form of government.

SUPPORT RED CROSS IS PLEA OF CHURCHES

Washington, November 2.—Support of the annual Red Cross roll was urged today by the federal council of churches at a meeting of international cooperation and friendship and the abolition of war.

The council declared the Red Cross roll was the best way to secure the activities Americans may take justifiable satisfaction.

PARDONED VETERAN IS GLAD TO BE HOME

Savannah, Ga., November 2.—(Special.)—J. C. Hunter, seventy-eight-year-old Confederate veteran, recently pardoned by Governor Walker after serving thirteen years of a life sentence for murder of three women in this city fourteen or fifteen years ago, arrived in Savannah today to visit one of his few remaining kinsmen for a month. Lloyd Evans, a policeman, is the relative. Hunter declared he was delighted to get "home" to Savannah.

Severe Earthquake.

Moscow, November 2.—A severe earthquake was felt yesterday in southern Azerbaijan. No details have been received here.

Stranger Killed By Girl's Brother Following Insult

Lafayette, Ga., November 2.—(Special.)—The body of a man identified by papers in his pocket as Simon T. Henderson, of Syracuse, N. Y., today was buried in the potter's field here, following his shooting to death Thursday by James Hixon, brother of a girl on the Hixon farm near here, who was said to have been insulted by the stranger. According to her story, the man appeared at the farm yesterday, while her father was away and her brother was in a nearby field, and attempted to seize her arm, after bowing and smiling and making an insulting remark.

The girl screamed and her brother rushed into the house, seized a gun and shot the man, who died almost instantly. The Hixon youth surrendered to the sheriff.

Communication with authorities in the east revealed to local officers that the man Henderson had only one surviving relative, Matilda Woodward, of Lambertville, N. J., a niece.

COUNTRESS OF WARWICK OUT FOR PARLIAM T

London, November 2.—If the famous society beauty, the Countess of Warwick, has been the pioneer stateswoman of England, the British newspapers would have been excited over her platform appearances in her campaign for a labor seat in the house of commons. However, three women already hold seats in parliament and thus the candidacy of the countess has aroused hardly more interest than if she were a male politician.

The countess has issued a letter "to the gentlemen of the press," warning them that it is useless to interview her. She has taken this position because the Sunday newspapers treated her first utterances frivolously, printing "a few slight words of pity," while all the solid principles of her labor platform were ignored.

BRIDGE CONTRACTS ARE GIVEN APPROVAL

Approval of contracts for construction of two concrete bridges in Dade county and six and eight-tenths miles of clay roadwork in Taliaferro county, the total cost to be $38,000.89, and postponement of action on contracts for road work in Richmond and Lumpkin counties, was voted by the state highway commission in session Friday morning.

Luke Sims, of LaFayette, was awarded the contract for erection of the two bridges on the Chattahoochee-Trenton road, his bid of $11,824.30 being the lowest, while the Nichols Construction company, Atlanta, was awarded the contract for construction of the Taliaferro county road, which will cost $26,772.50.

The commission deferred action on projects for erection of nine and four-tenths miles of roadwork on the Augusta-Louisville road, in Richmond county, and for erection of three miles of roadwork on the Dahlonega-Dawsonville road in Lumpkin county.

GADSDEN, ALA., VOTES
FOR OPEN SHOP TOWN

Gadsden, Ala., November 2.—At a mass meeting here last night Gadsden business, professional and laboring interests declared for an open shop town and signed a compact to stand united for the accomplishment of that purpose. The meeting was said to have been representative of the community. The compact pledged support to invested capital as well as to labor.

Plans were perfected for securing the support of those not present at the meeting. Sentiment was said to have been practically unanimous on the action taken. A few union men present asked for a delay in action but their plea was lost and the compact formulated amid scenes of enthusiasm.

Gadsden is a manufacturing town. The vote on the compact was reported 10 to 4.

The union men present who opposed the compact represented the central labor council of Gadsden. Union men had been invited to attend the meeting.

John A. Ferguson, president of Central Labor council, has issued a call for a special meeting of the allied unions to be held Monday night, November 5. Mr. Ferguson stated that the labor council would at that time decide what action to take. He and other officials of the organization declined to state their position on the open shop movement. But declared that the labor body would "take such action as it considered to be for the best interest of Gadsden."

Organizer of Women Voters To Continue Tour of Georgia

Miss Marguerite Wooley, of Raleigh, N. C., a regional secretary for the National League of Women voters, has decided to remain in Georgia for another week, after touring the state during the past week, according to announcement by Miss Eleanor Raoul, chairman of organization.

Miss Wooley and officers of the state league will tour the Fifth district together. She now expects to visit several cities which had not been included in her original itinerary.

GADSDEN, ALA., VOTES
FOR OPEN SHOP TOWN

Gadsden, Ala., November 2.—At a mass meeting here last night Gadsden business, professional and laboring interests declared for an open shop town and signed a compact to stand united for the accomplishment of that purpose. The meeting was said to have been representative of the community. The compact pledged support to invested capital as well as to labor.

Plans were perfected for securing the support of those not present at the meeting. Sentiment was said to have been practically unanimous on the action taken. A few union men present asked for a delay in action but their plea was lost and the compact formulated amid scenes of enthusiasm.

Gadsden is a manufacturing town. The vote on the compact was reported 10 to 4.

The union men present who opposed the compact represented the central labor council of Gadsden. Union men had been invited to attend the meeting.

John A. Ferguson, president of Central Labor council, has issued a call for a special meeting of the allied unions to be held Monday night, November 5. Mr. Ferguson stated that the labor council would at that time decide what action to take. He and other officials of the organization declined to state their position on the open shop movement. But declared that the labor body would "take such action as it considered to be for the best interest of Gadsden."

FORREST AVENUE UNDERPASS PLANS TO BE DISCUSSED

In anticipation of a general discussion of the proposed Forrest avenue extension at a meeting of the Ninth Ward Civic league at Highland school Monday night, a special committee representing the league and headed by President Press Huddleston will confer with high officials of the Southern railway at 10 o'clock Saturday morning to ascertain the attitude of the rail officials with reference to the construction of an underpass which the extension would necessitate.

"The Forrest avenue project is the most important work before our organization at present," Mr. Huddleston said Friday. "We are hoping for a large attendance at the meeting Monday night, as the special committee expects to have something to report with reference to the proposed extension."

ENDEAVOR COMMITTEE
MEETS TUESDAY NIGHT

The monthly meeting of the executive committee of the Atlanta Christian Endeavor union will be held at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in the office of the Presbyterian home mission board, at 1515 Hurt building.

More coal passes through Cincinnati than any other city in the United States.

Contagious Diseases

DURING epidemics of colds, gripple, influenza, scarlet fever, diphtheria, whooping cough, sore throat and other respiratory diseases, Zonite should be used frequently as a throat spray and nasal douche.

Zonite is non-poisonous and non-irritating. By standard laboratory tests it has greater germ-killing power than pure carbolic acid. It has more than 75 times the germ-killing power of peroxide and other mouth washes and gargles heretofore in general use.

Zonite
NON-POISONOUS

In bottles 50c and $1.00

Stylish, Warm, Comfortable "Cold Weather Togs" for Everybody at Big Savings!

SATURDAY AND MONDAY

You can wait no longer for these good, warm, stylish new Winter Clothes, Shoes, Sweaters, Blankets, Etc.—AND—just when you need them the most—Shelnutt, as usual, "Steps Forward" with huge stocks of new, high-grade, dependable Fall and Winter Merchandise, at prices that mean a WONDERFUL SAVING, on every item. Come here today and find everything to wear, for the whole family, new in style, high in quality and phenomenally low in price. STORE OPEN TONIGHT UNTIL 10:30. Shop here this morning, noon and night for remarkable values and wide assortments to select from. Come as early or as late as you wish. Plenty of salespeople to serve you promptly.

Ready-to-Wear, Shoes, Underwear, Sweaters, Furnishings, Etc. Come and Save!

Ladies', Misses' and Girls' COAT SPECIAL

100 ladies', misses' and girls' last-season Coats, in good styles. Fine materials and trims, including fur collars; values that range up to $15.00 and $17.50; just two lots and two prices. These are extra special values.

$4.95 and $6.95

Amoskeag Utility Dress Gingham; 32 inches wide— a 35c value—

23c yd. 7½c yd.

Soft, fine Longcloth; yard wide; a 20c value—

13c yd. 75c

Men's Pure Wool Sweaters; heavy rope weave; special—

$4.95 69c

Men's Wool mixed Sweaters; Y. & K. brand; a $4 value—

$2.95 $1.95

Men's Wool Sport Sweaters; a real $5 value—

$3.45 $3.45

RAYNSTERS combination overcoats and raincoats, made by U. S. Rubber Co.; values up to $18.50—

$4.45 to $12.95 25c

Men's Fine Fibre Silk Sox. A 50c value—

39c 49c

SHOE SPECIALS SWEATERS! SWEATERS!

Ladies' Suede Slippers, in black, brown and gray; cut out, straps and combination trims. Each one a star value. Military, Louis and Spanish Heels—

$3.95 to $5.95 $4.95

Girls' Brown Calf School Shoes, 11 1-2 to 2, with rubber heels—

$2.95 $2.95

Girls' Brown Calf Rubber Heel School Oxfords; all solid leather—sizes 2 1-2 to 5—

$2.95 $1.69

Men's Fine Shoes, in black and brown; Kaffir kid, that should retail for $7.50 here—

$4.95

Boys' Brown Calf, Rubber Heel, perforated tip; heavy semi-dress Shoes; sizes 2 1-2 to 5 1-2—

$2.95 $1.69

Children's Stitch Down Shoes, in brown calf; sizes 6 to 8, 8 1-2 to 11, 11 1-2 to 2—

$2.95 $1.69

150 Pure, fine wool and wool-and-silk Slipper Sweaters, in 10 different color combinations; values up to $6.50. Special, while they last—

$1.69

Kiddies' Sweaters, new shipment just in; a beautiful variety of colors and combinations. The price range is—

$1 to $3.25

Each is an exceptional value.

Ladies' Wool Hose, Burson make, in plain and clocked—

50c

Fancy Plaid Bath Towels, good size—

25c

Esmond Camp Blankets; dark gray with blue borders; heavy weight—

$2.95

Men's Winter Union Suit; good weight and make—

$1.45

Small Boys' Suits; corduroy pants and button on waist; sizes 3 to 7 years—

$2.25

Ladies' Wool Coat Sweaters, tuxedo front, American Beauty with buff trim—

$3.95

Junior Size Girls' Sweaters; new lots just received. Prices from—

$2.45 to $4.45

Brushed Wool Chappy Coats, in buff, navy, gray and brown; very special at—

$5.95

Basement

$3.45 to $5.45

Men's Army Wool Sox that regularly would sell for 50c. Special, pair—

$1.99 $1.50

Heavy $2.20 Denim Overalls—

$1.00

Boys' Heavy Overalls—

$1.00

Ladies' Silk Hose, in black, beige, gray and cordovan—

25c

Men's Fine Fibre Silk Sox. A 50c value—

39c 49c

Men's Army Wool Sox that regularly would sell for 50c. Special, pair—

$1.99 $1.50

Heavy $2.20 Denim Overalls—

$1.00

Boys' Heavy Overalls—</

Makes Friends Everywhere
Phoenix Cup Coffee

News of Society and Woman's Work

THE CONSTITUTION'S DAILY WOMAN'S MAGAZINE

Features which Will Interest
Every Woman

Masons To Give Halloween Dance Saturday Evening

The Masonic Club will give a Halloween dance Saturday evening at Seaside hall. The chapters will be Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Ciyatt, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Haire, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. McCall, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Speer, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Reese, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Poole, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Wade P. Harding, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Max A. Cason, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Magill, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Calloway, Jr., and Mrs. J. C. Wright. A special entertainment committee has been appointed. All Masons are invited, please come masked.

Miss Geraldine White Is Hostess at Dancing Party

Miss Geraldine White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. White, Jr., entertained at a dancing party Friday evening at the home of her parents on Peachtree road. The house was attractively decorated with potted plants and autumn foliage together with large baskets of yellow and white chrysanthemums. Miss White received her guests wearing a frock of peach colored chiffon over silver lace. She was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mr. W. H. White, Jr., who wore rose colored broadcloth, and her sister, Miss Bessie White, who was lovely in a costume of beige lace, fur trimmed.

Cascade Terrace Is Scene of Halloween Party

One of the most attractive Halloween parties given by the younger set was the costume dance given by Master Carl Faires, Jr., at Cascade Terrace.

Elaborate decorations appropriate of the season were used throughout the spacious rooms where dancing was enjoyed. The unique costumes of the guests including witches, hobgoblins, black cats and old-fashioned ladies of 1830, lent a gorgeous coloring to the lovely scene.

Little Miss Annie Faulkner, in a pretty costume, gave several solo dances. Miss Faulkner is one of the most graceful children dancers in the city.

Seventy-five friends of the young host were invited.

Shower-Tea for Bride-Elect.

Miss Mary Shinholser, a bride-elect, was honored at a shower tea given by Miss Jessie DeJarnette Friday afternoon at her home on Carmel street.

Fall flowers formed the decoration of the reception rooms. The hostess was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. J. T. DeJarnette, Mrs. B. E. Bolton, Mrs. W. T. Comer and Miss Annie DeJarnette.

Invited for the occasion were Mrs. T. T. Wright, Mrs. C. L. Dudley, Mrs. Ed Massey, Mrs. Wingfield, Mrs. Grantland Reynolds, Mrs. Albertson, Mrs. Crout, Mrs. Reeves, Mrs. Harry Flint, Mrs. W. W. Griffith, Mrs. Norwood Griffith, Mrs. Sam N. Hodges, Mrs. Ed Stevens, Mrs. E. T. Lynch, Mrs. L. N. Stowe, Mrs. Bender Reed, Mrs. O. L. Jernigan, Mrs. W. A. Shelton, Mrs. Lane Stokes, Mrs. J. C. Ahern, Mrs. N. H. DeJarnette, Mrs. A. L. Norris, Mrs. Paul Campbell, Mrs. J. S. Short, Mrs. C. H. Dudley, Mrs. J. W. Shinholser, Miss Mattie Couch, Miss Mattie Mundy, Miss Martha Greer, Miss Mildred Greer, Miss Margaret Anderson, Miss Mary Anderson, Miss Maude Wells, Miss Mattie Terry, Miss Mone Dudley, Miss Ellen Kendrick and Miss Selma Fendig, of Brunswick, Ga.

Miss Louise Gershon Is Complimented.

Miss Louise Gershon, a bride-elect, was complimented with an informal luncheon Friday at which Mrs. Bertman Maier and Mrs. Aaron Haas entertained at their home on Ponce de Leon avenue.

Beautiful fall flowers adorned the reception rooms. The luncheon table was covered with an Italian cutwork cloth and held in the center a silver basket of yellow and lavender chrysanthemums. Silver candlesticks holding lavender unsheathed tapers and silver compots filled with lavender and yellow bonbons further enhanced the appointments.

M. Rich & Bros. Co.

Boys' School Shoes

(tan only)

Sizes 9 to 2 2 1/2 to 6

$2.95 $3.45

Order
by Mail.

Welt soles—Rubber heels

DOWNSTAIRS
RICH'S

Miss Graves Is Honor Guest At Bridge-Supper Friday

Miss Sue Bucknell entertained at a bridge-supper Friday evening in compliment to her lovely guest, Miss Gwendolyn Graves, of New York.

The guests included Misses Sarah Orme and her guest, Edith Galleher, of New Orleans; Margaret Morgan, Douglas Paine, Emmie Nixon, Mary Sheldon, Jennie Robinson, Emily Robinson, Katherine Murphy, Louise Inman, William Sibbey, Edmund Brady, Heywood Edmundson, of North Carolina; Norris Broyles, William Parker, Robert F. Maddox, Jr., Hugh

Mr. and Mrs. Hard Are Honor Guests At Lovely Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Augustus Hard, of New York, who are visiting their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Straiton Hard, at their home on Third street, were honor guests at the party given by Mr. and Mrs. Hard Friday evening.

Yellow and white chrysanthemums in a silver loving cup adorned the center of the prettily appointed table. Silver candlesticks holding yellow candles encircled the centerpiece, and the other details were in yellow and white. The table was overlaid with a hand-somely embroidered cloth, introducing fillet lace medallions. Covers were laid for eight.

Mrs. Straiton Hard was gowned in black chiffon velvet Persian embroidered.

Mrs. Hard wore black Chantilly

Richardson, Harlan Bucknell, Murray Shoun, Baxter Maddox, Nat Weller, Dr. Holmes, Dickson Potter, of New York.

At 11 o'clock supper was served at the individual tables, which were adorned with lace covers and small baskets of garden flowers.

Miss Bucknell was lovely in a frock of black tulle veiling satin.

Miss Graves wore a gown of blue chiffon velvet attractively draped.

Mrs. Howard Bucknell assisted her daughter in entertaining and was gowned in a model of black crepe.

Mrs. George Howard, Jr., Honored at Tea.

Mrs. Walter Colquitt was hostess at a beautiful tea Friday afternoon at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue complimenting Mrs. George Howard, Jr., a recent bride, who before her marriage was Miss Sarah Chapman, of Savannah.

Foliage plants and baskets filled with white chrysanthemums adorned the lovely reception rooms. The tea table was covered with a fillet cloth and centered with green Venetian vases filled with white chrysanthemums and bride's roses. Glass candlesticks holding transparent white tapers encircled the centerpiece and alternated with compots filled with white and green bonbons.

Mrs. Joel Hart, Jr., presided at the tea table. The guests were received by Mrs. Colquitt, Mrs. George Howard, Jr., Mrs. Colquitt Howard, of Ohio, and Mrs. Glenville Giddings.

After dinner the guests attended the performance of "Blossom Time" at the Atlanta theater.

Mr. and Mrs. Inman Honor Mrs. Pratt With Dinner Party

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Inman entertained at dinner Friday evening at their home on East Fifteenth street in compliment to Mrs. Frederick Pratt, of Buffalo, N. Y., who is the charming guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall Slaton, at their home on Peachtree road.

The handsomely appointed table was overlaid with an imported cover of lace and embroidery and graced in the center by an alabaster urn filled with lovely rose pink dahlias. Two smaller urns of alabaster were placed at either end filled with pink dahlias. Silver candlesticks holding unsheathed pink tapers were placed at intervals. Mrs. Inman wore a gown of pink taffeta combined with silver lace. Twelve guests were invited to meet the guest of honor.

Two Hostesses at Bridge-Luncheon.

A pretty event of Friday was the bridge-luncheon at which Mrs. William W. Roberts and her sister, Mrs. Edwin M. Pearce, entertained at the home of Mrs. Roberts, on Piedmont avenue, in compliment to Mrs. Robert Bowen, of Dallas, Texas, the guest of Mrs. Forrest Adair, Sr.; Mrs. Robert Hall, of Washington, D. C., the guest of Mrs. Warren White, and Mrs. Charles Roberts, who has recently come to Atlanta to reside.

The handsome home was effectively decorated with a lavish arrangement of autumn foliage and garden flowers.

The honor guest and winners of prizes were presented dainty handkerchiefs. Luncheon was served at the individual tables.

M. RICH & BROS. COMPANY

Glad Tidings for Misses and Small Women

Poiret Twill Dresses

$19.95

You can tell at a glance that these dresses were never intended to sell at this low price of $19.95.

Blue and brown Poiret twill dresses with black braid trimmings keep the tailored effect of the straight line models—dash and color are portrayed in some in a glimpse of scarlet, possibly in piping, a sleeve facing, or an Indian bead tassel. Embroidery of black combined with silver buttons or red bone buttons is used in others. The material is of an exceptional quality, the kind evidenced in much more expensive dresses.

Sleeves are either long or tight or flowing; necks are square or round, some collarless, others have Peter Pan or pointed collars. Several models have side pleats, thus giving grace and ease for the active miss or small woman.

Girls' Coats $10 and $15

—Another big saving day for mothers at Rich's tomorrow. Many new coats specially bought. To these are added others with former prices disregarded, as they, too, are put on the $10 and $15 racks.

—Mothers will finger the materials and see that they are serviceable and warm as well as fashionable. Besides sports stripes and plaids there are solid color polaires and tweed mixtures in becoming, youthful colors. Collars are of fitch, opossum and beaverette. Sizes 10 to 16.

Girls' Pleated Skirts, $3.95

—Ready for school Monday morning! The very skirt to wear with sweaters and middies. All-wool plaid and stripe velours and gabardine. Copen, navy and brown materials. Lengths 29 to 34.

Boys' Chinchilla Coats, $5.95

—All-wool and very warm coats for the little boys, one, two and three years old. Made of chinchilla and lined with serviceable materials. Belt across back and double-breasted fronts. Heather and gray.

M. RICH & BROS. CO.

Coats With Fur $18.75

Beautiful Bolivia, Suedine, With Fur! 4 Pictured!

—Up to a standard that is a constant Rich aim—down to a price that is seldom possible!—100 new coats, just a few hours from New York—each one perfect in style and quality—out today at an unheard of price—$18.75! The materials are beautiful suedine, bolivia and Normandy cloth, with beaverette collars, while some reach the height of smartness through button-up collars of their own materials. They button or tie at the side (some are belted) and impartially select snug or flaring sleeves. See them, by all means! $18.75.

Newest Coats

$34.95

—Developed of the fashionable bolivia, and trimmed with attractive wolf collars. Navy, black, deer, kit fox, and beautiful browns. Long, tubular styles—nothing smarter, or newer. Two of the $34.95 group pictured above. See them.

Fashionable Coats

$49.95

—Lustrous, velvety and bolivia coats, trimmed with fox, wolf, viatka squirrel—can you imagine it! Not only collars and cuffs, but some have bands of fur around the bottom. You will hardly believe the values possible.

Distinctive Coats

$59.95

—Fashionable, bolivia, velvety and lustrous fashion these distinctive coats. They're the correct styles that the leading fashion centers are showing. Luxurious squirrel, caracul and wolf are the fur collars. Two sketched.

Gerona Coats

$79.95

—Gerona is that soft, velvety material, identified by its diagonal weave, and bloom. Think of such coats for $79.95. Also marvella coats; each is a Rich coat, of Rich quality and value. Trimmed with black fox, natural beaver, squirrel and rock table. —Rich's, Second Floor

DAILY CALENDAR OF WOMEN'S MEETINGS

The Every Saturday club will meet at Fernbank, the home of Mrs. Z. D. Harrison, in Druid Hills, at 11 o'clock.

"The Power of Love to Adjust" will be the subject of a lecture to be given by Mrs. Rose Mae Ashby, psychologist, this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the assembly room of the Carnegie Library.

Tea at Atlanta Woman's Club Is Popular Social Event

The Atlanta Woman's club was the scene of a large number of interesting parties Friday afternoon, bringing together club members and out-of-town visitors for bridge and tea.

Fall foliage and baskets of yellow chrysanthemums formed the decorations in the handsome banquet hall, sun parlors and club rooms where the parties were entertained. Small baskets of chrysanthemums adorned the individual tea tables which were overlaid with handsome Madeira covers.

Mrs. Webb Hostess. One of the larger parties was that entertained by Mrs. G. Cleve Webb, who complimented a group of friends at tea. The daintily appointed table held in the center a mound of yellow chrysanthemums and the guests' places were marked by hand-painted miniature chrysanthemums.

Covers were placed for the guests including Mrs. B. M. Boykin, Mrs. R. R. Ison, Miss Mary Kent, Mrs. Alonzo Richardson, Mrs. Ralph Deans, Mrs. Louis Leonard, Mrs. R. M. Striplin, Mrs. Newton Wing, Mrs. Clarence Smullyan, Mrs. Norman Sharp, Mrs. Omar Elder, Mrs. William McElroy, Jr., Mrs. C. R. Just, Mrs. Alfred Barili, Jr., Mrs. Roy Mather, Mrs. L. C. McKinney, Mrs. C. Robertson, Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith, Mrs. J. B. Kincaid, Mrs. W. A. Crossland, Mrs. Murray Hubbard, Mrs. Odie Poundston, Mrs. Eugene Willingham, Mrs. G. R. Bachman and Mrs. Spurgeon King.

Mrs. Culpepper Honored. Mrs. Howard McCutcheon entertained in compliment to her sister, Mrs. E. L. Culpepper, of Ancon, Canal Zone, who is his guest. Completing the party were Mrs. H. A. Manning, Mrs. Laura O'Rourke, Mrs. J. G. Garwood, Mrs. A. M. Boyd, Mrs. Henry Ottis, Mrs. George Baker, Mrs. Wilbur Culpepper, Mrs. Howard T. Lewis, Mrs. F. M. Lovelace, Mrs. M. D. Curtis, Mrs. T. H. Williams, Mrs. B. M. Clarke, Mrs. R. H. Cullinan and Mrs. Clecker.

Mrs. W. B. Swint was hostess to Mrs. C. W. Stoddard, Mrs. Benjamin H. Sells and Miss Helen Sharp. A congenial party was formed of Mrs. H. E. Jessup, Mrs. C. R. Pejurn, Mrs. J. L. Sutton and Mrs. R. I. Reed.

Others entertaining small groups were Mrs. Willis Timmons and Mrs. L. D. Quinby.

'Ruth of the Range' At Alpha Theater This Morning

"Ruth of the Range," starring Ruth Roland, is the stirring, thrilling Western Pathe serial or chapter picture which begins at the Alpha theater Saturday morning, November 3, at 9:30 o'clock.

This intensely interesting western drama carries the youthful out-door heroine over mountains, in valleys, amid giant trees, on the great desert, in the canyon, on horse back, in aeroplane, in motor boat; it is full of life and action, built around a brand new story plot, which, as it develops, will hold the sustained interest of any audience, anywhere.

"The Last Shot," opening episode to be presented Saturday of this week, introduces Ruth Roland, the heroine, as Ruth Remington. The story of "Ruth of the Range" revolves around an invention of world-wide importance—"Fuelite," a cheap substitute for coal, of which coal interests seek control.

The battle and intrigues which are attempted by great coal capitalists to suppress the invention, and the daring counter-plots to which the inventor, his daughter, Ruth of the Range, and their friends are forced to resort in their efforts to preserve this invention for posterity, carry the entire cast through new and thrilling adventures that all will enjoy.

Miss Roland is that healthy, exuberant, dynamic, radiant type of girl that only America produces, she is beautiful, intelligent and fearless. It is therefore quite natural that she should be tremendously popular.

The fourth episode of "In the Days of Daniel Boone," featuring Eileen Sedgwick and Jack Mower, will also be shown, the program to be completed with "The Rink," a two reel Savini comedy, starring the ever popular Charlie Chaplin.

Others entertaining small groups were Mrs. Willis Timmons and Mrs. L. D. Quinby.

SOCIAL ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Stone announce the birth of a little daughter, on Friday, November 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bernard Scott with Hepburn Chamberlain, of New York, will leave Saturday for a motor trip to Washington, D. C. They will visit New York before returning home, where Mrs. Scott will spend several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell King, and young son, Mitchell, Jr., have returned from New York, where they spent the past three weeks.

Mrs. W. O. Chears, in New York where she will remain until the middle of December. Mrs. Chears is taking special lessons in voice culture. She possesses one of the most exquisite soprano voices in Atlanta.

Dr. W. A. Selman returned Friday from Rochester, Minn.

Mrs. Augustus Wilkinson has returned from a visit to relatives on Lookout mountain and in Chattanooga.

Mrs. Shelby Myrick, of Savannah, is visiting relatives in Atlanta. She was formerly Miss Mary Robinson, a charming member of Atlanta society.

Mr. and Mrs. Dana Belser, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Meador and family, and among those who will motor to Columbus to attend the Georgia-Auburn football game.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Carter Townsend, of Columbia, S. C., are at the Ansley hotel.

Nolan Richardson, of the University of Georgia, spent Thursday in Atlanta on his way to Columbus for the Georgia-Auburn game.

Mrs. Charles S. Norton left yesterday for Durham, N. C., where she will be among the out-of-town guests attending the Carr-Howell wedding, which will take place this evening at St. Philip's church.

Miss Nora Stirling, talented daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Stirling, is now a prominent member of the cast of a stock company playing at Plainfield, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. White, Jr., will leave today for Chicago, Ill., for a stay of ten days.

Concert Will Be Given for Irving Thomas Home The committee for the Irving Thomas Memorial Home, sponsored by the Atlanta Woman's club, will present Walter Chapman, pianist, and George Rogers, tenor, in concert in the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's club, Monday evening, November 3, at 8:15 o'clock.

Mr. Chapman, a young American pianist, started his career at an early age, playing first in public at the age of six years. He is gifted with an extremely musical nature, a technique that knows no difficulties and with the advantage of study with some of the most noted musicians of the day, has matured into an artist of exceptional qualities. After years of study with Theodore Bohlmann, he graduated with the highest honors from the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. His theoretical studies were pursued with the tutelage of Louis Victor Saar and Edgar Stillman Kelley. He also studied for sometime under Rafael Joseffy and Josef Lhevinne, in Germany.

Mrs. Rogers, an accomplished American tenor, after six years of preparation in France and Germany, has recently returned to this country, where he is now engaged in concert and salon work. He was for a time the pupil of Lamperti, in Berlin, and Jacques Isard of the National Conservatory in Paris, and of Raymond Von Zur Muehlen of London. He afterwards studied under Madame Marcella Sembrich, who coached him and prepared him for the stage. His success everywhere he has been heard. The Brenau Bulletin, published by Brenau college, Gainesville, Georgia, Von Zur Muehlen of London. He afterwards studied under Madame Marcella Sembrich, who coached him and prepared him for the stage. His success everywhere he has been heard. The Brenau Bulletin, published by Brenau college, Gainesville, Georgia, Von Zur Muehlen of London.

The proceeds of this entertainment will go toward the maintenance of the Irving Thomas Memorial Home and the Atlanta Woman's club urges the patronage of all music lovers of the city, not only for the purposes of aiding in the work of this benevolent institution, but to enjoy one of the most cultured musical entertainments given in the community for some time.

Master Doughty Gives Party. Master David Coralla Doughty entertained Wednesday from 5 until 7 o'clock with a party of his friends. Beverly cottage, the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Doughty, on Lucile avenue.

The Halloween colors and ices were carried out in the decorations, ices and flowers.

Master Doughty received his guests in a pierrot costume of yellow and black satin.

Those invited were Misses Rosaline Ward, Nell Lee, Emma Joe Sellers, Mabel Ward, Dorothy Lovett and Rena Mitchell, Harold Anderson, Ernest Fuller, Earl Fagan, Cleve Ward, Beverly O'Grier, G. L. Mitchell, Hubert Stibler, Richard Lyon.

Mrs. Ashby Will Lecture at Ansley. "The Healing Power and Love" will be the subject of a helpful and instructive lecture to be given by Mrs. Rose Mae Ashby, psychologist, Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the assembly room of the Carnegie library.

The faculty of mind represented by the disciple, John, will be given and the greatest love interpreted. Both men and women are invited to this meeting.

Miss Graves To Be Honored At Parties

Miss Gwendolyn Graves, of New York, the lovely guest of Miss Sue Bucknell, will be honor guest at a luncheon next Thursday at which Miss Jennie Robinson will entertain at her home in Druid Hills.

Miss Minnie Nixon will complement this charming visitor at the dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving club, November 10.

Miss Graves was complimented at an informal luncheon Friday, entertained by Miss Katherine Murphy at her home on Peachtree street. The attractive luncheon table was covered with a Venice cloth and centered with a silver basket filled with Lady Hillingdon roses. Crystal candlesticks, holding pink unshaded tapers alternated with comports of bonbons in conforming shades.

'Baby Peggy' Contest To Be Staged At Howard Theater

"A Baby Peggy Contest" is to be staged at the boys' and girls' matinee at the Howard theater beginning Saturday, November 3, at 10:30 o'clock. Baby Peggy is one of the most talented and popular child actors, and the "Baby Peggy" serial pictures released by the Universal corporation are sure to be received with enthusiasm and appreciation by Atlanta's junior population.

"The Kid Reported," a two-reel comedy, starring Baby Peggy, is the first of the series to be shown, three clever, interesting pictures, featuring this youthful novice will follow on the succeeding Saturdays. On Saturday, November 17, all patrons of the boys' and girls' matinee between the ages of three and seven years, will be invited to enter the "Baby Contest," and compete for the three prizes which the Universal corporation is to donate.

The Atlanta child most resembling this celebrated child actor will receive $5 in gold as first prize, the children coming second and third nearest in resemblance to this noted little star will receive respectively $3 and $2 as second and third prizes. The contest is open to all contestants who will appear on the stage of the Howard theater in costumes of their own selection on the morning of November 17, when the judging and awarding of prizes will take place. In addition to $5 in gold, the child most nearly resembling the baby actor will also receive a handsome "Baby Peggy" doll.

The first of the "Baby Peggy Contest" series will be shown at the regular weekly morning matinee at the Howard theater, Saturday, November 3, at 10 o'clock.

"The Hottentot," a seven-reel First National comedy drama, starring Douglas McLean and Madge Bellamy, is the feature picture to be shown at the Howard theater, Saturday morning, November 3, at 10 o'clock. This exciting and entertaining picture is one of the most successful releases of the season, it is full of thrills and action and will hold the attention of the audience from beginning to end. It is through the courtesy of Howard Kingsmore, manager of the Howard theater, that this production was secured for the boys' and girls' matinee.

Urban Class No. 17, a one-reel instructional picture, is scheduled for the morning matinee for November 3. Every one is invited.

Mrs. G. H. Guys, Mrs. A. C. Burton and Mrs. F. H. G. Willie will act as official chaperones.

Mrs. Ashby Will Lecture at Ansley. "The Healing Power and Love" will be the subject of a helpful and instructive lecture to be given by Mrs. Rose Mae Ashby, psychologist, Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the assembly room of the Carnegie library.

The faculty of mind represented by the disciple, John, will be given and the greatest love interpreted. Both men and women are invited to this meeting.

DAILY CALENDAR OF SOCIAL EVENTS

The marriage of Miss Margaret Louise Carr and Clark Howell, Jr., will take place this evening at 8 o'clock, at St. Philip's Episcopal church, in Durham, N. C.

The marriage of Miss Helen McCarty and Dr. Daniel Collier Elkin will take place at 2:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Dixon McCarty.

The members of the Chi Phi Fraternity will entertain at a tea-dance following the Tech-Auburn football game.

Dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving club.

Dance at East Lake Country club.

Mrs. E. P. McBurney will entertain this afternoon at a matinee-party at the Atlanta theater in compliment to Mrs. Allen D. Whitaker.

There will be a special dance this evening at Garber Hall, under the supervision of Joe Eckford and Roger Malone.

The College Park High School Alumni association will give a reception this evening at 8 o'clock in the Masonic hall.

Miss Elizabeth Kontz will entertain at bridge this afternoon for Miss Lera Finley, of Williamsburg, Ky.

Miss Evelyn Jackson and Mrs. Marion Vaughan will give the first of a series of Saturday morning musicals this morning at 11 o'clock at their studio on West Fifth street.

Phi Gamma Delta alumni will entertain at dinner this evening at the Ansley hotel.

The Masonic club will give a Halloween dance this evening at Segado's hall.

Club Women Will Assist in 'Forget-Me-Not' Drive Today

A most complete organization has been formed by Mrs. Newton C. Wing, chairman of the civic drive committee of the Atlanta Woman's club, to represent the club on "Forget-Me-Not Day."

Over fifty members of the club who take part in drives of this nature have joined the committee, and have signified their desire to thus have a record kept of the club's activities. The officers of the drive committee are Mrs. Arthur Hazzard, treasurer; Mrs. Frank Naelede, secretary; and Mrs. George Ripley, press chairman. Each department chairman of the club has appointed a representative for the drive committee, and in addition to these are a large number called "captains-at-large."

Five Points has been the main station of the drive committee this fall, and here large sums of money have been collected for the Jap relief drive, and for the Uncle Remus drive. This will continue to be the chief point for collections, but in addition any woman's club member who is stationed at a large place may act as captain, if she is chairman of a committee, and report her collections through this committee, by giving her name and amount to Mrs. Hazzard, who is also acting as general drive treasurer, in this way keeping a permanent record in the year book of the club.

The "captains" appointed to represent the various departments of the club are as follows: Home economics, Mrs. Frank Naelede; public welfare, Mrs. J. R. McNelly; American citizenship, Mrs. M. C. Cason; applied education, Mrs. J. E. Springer; auditorium, Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith; hospital and jail, Mrs. A. P. Phillips; study classes, Mrs. Irma Ridley; auditorium insurance, Mrs. Roy Mather; banquet hall insurance, Mrs. J. L. Wheeler.

The applied education department will be represented by Mrs. W. W. Alexander, its chairman, and the public welfare by Mrs. W. P. Lemmon, captain-at-large will be Mesdames Edith Wing Peacock, from 7:30 to 8:30; H. A. Manning, from 8 to 9; T. C. Fabel from 9 to 10; Louise Spaulding Foster from 10 to 11; Mrs. Frank Naelede and Mrs. A. P. Phillips from 11 to 12; Mrs. M. C. Cason from 12 to 1 p. m.; Mrs. H. C. Wheeler from 1 to 2; Mrs. Roy Mather from 2 to 3; Mrs. W. W. Alexander from 3 to 4; and Mrs. Ernest Covington from 4 to 5. Mrs. W. D. Williamson will be at Keeley's, and any other club women stationed at other points are invited to record their receipts with the drive committee, if they wish. The team workers, with the different captains are as follows:

Mrs. J. L. Wheeler, captain, assisted by Mrs. Miller Case, Miss Florence Obeare, Miss Florence La Cour, Mrs. Skeet Bronson.

Mrs. Edith Wing Peacock, captain, assisted by Miss Margaret Peacock, Mrs. P. C. Fabel, captain, assisted by Mrs. A. L. Cotton, Mrs. Ben Perryman, Mrs. H. G. Carnes.

Mrs. H. A. Manning, captain, assisted by Mrs. H. Naelede, captain, assisted by Mrs. John S. Cody, Mrs. J. H. Lorenz.

Mrs. A. P. Phillips, captain, assisted by Miss Virginia Rist, Miss Dorothy Holditch, Miss Christine Folsom, Miss Edith Steadwell.

Mrs. Louise Spaulding Foster, captain, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Mays, Mrs. Ward Wright.

Mrs. M. C. Cason, captain, assisted by Miss Ida May James, Mrs. Joe Camp, Mrs. J. R. Sims, Mrs. Olie Brewer, Mrs. Virginia Harrison.

Mrs. Roy Mather, captain, assisted by Mrs. R. D. Ison, Mrs. A. O. Ohlaver, Miss Mary Frances Mather, Miss Jenny Sind Mather.

Mrs. W. W. Alexander, captain, assisted by Mrs. H. C. McCutcheon, captain, Mrs. Ernest Covington, captain. This large committee will give luncheon at Five Points and at the Fourth National Bank building, for the Forget-Me-Not drive. Supplies may be obtained at the Lowry Bank from Mrs. Hazzard and Mrs. Wing.

During the week of November 12, the drive committee will give luncheon at the Atlanta Woman's club, in honor of its former secretary, Mrs. J. J. Moriarty, who is going to St. Louis to live; and also for the study classes, Mrs. Irma Ridley; the largest amounts collected for the Forget-Me-Not and Poppy Day drives. This will be the first meeting of the entire committee, since its organization, and will be in celebration of the four drives in which it has represented the club, since September, Mrs. Naelede and Mrs. Hazzard will be co-chairmen for the luncheon.

Children Are Given Interesting Party In Marietta

Marietta, Ga., November 2.—(Special.)—The Children of the Confederacy were given a very pleasant Halloween party at the residence of Mrs. Tom Florence on Wednesday afternoon, twenty-five being present. The house was prettily decorated in bright-hued autumn leaves and chrysanthemums, and with Halloween symbols galore. The children enjoyed appropriate games and contests, and the party wound up with an old-fashioned candy-pulling.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Miles and Mrs. Alec Windsor, of Atlanta, were the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Wade.

Mrs. Richard Meares, who has been the guest of Mrs. Harold Willingham for several weeks, left on Friday for her home in Wilmington, N. C.

Mrs. R. M. Wade had as her luncheon guests on Thursday Mrs. Fred Appleby, Mrs. W. H. Perkins and Misses Mary Glover and Julia Appleby.

Mrs. Lawhon has returned from a month's visit to relatives in Acworth, Ga. Mrs. J. M. Markley and daughters, Misses Myrtle and Louise, of Atlanta, spent Wednesday with Mrs. W. L. Richardson. Miss Myrtle Markley will be the guest of Mrs. Richardson for the rest of the week.

Miss Janie Hearn, of Entonton, is the guest of Mrs. M. D. Hodges.

BIRTHDAY CARDS

DISTINCTIVE DESIGNS APPROPRIATE SENTIMENTS
J. P. STEVENS ENGRAVING CO.
103 Peachtree Street
Atlanta, Georgia

Blunders

In what way does this operation show a poor knowledge of practical mechanics?

The answer will be found among today's want ads.

J. P. ALLEN & CO.
49-53 WHITEHALL

Today

A Special Purchase Sale of
The Most Beautiful Coats
We Have Shown This Season

Materials Include:

GERONA, LUCETTE,
VELVERETTE,
LUSTROSA, ARABELLA, CORDARA

79⁵⁰

Finest Fur Trimmings

BEAVER, NATURAL SQUIRREL, BROWN
FOX, VIATKA
SQUIRREL, BLACK
FOX, PLATINUM
FOX, GENUINE CAR-
ACUL

As the winter approaches, the coats are more and more beautiful—the new coats just arrived are surpassingly lovely—rich in wonderful soft pile stuffs—enriched with such desirable furs as black and brown fox, viatka squirrel and beaver.

Many new tones of brown and taupe gray are shown in this new collection—and black, which is the smartest type of coat this season.

J. P. Allen & Co.

Stewart's Remodeling Sale

—MAIN FLOOR
Ladies' Dept.

NOW SHOWING MORE THAN 2,000
PAIRS LADIES' SLIPPERS, LATEST STYLES — SIZES TO FIT YOU AT

$5.85

$6.85

Other big savings on the Main Floor in Slippers at $4.85 to $10.85

25 Whitehall St. FRED S. STEWART COMPANY 8 W. Alabama

STARVED HEARTS

BY MILDRED BARBOUR

CHAPTER XXX.
A Chance Meeting.

Color, like a crimson tide, flooded Barbara's face.

"How can you, oh, how can you, believe anything so despicable of me?" she demanded of Lane. "I didn't even know that Duane Farley was in California. Even now, I don't believe that he is here. It's all a trick, a hoax you have invented to torture me!"

He raised his brows at the suppressed emotion in her voice. His eyes were mocking; they seemed to say: "Ah, it is as I thought!"

"Barbara, pale, shadow-like, silent, was always beautiful; but Barbara with crimson cheeks and flashing eyes, proud, defiant, was bewilderingly lovely."

Lane found himself forced to an unwilling admiration of his young wife as she stood before him. He felt a twinge akin to jealousy. How vivid she was at the mere mention of the younger man's name; how quickly the suggestion of his presence roused her from her apathy.

"Control yourself, Barbara," he commanded mockingly. "You are making something very close to a scene. Be careful, or you are likely to give yourself away."

Her hands, which had been clenched convulsively against her breast, dropped to her side. The color left her face and her eyes darkened.

"I have nothing to hide. I am going to tell you the truth. I am going to tell you the truth. I could have loved Duane Farley. He would have brought me all the life and warmth and happiness that you deny me. But I sent him away before he ever suspected. I have never seen nor heard from him since."

"A pretty story," he commented with a sneering smile.

"It is the truth," she said quietly. He brushed her words aside impatiently and rose.

"It is late. We're making an early start in the morning. You'd best get some rest."

Six Blends of Good Coffee
Phoenix Cup Coffee

He left her standing there, beset with unanswered questions. Why had he brought up the subject of Duane Farley and left it uncompleted? Why had he taunted her, and yet not deliberately accused her of treachery? What was the meaning of Farley's presence here? Or was he really here?

She paced the floor restlessly. Sleep was impossible. Her heart was torn with conflicting emotions. There was her love for Farley and her affection for Madelon. She was having to tear both of them out of her life.

What a strange, terrible thing Fate was! How it grasped one with a giant, invisible hand and crushed one to helpless pulp! How inexorable was its will.

She wondered if Farley could possibly know of Madelon's marriage. What curious coincidence that he should be brought to the very hotel where she was spending her honeymoon!

Her thoughts spun round and round like a whirligig. She tried to stop him, to force herself to calm, but without success.

Later she found herself yearning for a glimpse of Duane Farley. Only a glimpse, just to see him from afar, to note his splendid carriage, to hear the echo of his voice.

It was then that she went quickly to her room and closed and locked the door with trembling fingers.

For the first time in her life, she was really afraid of her own desires. Madelon, meantime, had recovered her spirits considerably. She had only to think of the morrow to be almost happy, for tomorrow Stephen Lane would be taking her back to the east and London, if it were not for Howard Chandler.

She felt a gratitude toward her husband that was almost affection. The doubts that had beset her earlier in the evening had vanished.

When he suggested a drive to while away the long evening, she acquiesced eagerly, arranging to meet him at the motor entrance when he brought the car around.

She was making her way through the lobby, when her idle glance encountered eyes vividly familiar.

She stopped in amazement, the swift color flooding her face, while Duane Farley made his way to her through the eddying crowd of loungers.

It was the first time they had met since the afternoon of her arrival from abroad.

He took her extended hand in both of his and his eyes searched her face eagerly. He found it lovelier than ever.

"This is the most unexpected happening of my life—and the nicest," he said. "I had no idea you were here, though I heard you and—Mrs. Lane had come to California."

Madelon withdrew her hand and hoped she didn't look as embarrassed as she felt.

"And what brought you here?" she asked.

"Golf," he laughed. "I had to come to Los Angeles on business and I can never resist the links here. My family used to winter here when I was a kid."

He came closer and the laughter left his eyes.

"What chance have I to see you? Does the ban against me exist even out here?"

Madelon gasped.

"Oh, don't you know? Haven't you heard?—I'm married now!"

(Copyright, 1923, for The Constitution.)

Script Dance
At Roseland.

The script dances given at Roseland, 217 1-2 Peachtree street, are proving very popular with the young set.

The Footwarmers' orchestra will render the musical program next Monday from 9 to 11 o'clock, and only one-half the regular admission price will be charged. Members of the various dance clubs are invited.

Luncheon at Club
For Mrs. Wilmer.

Mrs. Richard Wilmer, of Washington, D. C., the guest of her mother, Mrs. John Grant, was the central figure at a pretty luncheon at which Mrs. W. D. Grant entertained in her honor Friday at the Piedmont Driving club.

The luncheon table was daintily appointed, being centered with a plateau of varicolored chrysanthemums. Covers were placed for 15 guests.

Wesley Nurses
Give Party.

The nurses of Wesley Memorial hospital entertained two hundred and fifty of their friends at a delightful Halloween party October 31.

The hall was decorated with autumn leaves and shrubbery. Music was furnished by the Emory University Glee club.

What Women Wear

BY ANNE RITTENHOUSE.

What About the Spanish Influence on the Mode? At Least Combs and Earrings Are Good.

The Tower of Babel itself was no more conglomerate than the wardrobe of a fashionable woman of today. Her hat and her blouse are taken from Chinese or Russian inspiration. The Russian blouse with a Chinese collar may be embroidered in Persian design. And she may wear a Spanish comb and Spanish earrings with an evening gown that is, or is supposed to be, quite Egyptian.

Moreover, the effect may be quite harmonious.

The Spanish mode never had the

we have all read of. But the Spanish note is still not very distinctly marked in our clothes.

For one thing it doesn't quite go with our gas-pipe silhouettes. It is far easier to wear a jacket or frock of Indo-Chinese line than one of Spanish, so long as we continue to ignore the fact that we have hips and waists.

But the Spanish comb and Spanish earrings have lingered. The comb is well adapted to the sleek arrangement of hair that we have affected, and so long as earrings continue to be worn, the Spanish earrings must be worn. The whole Orient offers none more charming, more spirited than those that come from beyond the Pyrenees.

One wonders. Perhaps we shall look more favorably on other Spanish fashions before long. The interior decorations and furniture dealers are realizing that there is much in the fine furnishings of old Spain—the Mudejar they call it—to recommend them to cultivated American taste at the present time. The rough plastered walls, substantial dark woodwork, rich hangings and the use of beautifully wrought iron appeals to many of us as a pleasant alternative in house furnishings from the ubiquitous mahogany and white enamel woodwork that we choose to call "colonial."

At any rate, eyes are turned toward Spain. We are finding pleasure in learning more of the history of the art of Spain—an art touched at every turn with the older art of the Moors and Arabs.

Spanish comb and earrings and black lace fan.

"run" that some of us expected. It never "took" quite the way the Russian mode has done. For six or seven years we have had Spanish fashions offered to us in more or less homeopathic doses by the French dress-makers. Then there have been Spanish plays from time to time. And

The HOUSEHOLD

Edited by Anne Rittenhouse.

BANANA COOKERY.

Bananas have high food value. Here are some good ways of cooking them—and many persons find them much more digestible cooked than raw:

Banana Pie.
Beat the yolks of two eggs to a cream with half a cup of sugar; add one and one-half cups of milk and three bananas mashed through a sieve. Bake with one crust, and when done cover with meringue made of the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and three tablespoons of sugar. Serve cold.

Baked Bananas.
Peel, halve them each way, allow one level teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon lemon juice and half-level teaspoon butter for each banana; put them in earthen baking dish, nearly cover with hot water and bake about twenty minutes.

Banana Custard.
Peel bananas, cut in lengthwise slices. Let them steep an hour with sugar and lemon juice, dip in fritter batter and fry.

Beat together three eggs, half a cup of sugar, two cups of milk, the grated rind of a lemon and enough mashed bananas to make it the consistency of thin batter. Turn into a baking dish, sprinkle with sugar, and bake brown in slow oven. Cover with a meringue and bake until puffed and brown. Serve cold.

(Copyright, 1923, for The Constitution.)

Business Woman's Club Gives Bridge Parties

On Friday evening several groups of the club members of the A. B. & P. W. club entertained at bridge at the club rooms. This is the first of the Friday evening bridge parties which will be held each Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the club rooms.

Among those entertaining were Miss Mamie Harrison, Miss Elizabeth Dunnican, Miss Mabel Kendrick, Miss Jane Van de Verde, Miss Ione Westbrook, Miss Elizabeth Robinson, Miss Nelle Hollingsworth, Miss Jean Harrell, Miss Ada Booth, Miss Katherine Lovett, Miss Rebecca Shurman, Miss Van Roden, Mrs. Rosa Bush, Mrs. Francis McKinnier, Miss Nell McIntyre, Miss Frances Sparr, Miss John Bowie, Mrs. Bernice Rauchenberg, and Mrs. Ben Mayer.

The officers of this club are Miss Jean Van de Verde, president; Miss Rebecca Shurman, recording secretary; Miss Elizabeth Dunnican, corresponding secretary, and Miss Mabel Robinson, treasurer.

stiffly beaten whites of two eggs and three tablespoons of sugar. Serve cold.

Baked Bananas.
Peel, halve them each way, allow one level teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon lemon juice and half-level teaspoon butter for each banana; put them in earthen baking dish, nearly cover with hot water and bake about twenty minutes.

Banana Custard.
Peel bananas, cut in lengthwise slices. Let them steep an hour with sugar and lemon juice, dip in fritter batter and fry.

Beat together three eggs, half a cup of sugar, two cups of milk, the grated rind of a lemon and enough mashed bananas to make it the consistency of thin batter. Turn into a baking dish, sprinkle with sugar, and bake brown in slow oven. Cover with a meringue and bake until puffed and brown. Serve cold.

(Copyright, 1923, for The Constitution.)

Jane Hedden Hat Pattern

No. 2263

Tiny French flowers in pastel shades catch a drape of silver tissue to the front of the crown of a velvet model. Blue and silver tinsel cloth with flowers in mauve, French blue, jade, rose and gold make a handsome trimming for a hat of black or navy velvet. Satin sole in African brown is very handsome when gold and brown tissue cloth is used with flowers in brown, rust, orange and burnt senna shades.

Materials Required.
1 pressed crown, the shape illustrated, 1 1/2 yards 18-inch material, 1-4 yard 36-inch metal tissue flowers, 3 yards brace wire, 1 cap lining, 3-8 yard elastic net or willow.

HAT PATTERN ORDER.
This order will bring you pattern and working instructions for making hat illustrated above. Fill in name and address, enclose 25 cents in stamps, postal note or coins—address your order to Hat Pattern Department, The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Enclosed find 25 cents. Please send me Jane Hedden Hat Pattern and instructions No. 2263.

Name

Street

City

Jackie Coogan To Sue.
Los Angeles, November 2.—Attorneys for Jackie Coogan, juvenile motion picture actor, have been instructed to file suit against a film magazine which recently published an article alleging that he was of a very nervous temperament, and that his health was suffering from overwork, it was made public by his representatives here today.

PROOF 'TAS GOOD ADVICE

Suffering Woman's Neighbors Urged Her to Take Cardui—She Did, and Says She "Began Feeling Fine."

Inman, S. C.—When Mrs. Elsie Peck, of Inman, was suffering severely some time ago, several of her older neighbors noticed her condition and wisely advised her to take Cardui.

"I was sick and weak and had a pain in my side," says Mrs. Peck. "I was so weak-looking, until some of my older neighbors asked me about it. I told them how my side and back hurt and how it hurt me to stand. They told me of Cardui and my husband got it for me. I took four bottles and began feeling fine. It helped me a lot."

"When my last baby came, I evidently took cold. I suffered afterwards quite a bit. I sent for Cardui and could see I was getting the usual good results. After about four bottles I was up, feeling fine, doing my work."

"Cardui builds me right up and I tell my neighbors and friends about it. It is simply fine for weak back and a run-down system."

You probably have neighbors like Mrs. Peck's who can tell you of the help Cardui has been to them. Ask the ladies who have taken it and then take it yourself. At all druggists.

Take CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Los Angeles, November 2.—Attorneys for Jackie Coogan, juvenile mo-

In Quality Alone
Is There
Real Economy

Without Quality Merchandise
Is Without Value

Watch Our Windows Today!

Shown In Window 1

Most Unusual Sport Coats For the Price

Knockabout and sport coats of smart appearance and splendid materials are included in this group. Big, roomy coats, straight or belted—buttoned in front or tied at side. Double-breasted models are seen in many of the lot.

Pockets are patch or inset and collars are big crush or roll designs.

Silk lined throughout or half lined in heavier models. Attractive Colorings are shown—solid shades, big checks, stripes and plaids in most effective color combinations.

Grays, browns, tans, blues, black and white, and others. The best values we've seen offered at

Such a Very Modest Price Remarkable Qualities and Styles

Priced $25.00

Second Floor

Shown In Window 2

Linen Breakfast Sets

Imported from Belgium are these most attractive colored linen sets of 54-inch cloth and six 17-inch napkins. Pink, blue or gold bordered. Set.....$5.75

60-inch cloths with six napkins are shown flowered in blue, rose, orchid or gold.....$9.85

Handsome sets with 63-inch cloths and napkins to match at.....$12.50 and $16.50

Main Floor

Shown In Window 3

Toilet Novelties

The newest conceits in perfumes in quaint bottles and boxes of exquisite design, perfume bottles, atomizers, perfume burners, and every toilet requisite and luxury in charming new forms suitable for gifts. Stationery in unique imported designs, as well as the finest of domestic makes. Gift novelties in delightful variety.

Main Aisle

Shown In Window 6

Specially Priced Silk Dresses Of Attractive Styles

Satins—Cantons—Brocades—Crepes—Chenille and satin combinations, satin crepes with velvet, beaded and embroidered models.

The tubular silhouette, circular flounces, Russian blouses, flat pleated tunics of straight line, circular fronts falling in graceful ripples, tiered fronts in apron effect, side drape or coat models. Some are fur-trimmed.

The popular blacks, browns, cocoa, navy, grey, tan and beige. Such attractive combinations as navy and grey, brown and tan and others equally pleasing.

The values offered are really quite extraordinary.

Priced at $19.75 and $29.75

Second Floor

Shown In Window 4

Gloves—Kerchiefs

Newly arrived gloves are of very fine and soft quality imported real kid pique with two clasps and heavily embroidered backs. Brown, mode, grey and black. Splendid quality at.....$2.95

Name Kerchiefs are the latest development—almost any given name for a girl embroidered on an all pure linen kerchief with narrow hemstitched hem. They're shown in white only.

Colored Kerchiefs of every pretty shade in fine linen with half-inch hems are hand-embroidered in dainty little flowered designs.

Both Styles at.....29c

Main Aisle

Shown In Window 5

Knitted Underwear

Carter's knit underwear is ready in every good style and weight for wear during the winter months.

Cotton Union Suits in sleeveless knee lengths, all sizes, at.....$1.19

Short sleeve, knee length models or long sleeve, ankle length are priced in all sizes at.....$1.50

The heavy weights are priced $2 and $2.50

Wool and Cotton Suits in the different models, are priced, all sizes.....$2.95

Silk and Wool Suits, in all models and sizes, are priced.....$3.75

Second Floor

Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Company

BEAUTY CHATS

A NEW TREATMENT.

I know of one beauty shop that is making a great mystery over a certain treatment which gradually takes the old skin from the surface of the face, bringing up the smooth skin underneath. This treatment is not to be confused with the old face-bleaching variety which almost completely took off the outer cuticle. The delicate underneath skin is a joy for a few weeks, but is too sensitive for constant contact with the air, and so invariably shrivels. This new treatment, says the beauty shop, acts so gradually that the new skin is hardened as it is exposed.

Now what do you suppose their mysterious colorless liquid is? Nothing at all but peroxide of hydrogen diluted with its own volume of water and delicately perfumed. At the time it is used two drops of ammonia are added to every tablespoon of the mixture. It is really nothing but our old friend used to bleach the down over the upper lip.

This mixture is rubbed all over the skin. Small bubbles of oxygen form and the dead, rough surface of the skin is converted into a white, soap-like mass. The peroxide destroys nothing but the dead skin, which is then rubbed off and the whole face given a cold cream massage, because the mixture is a drying one. A second deal of fresh, delicate complexion is exposed this way, and no doubt in the case of very bad complexions this treatment would be of great use. It is antiseptic and excellent for skin eruptions. It takes off the dead skin so gradually that no harm is done.

If it appeals to you, try it twice a week for three weeks, and then decide whether or not you have benefited.

But be sure you use plenty of cold cream afterwards, unless your skin is very oily, for peroxide is very drying.

H. H. H.—There was a time when people thought that they inherited tendencies from their ancestors, and among these may be mentioned that of overweight. Yet there are a great many people by demonstrating all this old belief by demonstrating for themselves that they need not carry a lot of unpleasant inheritances all through their lives. I know one young woman who was supposed to have inherited the fat of her paternal ancestors, and she merited it, too, until she grew up and was sent to boarding school. After a winter of regular habits, including sufficient exercise, together with proper food, she had thrown off all the burdensome fat of her earlier life; and now, after almost ten years, she has never returned to the old weight.

Anna E.—Your red nose likely comes from poor circulation. If this is not the cause, you may find that you are interfering with the circulation, either by wearing tight bands or garters, or even by pressure on the nose through glasses in which the springs are too tight. If elimination is at fault, you can aid the condition by drinking plenty of water between meals.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department, will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or outside reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be inclosed with the question.—The Editor.

WOODWARD ESTATE RECEIVER IS ASKED

Petition for appointment of a receiver for the assets of former Mayor James G. Woodward was filed by his widow, Mrs. Violet McCraney Woodward, in Fulton superior court Friday. The petition also asks that Woodward's daughter, Mrs. Nannie V. Renfro, be enjoined from interfering with disposition of the assets in litigation.

Mrs. Woodward and Mrs. Renfro recently entered a joint action before Ordinary T. H. Jeffries in obtaining a decision setting aside the Woodward will, under which the bulk of the estate was left to the union printers located in Colorado.

The petition filed by the widow Friday sets forth that Mrs. Renfro has drawn $2,700 from a local bank, which sum was held there as a part of the estate of Woodward's first wife, and that in her position as administratrix of the Woodward estate she would have access to $16,000 cash held in another bank as part of the estate.

The petition prays that such action be prevented, Mrs. Woodward is represented in her petition by the law firm of Spence & Spence.

NEW TOY DEPARTMENT TO BE OPENED TODAY

Tots will open their eyes with delight and bewilderment at the wonders of McClure's new toy department, to be opened this morning, according to J. E. Cline, in charge of this department.

McClure's has inaugurated what is considered one of the most complete toy departments in the city, and throngs of children, and grownups, too, are expected to greet the opening of the store Saturday morning.

For the boys there will be sporting goods, police and Indian suits, mechanical toys, clocks, marbles, tops, horns, kites; for the girls there will be dolls that walk and dolls that talk and then the ordinary dolls, and doll furniture and tea-sets and miniature kitchen cabinets; and in one section will be found a great display of wheel toys, including velocipedes, tricycles, scooters, skates, autos, wagons, coasters, etc.

Santa Claus has been greatly attracted by the display, officials of the store say, and it is thought that he may make the store his headquarters during part of his time in Atlanta.

A. H. Abrahams Dies.

Savannah, Ga., November 2.—Special.—Savannah friends were saddened yesterday by the news from Waycross that Arthur H. Abrahams had been found dead in his room at a hotel there, from a heart attack, presumably. He was a traveling salesman for L. Mohr & Co., Savannah. He leaves a widow. He was a member of the T. P. A., Post A, and of the Knights of Pythias here.

In All First Class Groceries Phoenix Cup Coffee

MRS. LINDQUIST TELLS WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Her

Kansas City, Mo.—"I was left in a very serious condition after childbirth and no one thought I could ever be any better. Then came the 'Change' and I was not prepared for what I had to suffer. I had to go to bed at times to be perfectly quiet as I could not even stoop down to pick anything from the floor. I did not suffer any pain, but I was decidedly nervous and could not sleep. For nearly two years I was this way, and the doctor was frank enough to tell me that he could do no more for me. Shortly after this I happened to see in a newspaper an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. In a few days the medicine was in the house and I had begun its use and I took it regularly until I was well. I recommended the Vegetable Compound to others when I have the opportunity."—Mrs. MAY LINDQUIST, 2814 Independence Ave., Kansas City, Mo.

Skull 4,000,000 Years Old. Junction City, Kans., November 2. The fossil skull of a marsupial, said by Dr. W. H. Ballou, New York scientist, to be the first type of mammal that existed, was discovered at Milford, here by him today. Dr. Ballou believes the skull to be about four million years old.

"Forget-Me-Not" Day in Atlanta Today In Remembrance of Disabled Veterans

A disabled veteran of the world war assisting a pretty worker in making paper "forget-me-nots" which will be offered for sale on the streets of the city today. On account of the limited number of "forget-me-nots," blue tags, symbolic of the occasion, are to be offered for sale by groups of pretty girls and other interested workers. Funds secured will be used in providing amusement features and necessities for wounded former service men. Workers are asking for $10,000.

Atlantans Asked To Give Liberally To Aid Those Who Answered Their Country's Call.

BY PIERRE VAN PAASEN.
"La Guerre N'est Pas Finie." Although no longer the guns thunder in the Argonne and no longer doughboys are charging the murderous machine gun nests of the Champagne district, the war is not yet over.

In the military hospitals on small white cots there are still thousands of silent huddled figures who wait without complaining for the day when for them the war will come to an end. They lie there day after day and through the long nights without a murmur. They're waiting for the end of the war.

Five years ago the order cease fire was heard and still they are suffering.

And still they have that indomitable spirit that routed the most formidable fighting machine the world ever saw. Broken in health, broken in body but not in spirit. They did not hesitate when the order to advance into the tornado of death came to them. Do not hesitate this morning when you are asked on Atlanta's streets to come to their aid by the Forget-Me-Not day workers.

A soldier on crutches hobbled across the Forsyth street viaduct Friday. His features spoke of suffering. Every step cost him pain. Pale he was with drawn lines in the face. Across his breast were several tattered ribbons, rewards for heroism on the field when the world trembled and the cause of freedom hung in the balance. Right by his side was a little boy, who guided his weary steps. That veteran was blind. It is to bring cheer into the lives of this type of men that the workers will ask you for a donation this morning. It is to make their lives brighter with a little more hope and a little more comfort.

While the country basks in the sunshine of new prosperity, that these men helped to bring about, your assistance is needed. Theirs was not to reason why. Theirs was but to do and die. They did not hesitate. Do not hesitate for their sake. Give and give liberally. Bring the war to an end.

BELLWOOD PRISON CONDITIONS HIT

Beginning with severe condemnation of prison conditions at Bellwood convict camp, ending with a recommendation that the county and city governments be consolidated into one, to be known as the "city and county of Atlanta," the September-October terms of grand jury of Fulton county superior court returned its report Friday to Judge G. H. Howard, who characterized the report as the most complete and comprehensive set of recommendations he had ever observed.

The report reviewed conditions at Bellwood camp in detail, disclosing the information that prisoners, numbering from 225 to 300 are frequently congested in a building measuring 60 feet by 150 feet, which must house all facilities necessary for their existence. The jurors recommended that before any other money is spent the proper authorities build a fireproof building at the camp, and that the building be constructed with two wings so that long-term and hardened criminals can be segregated from the short-term prisoners.

Recreation Enclosures. In connection with the Bellwood camp recommendations, the report appealed for recreation enclosures for all convict camps, so that on Sundays and other days when they are not working the prisoners may be given the freedom of open air.

The report praised the managers of the county reformatory for their efficient work, and made certain suggestions as to how they may be enabled to perform a broader service. Judge Garland M. Watkins, of the juvenile court, was commended for his work in that office. It was recommended that an appropriation of $200 per month be made for employing an investigator and record clerk for this court.

Chief of County Police George Matheson was commended by the efficient work of his force, as was Lieutenant T. E. Lockhart, chief of the sanitary department.

Touching on schools and education, the jurors reported that they found some of the schools in first-class condition, but described the fire hazards that existed in others. Consolidation of the county and city schools was recommended.

Consolidation Urged. Appealing for a consolidation of the county and city governments, the report said: "We recommend to the citizens of Fulton county, both within and without the city of Atlanta, the consolidation of the county and city governments into one, to be known as the city and county of Atlanta, with one set of officers and one set of machinery for the transaction of the people's business. If this government is put under one efficient head, removed as far as possible from politics, and the fee system is done away with completely, we believe that millions of dollars will be saved to the taxpayers of this county, the tax rate could be materially reduced, and our efficiency greatly increased."

George Winship was foreman of the retiring jury.

DR. MACK WILL PREACH R. G. CANADY'S BODY IS SENT TO BERLIN

Dr. George H. Mack, of St. Louis, organizer of the Harris Street Presbyterian church in 1901, will preach at the regular morning and evening services of the Harris street church on Sunday.

Dr. Mack came to Atlanta from the Presbyterian Theological seminary and was responsible for the building of the church. There is a probability that the church site will be sold this winter, a new church being built in such an event.

At present Dr. Mack is district secretary for the board of national missions of the Presbyterian church, which has headquarters in New York.

The body of R. G. Canady, 22-year-old dental student, who died at Grady hospital early Friday morning from injuries received when struck by a switch engine, was sent Friday night to Berlin, Ga., the home of his father, G. W. Canady.

In Atlanta he resided at 47 Forrest avenue. While returning home from a Halloween party on Wednesday night he was struck by a string of box cars which were being switched near the Patillo Lumber company. An honorary escort of his fellow students at the Atlanta-Southern Dental college accompanied the victim's body to the depot.

H. G. LEWIS & Co.

70—72 Whitehall

The Favorite 150 Wool Jersey Dresses

—Sale 9 to 12—

$7.95

The Price

—The same dresses we have been selling at $10.95. —These have an extra set of collar and cuffs—

Black and All Colors

H. G. Lewis & Co.

We Played in Luck Again! 200 More of Those Choice

Fur-Trimmed Coats

Some are Without Fur

$25

You'll Marvel They're Not $40

They couldn't have arrived at a more opportune time! As a matter of fact, since our great sale last week of over 500 of these same wonderful coats, we've had call after call. Good coat news travels fast! Those who bought showed them to their friends, and their friends came, and bought. We sold down to a handful! Wired for more, and when you come today you'll be just as delighted as we are that they arrived in time for Saturday's selling.

Coats are of fine, soft deep pile fabrics that you'll love to snuggle into, and you'll be proud to wear them, too. They're in the favored slenderizing silhouettes with voluminous sleeves, and the majority of them are topped with huge fur collars.

They are in the same rich colorings shown in the more expensive coats: Kit Fox Gray, Dark Brown, Cocoa Brown, Navy and Black, and exploit the newest ideas in cluster stitching, tucks and self banding. Lined throughout with heavy lustrous satine.

Today—Starting at 9 O'clock

KEELY'S

Children's Shoes for Winter Weather — Muse's

Muse presents the finest of shoes for girls and children. The high shoes, the oxfords, the strap slippers. The sturdy, "sensible toe" shoes; the plain and sport combination oxfords; the high shoes in plain effects, and combinations of tan and suede, and patent leather and suede.

While the children's health should be your first consideration, the economy of choosing shoes which are really built for winter wear should be assured.

The heavier construction of the Muse shoes for girls and children affords both added protection and longer wear. The shapes of the various sizes are carefully studied, to meet the constant changes which take place in growing feet; and the Muse salesmen, (specialists in fitting the growing foot) fit them with accuracy.

—fourth floor

MUSE'S

"The Style Center of the South"

Peachtree :: Walton :: Broad

Tobias'o the Light

By James A. Cooper.

Next Week: "A Lover in Chains"
BY ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

(Continued from Yesterday.)
He walked through the kitchen to the hall and started up the spiral stairway. He presumed Lorna was with Miss Heppy. But when he came to the first landing he distinctly heard a sound from the best chamber, the door of which was ajar.

He hesitated. It came again—the sound of a half-stifed sob and a murmured word. The old lightkeeper's heart was wrung with sympathy. He crept to the door.

It was Lorna. She had flung herself down beside the bed, her face hidden in her arms. Her shoulders quivered under the throes of her sobs. She was more wrought upon by emotion than Tobias had ever before seen her!

Tobias' weather-blown face was puckered into a very serious expression. Used as he was to the sea and sea-going, having taken a man's part in the trade all his days, Ralph's peril about the Nelly G. seemed a matter of course in his mind. His sister's inbred terror of the sea (shared by so many longshore women) made little impression on Tobias Basset.

But the sudden revelation of Lorna's despair shook his composure. He had loved her ever since she and Ralph had toddled along the beach in rompers, each clinging to one of his hairy, tar-stained fingers. Now that she had grown to beautiful womanhood he was both fond of her and proud of her and had always considered that her growth and advancement was partly due to his watchful care during the four summers she had played along the beach.

Her deep concern now because of the gale and its threat began strongly to affect the lightkeeper. Under the depression of his discovery, Tobias forgot to exult that at least his match-making plans had come to fruition. Lorna loved Ralph!

It was the Nelly G. out yonder—and he believed it was—and if Ralph was aboard her, what could he do to avert a calamity? Aside from his personal feeling for Ralph Endicott, the thought that Lorna was suffering, sobbing and praying in that whitewashed cell downstairs fanned into flame the lightkeeper's desire to help.

What could he do?
Tobias adjusted the spy glass and focused it with practiced hand and eye upon the spot where the tossing masts of the laboring vessel heaved ever and anon into view. The sea was lower than Tobias had expected, but the coast and was already much nearer the lighthouse than when he had last viewed it.

Hour after hour the billows rolled in over the barrier of the Twin Rocks reef and entered the sands and the highway beyond until the sea finally breached through the shell road and spread, waist high, upon the lowlands. No such unusual tide had ever been before marked by the natives of the cape. Even the "great tide of '88" had not reached this high mark.

Tobias remained with Lorna in the kitchen. It was useless for her to attempt to go home, even when the water receded. Tobias could not leave the light to attend her, and there was nobody else to accompany her to Clay Head.

So she set about getting her supper. They spoke of the tide and the wonder of it. It was now too dark to see anything at all in the direction of the sea, save where that ray of light streamed forth from the top of the tower. It was impossible for Tobias even to observe the water boiling over the reefs.

Immediately after supper Tobias went up to the lamp again. But he came down quickly. He feared that Lorna might follow him.

When she asked if he had seen the schooner's topmasts again, he shook his head. It was true. As far as he knew, she might have gone down already. Yet he hoped. If she was beached, or being driven inshore, surely the crew of the Nelly G. would burn "cotton lights" or send up signal rockets.

Tobias, of course, at think of bed on such a night as this. And Lorna was far too seriously wrought upon to join Miss Heppy upstairs. The lightkeeper suggested it, but she shook her head in positive refusal. She would keep watch with him.

It was 10 o'clock when the first startling incident of this never-forgotten night occurred. First set long since past and the tide had run again over the sands. But the road was impassable for any vehicle. Tobias, lighting his pipe at the stove, suddenly decided to cock his ear.

There was a sound outside other than that made by the gale and sea. Lorna heard it, too. She sprang up, but Tobias was first at the door. He opened it with care, for fear the wind would suck in and put out the lamp.

"Abov!" bawled a voice from the road.
"There's somebody in trouble out there, sure's you're a foot high, Lorna," the lightkeeper observed. "Fetch me my slicker. Got to see what they want."

He was out in half a minute, answering the hail in "tentorian" tones. The girl held the door open a crack to peer forth. She made out the bulk of some object in the roadway before the lighthouse door; but the wind whipped the flying sand into her face and she was forced to withdraw.

By and by there was a fumbling at the door. It was flung open and there appeared the wind-blown figure of the detective, his long raincoat flapping about his legs. From outside Tobias bawled:
"You'll have to back around and run down to Ez Condon's Rafo. His shed's the only shelter. I callate, that there is for a car. That's where Zeke keeps his when he's up here to the light."

Tobias clumped into the house. His face was quite as grim as that of the visitor.
"You've heard of the bad penny, Lorna?" the lightkeeper said with sarcasm. "Here it is. Road's all torn up and they can't get that car of Arnold's through to Clunkerport tonight."

"I am sorry to have to take advantage of your hospitality, Mr. Basset," sneered the visitor.
"I callate you be," returned Tobias dryly. "But that's your own fault. You've made yourself sort of disliked around here, and I'm frank to tell you so. But I wouldn't leave a dog stay out such weather as this. And Rafo—"

"Why, do you know, Lorna," he added, turning to the girl, "Rafo Silver's got his hand in a sling. Broke his wrist, or something trying to crank that big car down there to the station. The self-starter wouldn't work. Lucky old Cap Edgar is no slouch of a bone-setter."

"Oh, I'm sorry!" cried the girl. "But what about the Nelly G.?" she added, her hands clasped, and looking pleadingly from the lightkeeper to the detective.

The latter appreciated her emotion now. He answered in a much more sympathetic tone than he had used when he was previously at the light-house.

She is still out there, and is not, they tell me, in jeopardy. The gale drops she will be all right. The door was flung open again. The little mahogany-faced Portuguese staggered in. It was plain to be seen that something fresh had happened.

What is it? cried Lorna, rising. Even the detective turned from the door to look at Rafo Silver. The latter spat out a word in his own tongue. Tobias laid a quick hand on his shoulder.

"Hey! What's happened to you now?" he demanded. "That wrist of yours—"

But Silver writhed away, holding his injured hand well out of contact with Tobias. "Not me! Not me!" he shielded. "But there—"

He pointed seaward. The girl whipped about and reached the seaward window before any of them, jerking up the shade.

At the instant a red streak curved upward from the surface of the sea, for a moment from the surface. Another followed. "Signal rockets!" murmured the lightkeeper.

Rafo was chattering to the lightkeeper in broken English. The old man seemed to understand him fully. He turned swiftly toward the stairs.

"It's the Nelly G., all right," he flung back over his shoulder. "She's like a lost sea anchor they put out, and there ain't nothing to keep her from going on these rocks at last."

"Oh, Tobias!" gasped the girl. "We've got to face it. No use trying to dodge the worst when it does come. If Rafo is aboard the schooner—"

"Oh, Endicott is aboard of her, all right," grumbled the detective. "I wish I was as sure of those rocks that helped him rob the bank."

The three were silent for a time. Their vision was fastened upon the plunging fishing craft. Her fore-topmast had been torn away. There was still some of her lower canvas set. Doubtless Captain Bob Pritchett and his crew were doing all they could to keep the Nelly G. from breaching the reef. But to make a better offering was impossible unless the wind changed. A sea anchor would help keep her head to the wind, but continuing the gale was forcing the schooner broadside on the coast.

"Maybe they'd better have beached her down there by Lower Trillion," Tobias finally said, but shaking his head doubtfully. "Anyway, that chance is past and gone. And ye can't really blame a skipper for trying to save his ship—nosir!"

"She's off the rocks—nosir! No two ways about it. What do you say, Rafo?"

"Santa Maria!" exploded the mahogany-faced man with a final shrug. "She's lost! No help—no!"

Tobias looked quickly at Lorna. The girl could have become no whiter in any case. But her eyes flamed. The lightkeeper was not astonished to hear her say with conviction:

"I do not believe it! There must be something we can do to help them. Think, Tobias Basset! Think!"

"I give it as my opinion, Lorna," he drawled, "that this here so-called absent treatment ain't going to do that schooner or them that's aboard."

THE GUMPS—ARE WE DOWNHEARTED?

At this decision she displayed instant satisfaction. She seized her jacket and veil. But Tobias was looking at Rafo Silver.
"Rafo," he said, "I've got to depend on you if I go with Lorna. Somebody's got to watch the light. You savvy?"
"Si, si! Captain Basset can depend on me," and he struck his chest with his unimpaired hand.
"If you need a man's two hands for anything, ring that fellow in," and Tobias nodded scornfully at the detective. "If anything goes wrong here and me gone, remember it means I'll lose my job. And the good Lord knows," he murmured, "me and Heppy's lost enough, seems to me—money and all."

The girl was already at the door; but Tobias took his time. He refilled and lit a lantern. He searched out a can of gasoline from the storeroom. He burdened Lorna with a stout ash can. And last of all, he coiled a length of strong line over his arm. He insisted that the girl be hauled into a lifebelt and he put on its male himself.

The detective did not offer to go out with them. Rafo Silver, however, insisted on accompanying the lightkeeper and Lorna down upon the sands. The radiance of the hard lantern revealed the waterswept shore. Toward the cove the damage by the high sea had not been so great. But as Tobias had prophesied, there were few boats left afloat in the cove.

"I see the motor boat!" Lorna cried, knowing exactly where to look for the Fenique's mooring buoy. "It is afloat!"

"I should hope so," rejoined Tobias. "These would-be no much use in the water."

Lorna flooded the skiff with lantern light when she turned it over. "I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon the shore, bottom uppermost.

"Heem no broken. I tink," said the Portuguese.

"I callate you are right," said the lightkeeper. He handed Lorna the lantern and put down his other burden. "Come on now, Rafo. Give us a hand to take us out there to that boat of Mr. Endicott's?"

The skiff in question had been tossed upon

SUCCESS CROWNS FLOYD FARMERS

Constitution Bureau.
T. J. Byron, Mgr., Phone 184.

Rome, Ga., November 2.—(Special.) Dark conditions of Georgia's agricultural conditions are patently by some farmers who are in a far better shape this fall than they have been since the cotton dropped out in the fall of 1920.

Not only are 90 per cent of Floyd farmers paying this year's debts and clearing money, but hundreds of them, are paying off debts that have run not only with last year's crop, but in addition, almost every farmer has a comfortable roll of bills in his pocket and are spending money in amounts unprecedented in the past three years.

Three Reasons Seen.
The reason for local prosperity is threefold, according to John Graham, president of the National City Bank. Abandonment of the old system of credit; much less buying of farm products; and more intelligent farming. There is no such thing as a longer season in Floyd county, nor is there a farmer who expects to grow a cotton crop. Nor is there a farmer who expects to grow a cotton crop. Nor is there a farmer who expects to grow a cotton crop.

Less Borrowing.
In the second place, farmers have borrowed far less money and have spent far less than ever before. The number of farmers borrowing money at Rome banks will not exceed 10 per cent of the number who secured Graham estimates. And the total amount of money loaned will not reach much above 25 per cent of the total. This is a far cry from the time when 75 per cent of the farmers were borrowing money and the total amount loaned was $1,000,000.

Curb Market Helps.
Floyd county farmers are fast getting away from cotton as their one money crop, it is shown. More than 400 of them have been selling produce on the curb market this year and scores of them have thus made money enough to defray the operating expenses of their entire farms. They have thus learned that it is possible to live entirely at home, supplying themselves even with the small necessities it is impossible for them to raise.

One-Crop Doomed.
There is little or no danger, local bankers and business men believe, of Floyd county's reverting to the "all-cotton" system even in view of the fact that the cotton crop is out. Too, the farmers' minds, it is pointed out, are fixed on the fact that the cotton crop is out. Too, the farmers' minds, it is pointed out, are fixed on the fact that the cotton crop is out.

Liquor and Still Seized.
Rome, Ga., November 2.—(Special.) The complete and the most extensive illicit distilling outfit ever seized in Floyd county, was captured yesterday afternoon on Armuchee creek by Sheriff R. E. Wilson and two deputies.

Curfew Time.
With a curfew time at 2:30 and a performance tonight at 8:30, the "Blossom Time" at the Atlanta Theater will be brought to a close. Not in years has a musical play been so much discussed or so universally visualizing as it does, to a present-day audience. The play, which is the dim past of a young man, is a present-day play, which is the dim past of a young man.

Keith Vaudeville.
Five acts of Keith vaudeville, each with a complete orchestra, will be presented at the Atlanta Theater tonight. The acts are: "The Man Who Came Back," "The Man Who Came Back," "The Man Who Came Back," "The Man Who Came Back," "The Man Who Came Back."

Jack Norworth in "Honey-Moon House."
(Coming to the Atlanta Theater.) "Jack Norworth in the 'Honey-Moon House' will be the feature of Monday night, when it will begin an engagement of three nights. The play, which is the dim past of a young man, is a present-day play, which is the dim past of a young man.

OKLAHOMA WALTONIAN
Close Up Account 3-K War on Jack Walton

EDITORIALS
Senate in Grip of Imperial Wizard
A. P. A. Now K. K. K.

TRIAL SUBSCRIPTION
One Dollar
Three Months
Do not Miss First Issue. Make Remittances to Oklahoma Waltonian
Box 1062, Oklahoma City, Okla.

FROM SEAT OF WAR—DO IT NOW!

THE CONSTITUTION'S Bible Distribution

COUPON
Two distinct styles of this wonderful Book of Books have been adopted for this great newspaper Bible distribution. One is the far-famed Red Letter Bible (Christ's sayings printed in red for immediate identification) and the Plain Print Bible for those who can spare but a nominal sum.

Only Three Coupons
Clip this coupon and two others and present or mail them to this possession of your Book of Books at once.

Mail Orders: Send amount for Style A or Style B with each additional for postage, packing and insurance. The Catholic Bible (Douay Version) bound similar to Style A described above and is offered on the same terms, 2 coupons and $1.95, or by mail, $2.15.

A Chance for Every Reader to Get a New Bible

MAY LIMIT AUTHORITY FOR SETTLING CLAIMS

Washington, November 2.—(Special.) The House of Representatives today passed a bill to limit the authority of the War Relocation Authority to settle claims against the government for property lost or damaged during the war.

McGinnis Funeral.
Rome, Ga., November 2.—(Special.) William L. McGinnis, a former Mayor of Rome, died at his home in Rome, Ga., yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Law Breakers Quake.
Rome, Ga., November 2.—(Special.) Judge John Dale, of the city court, continues to be a terror to those who manage to overstep the law, especially those who have been paroled during good behavior. W. C. Richardson and Vernon Thompson, both having their names on the list of law breakers, are serving sentences after having been paroled.

Leaguers to Meet.
Rome, Ga., November 2.—(Special.) Leaguers from Cedarville, Pine Log and other towns in the county will gather here at the First Methodist church next Sunday afternoon for a district Epworth League conference.

Montezuma Growers BACK PEACH GROUP
Montezuma, Ga., November 2.—(Special.) At a meeting of the Montezuma Growers Association, held yesterday afternoon, the group decided to back the Peach Growers Association.

EDWARD R. THOMPSON DEAD IN THOMASTON
Thomaston, Ga., November 2.—(Special.) Edward Rockman Thompson, 86, died at his home in Thomaston, Ga., yesterday afternoon.

AMUSEMENTS
THEATERS : : MOVIES

Lyric Theater—All week, "The Man Who Came Back," by the Fourty Fours. Matinee today.

Kath's Farthing—(Keith vaudeville.) See advertising for program.

Loew's Grand—(Vaudeville and pictures.) See advertising for program.

Howard Theater—All week, Gloria Swanson in "Zaza," and other screen features.

Alpha Theater—Today, "The Last Days of Pompeii," and other screen features.

Vaudeville Theater—Today, "The Last Days of Pompeii," and other screen features.

Lyric Theater—All week, "The Man Who Came Back," by the Fourty Fours. Matinee today.

Kath's Farthing—(Keith vaudeville.) See advertising for program.

Loew's Grand—(Vaudeville and pictures.) See advertising for program.

Howard Theater—All week, Gloria Swanson in "Zaza," and other screen features.

Alpha Theater—Today, "The Last Days of Pompeii," and other screen features.

Vaudeville Theater—Today, "The Last Days of Pompeii," and other screen features.

Lyric Theater—All week, "The Man Who Came Back," by the Fourty Fours. Matinee today.

Kath's Farthing—(Keith vaudeville.) See advertising for program.

Loew's Grand—(Vaudeville and pictures.) See advertising for program.

Howard Theater—All week, Gloria Swanson in "Zaza," and other screen features.

Alpha Theater—Today, "The Last Days of Pompeii," and other screen features.

Vaudeville Theater—Today, "The Last Days of Pompeii," and other screen features.

Lyric Theater—All week, "The Man Who Came Back," by the Fourty Fours. Matinee today.

Kath's Farthing—(Keith vaudeville.) See advertising for program.

Loew's Grand—(Vaudeville and pictures.) See advertising for program.

Howard Theater—All week, Gloria Swanson in "Zaza," and other screen features.

Alpha Theater—Today, "The Last Days of Pompeii," and other screen features.

Vaudeville Theater—Today, "The Last Days of Pompeii," and other screen features.

Lyric Theater—All week, "The Man Who Came Back," by the Fourty Fours. Matinee today.

Kath's Farthing—(Keith vaudeville.) See advertising for program.

Loew's Grand—(Vaudeville and pictures.) See advertising for program.

Howard Theater—All week, Gloria Swanson in "Zaza," and other screen features.

Alpha Theater—Today, "The Last Days of Pompeii," and other screen features.

Vaudeville Theater—Today, "The Last Days of Pompeii," and other screen features.

U. S. Estimate Shows Big Decrease in Cotton Crop

Washington, November 2.—A decrease of 767,000 bales in the prospective cotton crop as compared with a month ago was shown today in the department of agriculture's forecast of 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Condition By States.
The condition of the crop on October 25, and the forecast of production by states follow:

Virginia..... 88
North Carolina..... 83,000
South Carolina..... 1,010,000
Georgia..... 740,000
Florida..... 100,000
Alabama..... 22,000
Mississippi..... 615,000
Louisiana..... 628,000
Texas..... 329,000
Arkansas..... 4,300,000
Tennessee..... 680,000
Missouri..... 151,000
California..... 43,000
Arizona..... 49,000
Idaho..... 18,000
Montana..... 18,000
Wyoming..... 18,000
Utah..... 18,000
Nebraska..... 18,000
Kansas..... 18,000
Oklahoma..... 18,000
Colorado..... 18,000
New Mexico..... 18,000
Arizona..... 18,000
California..... 18,000
Idaho..... 18,000
Montana..... 18,000
Wyoming..... 18,000
Utah..... 18,000
Nebraska..... 18,000
Kansas..... 18,000
Oklahoma..... 18,000
Colorado..... 18,000
New Mexico..... 18,000

General Third Short Crop.
Heavy rain in the southwest, exceptional result of leaf worm ravages, and the heaviest autumnal rain in the history of the cotton crop, are the factors which have caused the decrease in the forecast of 767,000 bales in a forecast of 10,248,000 bales.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

U. S. Estimate Shows Big Decrease in Cotton Crop

Washington, November 2.—A decrease of 767,000 bales in the prospective cotton crop as compared with a month ago was shown today in the department of agriculture's forecast of 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Condition By States.
The condition of the crop on October 25, and the forecast of production by states follow:

Virginia..... 88
North Carolina..... 83,000
South Carolina..... 1,010,000
Georgia..... 740,000
Florida..... 100,000
Alabama..... 22,000
Mississippi..... 615,000
Louisiana..... 628,000
Texas..... 329,000
Arkansas..... 4,300,000
Tennessee..... 680,000
Missouri..... 151,000
California..... 43,000
Arizona..... 49,000
Idaho..... 18,000
Montana..... 18,000
Wyoming..... 18,000
Utah..... 18,000
Nebraska..... 18,000
Kansas..... 18,000
Oklahoma..... 18,000
Colorado..... 18,000
New Mexico..... 18,000
Arizona..... 18,000
California..... 18,000
Idaho..... 18,000
Montana..... 18,000
Wyoming..... 18,000
Utah..... 18,000
Nebraska..... 18,000
Kansas..... 18,000
Oklahoma..... 18,000
Colorado..... 18,000
New Mexico..... 18,000

General Third Short Crop.
Heavy rain in the southwest, exceptional result of leaf worm ravages, and the heaviest autumnal rain in the history of the cotton crop, are the factors which have caused the decrease in the forecast of 767,000 bales in a forecast of 10,248,000 bales.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

Forecast for the Year.
The forecast for the year is 10,248,000 bales, based on conditions prevailing October 25. The report was the first of its kind ever issued in November and had even been in view of the scarcity of cotton and the diversity of opinion as to the exact size of this year's crop.

STRIKING SHOPMEN SUE PENNSY ROAD

Philadelphia, November 2.—System Federation No. 90, representing shopmen on the Pennsylvania railroad system, today brought suit in the federal district court for $15,000,000 against the Pennsylvania railroad to make up alleged under-payment in wages which resulted, according to the bill of complaint, from the Pennsylvania's refusal to abide by the rules of the United States railroad labor board.

A statement given out by attorneys for the plaintiff stated the suit was filed on behalf of "sixty thousand striking shopmen." It was filed by David Wallenstein, Philadelphia attorney, with whom are associated in the case Donald R. Richberg, Chicago counsel for the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor, and Morris Hillquit, New York. According to the statement, the suit is the first action of its kind in the history of American jurisprudence, and is expected to go eventually to the United States supreme court.

The bill of complaint asks for an injunction restraining the Pennsylvania from paying wages to members of the union who are on strike, for refusing to recognize seniority rights established by the labor board; from routing the nice-work system and the present rules and conditions of work; from recognizing as representatives of the shopmen the "company union" which is established; the complaint avers, "without consent of the majority of the men," and from making any agreement with the company union governing wages, hours and conditions of work.

News of the Churches

ABRAHAM ACHIM.
Morris M. Jacobs, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and Max Hurvich, of Birmingham, Ala., will address the Bible class of the Abraham Achim congregation Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. J. H. Goldstein will also lecture on Israel Zangwill at this session.

CHURCHES OF CHRIST.
West End Avenue—Rev. B. C. Good, pastor, minister, services 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., with preaching by the minister. Bible study at 9:45. Communion and fellowship at 11:45 a. m.
South Pryor Avenue—Rev. W. Don Hockaday, minister, services 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., with preaching by the minister. Bible study at 9:45. Communion and fellowship at 11:45 a. m.
East Point—Rev. John A. Klingman, minister, services 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., with preaching by the minister. Bible study at 9:45. Communion and fellowship at 11:45 a. m.

LUTHERAN CHURCH OF REDEEMER.
At the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Rev. Karl L. Reimer, pastor, Sunday services 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., with preaching by the minister. Bible study at 9:45. Communion and fellowship at 11:45 a. m.

PENTECOSTAL HOLINESS.
At the Pentecostal Holiness church, Rev. W. H. McCutley, pastor, Sunday services 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., with preaching by the minister. Bible study at 9:45. Communion and fellowship at 11:45 a. m.

SERVICES IN CHURCHES FOR NEGROES SUNDAY

Rev. M. Roberts, pastor Mt. Carmel A. M. E. church, will deliver a special sermon to the students of the Holmes institute at 3 o'clock Sunday in the college chapel. Special music will be furnished by Mt. Carmel choir.

The regular A. M. E. ministers' union will not be held in Hotel Tuesday on account of the annual conference, which will be held in Allen temple, beginning on that day. Rev. R. H. Ward, president; Services in colored churches for Sunday are as follows:

Method—Rev. R. H. Singleton, pastor.

will preach at both services.
Allen Temple—Rev. R. H. Ward, pastor; interesting services morning and evening.
St. Paul's—Rev. C. G. Gray, pastor; services 11 a. m. and 8 p. m.
Commodore—Rev. W. J. Williams, pastor; regular services morning and evening.
St. Phillips—Rev. J. R. Gardner, pastor; services 11 a. m. and 8 p. m.
St. Carmel—Rev. J. R. Gardner, pastor; will preach at both services.
St. Peter's—Rev. J. S. Drake, pastor; will occupy his pulpit at both services.
Pleasant Valley—Rev. W. J. Peck, pastor; will preach a special sermon 11 a. m.; regular services 8 p. m.
Flippin Temple—Rev. C. D. Thornton, pastor; will occupy his pulpit at both services.
Trinity—Rev. J. E. McCain, pastor; will preach morning and evening.
Luther—Rev. A. D. Hardeman, pastor; will preach at both services.
Edgewood—Rev. E. H. Sanier, pastor; will preach at both services.
Turner Memorial—Rev. A. A. Duncan, pastor; will preach at both services.
C. M. E. Church.
Butler Street—Rev. J. C. Anderson, pastor; will preach morning and evening.
Holmes Temple—Rev. J. H. Carter, pastor; will preach at both services.
West Mitchell—Rev. A. S. Bailey, pastor; will preach at both services.
Baptist Churches.
Reed Street—Rev. E. P. Johnson, pastor; services morning and evening.
Zion Hill—Rev. C. H. Robinson, pastor; services morning and evening.
St. Zion—Rev. J. P. Jones, pastor; will preach at both services.
Union—Rev. C. H. Sharp, pastor; services morning and evening.
Little Mt. Zion—Rev. G. J. Jordan, pastor; will occupy his pulpit at both services.
Union—Rev. C. H. Sharp, pastor; services morning and evening.
Warren Memorial—Rev. C. J. Croley, pastor; will preach at both services.
Central Avenue—Rev. D. H. Stanton, pastor; will preach at both services.
South Atlanta—Rev. C. L. Johnson, pastor; will preach morning and evening.
St. Luke's—Rev. J. J. Alston, pastor; regular services morning and evening.

accused of the theft of a purse containing $31 from Williams' wife, Friday night resulted in acquittal of the two defendants and detention of Mrs. Williams for further investigation by federal narcotic inspectors.

At the night session of police court Williams voluntarily produced the purse alleged to have been stolen from Mrs. Lillian Williams 25, of 158 West Peachtree street, his wife, and officers found that it contained a vial of drugs and only $1 in cash.

Mrs. Williams branded the entire affair as a frame-up, insisting that the purse had contained a large sum of money and had not contained narcotics when she alleges, Williams took it from her Thursday night.

Williams and Harper were arrested Thursday night on complaint of Mrs. Williams to Officer S. C. Johnson. Until their acquittal in police court they were held under $3,000 bond.

Federal authorities will be notified Saturday of the discovery of "dope" in the young woman's purse. Meanwhile she is held at police station.

GREEK ROYALISTS REPORTED ANXIOUS OVER FATE OF KING

London, November 2.—There is much anxiety in Greek royalist circles and among the people of Greece regarding the fate of their king, who is a prisoner within the borders of the country and under constant surveillance, says a correspondent of The Daily Mail who was recently in Athens.

He is the reason the king did not attend the recent christening of his nephew at Belgrade was that the revolutionary government would not permit him to leave the country for fear he might not return.

Only the lives of the king and his brother, Prince Paul, the corresponding points of view stand between the king and a dictatorship. The avowed aim of the royalists is a republic, but it is a civil republic; the royalists leaders will have nothing to do with the present military domination. The only party that can preserve the monarchy, according to the writer, is that led by General Metaxas, whose recent movement failed because the rank and file of the army refused to join in the general reaction which has been in progress for many months throughout Greece in favor of liberty, which the royalists government has suppressed. This failure has caused the royalists to intensify their campaign against the king.

Blinks—"They live pretty high." Jinks—"Yes, but not above suspicion." Cincinnati Enquirer.

Alberto Salvi, Harpist, To Open Series Intime

The series intime of the Atlanta Music club will be opened Saturday afternoon at 3:30 at the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's club when Alberto Salvi, master of the harp, will give one of the most unique programs ever offered to music lovers of this city.

The visit of the famous harpist to Atlanta has created wide comment.

ALBERTO SALVI.

Mr. Salvi is practically a newcomer to this city, and his visit to Atlanta is the result of a series of concert engagements in the east which, it is said, were nothing short of sensational in their nature.

The artist is the son of an Italian harp maker, having been born in Venice in 1893. When only three years of age he was made him a tiny harp upon which he soon reached a startling state of efficiency. He was a finished musician at the age of 10, and was awarded the coveted Royal scholarship prize which entitled him to complete his studies under governmental auspices. He graduated three years in advance of his class, winning highest honors.

Since that time, he has divided his time between raising the harp to previously unknown heights as a solo instrument, and in composing. He will be heard in both roles, for several of his compositions, and arrangements for the harp have been included on a most interesting program.

The large subscribing membership of the music club will be in attendance Saturday afternoon, and their number will be augmented by many other music lovers. Admission will be secured at the door upon payment of $2. There will be no downtown sale of tickets.

John W. Archie Beaten and Robbed By Negro Bandit

Recovering consciousness after having been found in a Pryor street doorway, John W. Archie, of 107 1-2 Whitehall street, early Saturday morning reported to police the theft of $20 from his person by a footpad.

Archie was found in the doorway of a store at Pryor and Richardson streets, in an unconscious condition, by B. B. Moore, of 265 Crew street, and S. G. Bradley, of 292 Waldo street, and sent to Grady hospital.

About 1:15 o'clock, upon arousing himself, Archie was able to identify himself and give an account of an alleged attack on him by a negro who felled him with a blunt instrument.

L. F. TURNER REPORTS LOSS OF AUTOMOBILE

An automobile thief early Friday night stole a car owned by L. F. Turner, sales manager of the Perfection Battery and Light company, residing at 65 Oak street.

Loss of the Ford touring car, license number 129,000, was reported by Mr. Turner to police headquarters within ten minutes after the thief disappeared with his loot. Plain clothes officers were given a complete description of the car, but no eye-witness could be located for a description of the culprit.

Awtry & Lowndes Co. FUNERAL DIRECTORS New Location: 117 W. Oak St., 1st Fl., Adjoining MASONIC TEMPLE

OUR NEW AMBULANCE
$4.00 per trip in city

T. C. Bazemore Co.
Phone Main 1847

Hunter-Blanchard-Gartrell Co.
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
Ambulance Service
235 IVY STREET
Phone IVY 0859

PROFESSIONAL CARE.
Albert Howell, Jr., 117 W. Oak St., 1st Fl., High School Building.
P. H. Brewster, 117 W. Oak St., 1st Fl., High School Building.
Arthur H. Brewster, 117 W. Oak St., 1st Fl., High School Building.
Dorsey, Brewster, Howell & Heran, 501 to 520 Connally Building, Atlanta.

Buy a Home—Have the Title
Guaranteed and Insured by ATLANTA TITLE & TRUST CO.
15 East Alabama St.

Funeral Notices

LOWRY—The remains of Mrs. Lillian N. Lowry, of 177 Luckie street, were carried this (Saturday) morning at 6:30 o'clock over the Southern railroad, to Dalton, Ga., for interment. Hunter-Blanchard-Gartrell Co., funeral directors.

GRIFITH—The friends of Mrs. Sallie May Griffith are invited to attend her funeral services Sunday morning at 11 o'clock from the Mt. Zion church, near Ellerswood, Ga. Funeral party will leave chapel of Greenberg & Bond Co. Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

STEELE—Miss Clara May Steele, formerly of Atlanta, died Friday at Miami, Fla. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Steele, one sister, Mrs. Roy McMurray, of Atlanta, and four brothers, J. W. R. E. A. L. of Atlanta, and R. A. Steele of Miami. Funeral arrangements were announced later by Barclay & Brandon Co.

PETTY—The friends of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Petty, Mr. J. R. Petty and Mrs. A. C. Moley, all of East Point, Ga., are invited to attend the funeral of Master E. W. Petty, Jr. today (Saturday) at 2 o'clock, from the home, 106 Williams street, East Point. The Rev. J. A. Crumby will officiate and interment will take place at College Park cemetery. Carnichael & Parrish, funeral directors.

SMITH—The friends of Mrs. Mattie H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Waters, and Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Sharp are invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. Mattie H. Smith this (Saturday) morning at 10 o'clock, from the residence, 68 Dill avenue, Rev. W. Lee Cutts officiating. Interment in West View. Harry G. Poole, funeral director.

CRISP—Friends of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Crisp, of Toocoo, Ga., Mary and Georgia Crisp, Mrs. Max Owen, Hot Springs, N. M.; Mr. A. L. Owen, Chicago, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Payton, and family are invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. George A. Crisp this (Saturday) morning at 10 o'clock, from the Sacred Heart church, Rev. Father Hanson officiating. Interment at Toocoo, Ga. Barclay & Brandon Co., in charge.

LANDRUM—Coy Eugene Landrum, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Landrum, died at the residence, 85 N. Lawn street, Friday afternoon. He is survived by his parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Payton, Orrick, Mo., and Mr. J. W. Landrum, Atlanta. The funeral services will be held Saturday (Saturday) morning at 10 o'clock, from the chapel of Hunter-Blanchard-Gartrell Co., 235 Ivy street, Rev. W. D. Owens officiating. Interment in Rebooth churchyard.

HEATH—Died Friday night at the residence in Ben Hill, Ga., Mr. William Thomas Heath, in his 50th year. Besides his wife, surviving are two sons, Messrs. A. C. and E. H. Heath; two daughters, Mrs. W. R. Baker and Mrs. J. H. Heath; his mother, Mrs. Mattie Heath, all of Ben Hill, Ga.; and one brother, Mr. S. J. Heath, of Hazlet, Ga. Funeral will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, from Mr. Gilliland church, Interment in churchyard. Awtry & Lowndes Co., funeral directors.

PAYTON—The friends and relatives of Mrs. Milda C. Payton, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Vooten, Mrs. W. N. Cates, Mr. and Mrs. E. Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Payton, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Payton, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Payton, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Payton, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Payton, and Mrs. J. B. Akins are invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. Milda C. Payton this (Saturday) morning, November 3, 1923, at 10 o'clock, from the chapel of Hunter-Blanchard-Gartrell Co., 235 Ivy street, Rev. W. D. Owens officiating. Interment in Rebooth churchyard.

BRUMBY—Friends of Mrs. Carrie Brumby, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Brumby and family, Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Fannie Rice Harper and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cason, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McDaniel, Mrs. Zillah Horton and family are invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. Carrie Brumby today (Saturday), November 3, 1923, at 1 o'clock, from the chapel of Barclay & Brandon Co., Rev. W. M. Seay officiating. Interment at Marietta, Ga. The following gentlemen will act as pall bearers: Guy Harper, Hubert Williamson, J. H. McDaniel, James L. Zachry, W. E. Cason and Mae Cason.

MENINGER—The friends of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Meninger, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Meninger, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Carrie, Keenawav, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Kaesser, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Boston, Smyrna, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Borcharding, Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Melton Meninger, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Meninger, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carie, Montgomery, Ala., are invited to attend the funeral of Stanley Charles Meninger, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Meninger, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, Hightower road, Rev. Woodson officiating. Interment Greenwood cemetery. Greenberg & Bond Co., in charge.

PERRY—Mrs. Fubalia Jane Perry died Friday night at her residence, Mendor avenue, Lakewood Heights, in her 57th year. She is survived by her husband, Mr. E. A. Perry, one son, Mr. G. W. Perry; six daughters, Mrs. M. Harrison, Atlanta; Mrs. A. G. Adams, Athens, Ga.; Mrs. W. C. Ginn, Mrs. C. A. Yarbrough, Mrs. W. C. Weatherly and Miss Gussie May Perry; one brother, Mr. J. P. Weaver, Atlanta, and one sister, Mrs. J. T. Nash, Talladega, Ala. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon, November 4, 1923, at 2 o'clock, from the chapel of Hunter-Blanchard-Gartrell Co., 235 Ivy street. Interment in Greenwood cemetery.

THOMAS—The friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Felker, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Kemp, Mr. E. C. Thomas, Judge and Mrs. E. T. Thomas and Mrs. T. N. Thomas, all of Atlanta, are invited to attend the funeral of Mr. B. E. Thomas this (Saturday) morning, November 3, 1923, at 10 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. W. P. Felker, 119 Sinclair avenue. Rev. Henry Alford Foster will officiate. Interment will be in West View cemetery. The following gentlemen will please act as pallbearers and meet at the residence at 9:45 o'clock: Mr. Henry DeLoach, Mr. Donald Baldwin, Dr. J. T. Pettito, Mr. E. L. Knott, Mr. Ed Jones and Mr. Gus Wilkerson. H. M. Patterson & Son.

ATKINS—Friends of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Atkins, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jett, Atlanta; Mr. W. V. Jett, Washington, D. C.; Dr. and Mrs. H. Fincher, Lithonia, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Barnett, Decatur, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Finer, Macon, Ga.; Mr. Clifford Mullinax, and Mr. L. M. Jett, all of Atlanta, are invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. Willie Jett Atkins, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from West End Baptist church, Dr. W. M. Seay and Rev. J. L. Jackson will officiate. Following gentlemen are requested to serve as pall bearers and assemble at the chapel of Awtry & Lowndes Co., 2 o'clock; Mr. Henry Palmer, Mr. Cliff Mullinax, Mr. A. G. Barnett, Dr. T. H. Fincher, Mr. Harry Brewer, Mr. P. C. Vallcourt, Interment West View cemetery.

MAGNOLIA CEMETERY

Fine Custom Made Clothes—
Tailored to Your Individual Measure.

You Can't Beat It

There is no substitute for fine tailoring. When you order a Three Little Tailors made-to-your-measure Suit or Overcoat you are getting the last word in quality tailoring.

Be dressed up for Thanksgiving—come in now and order your new Suit or Overcoat and be ready for the big game.

Three Little Tailors
SAM COHEN, Manager
42 Peachtree

HUSBAND FREED AND WIFE HELD ON DRUG CHARGE

A police court airing of charges of disorderly conduct against D. M. Williams, 30, of the Wilcox hotel, and Joe Harper, 24, of 44 Courtland street.

TIRE SALE Today Only

The two most popular sizes. Carefully selected standard make tires torn down rebuilt. NEW LIVE TREAD, GUARANTEED.

30x3 1/2 Nonskid. . . . $3.95
32x4 Nonskid Cord. $7.50

SPECIAL values in other sizes. If any tire purchased at this sale proves unsatisfactory in two months we will replace at half price.

New Guaranteed Tubes from $1.25 up

National Tire Rebuilding Co.
39 East Mitchell St.

Rubber Heels Attached in 5 Minutes, 35c and Up

GWIN'S SHOE
1/2 Sole Sewed 50c Up
Established 1890
Moved to 12 South Pryor St.

CALL IVY 1268

City Coal Co.
FOR THE BEST

$8.50 Red $8.50 Ash
Nut $8.00 per ton

The Correct Way To Manicure Your Nails

(From The Delineator.)
The order of a home manicure is first, file; then soak for ten or fifteen minutes in warm, soapy water; clean with file from all cuticles from clinging to the nails with your cuticle-knife or your orange stick and pumice stone. Don't cut the cuticles, but push them down. Then take your piners and clean up all the little ragged and make your corners strut with pride, and then trim the beauty. Then the cream on the nails rubbed in, then the powder on the buff and polish until the nails are pink with blood, now powder, then a good liquid or none. Lastly, a nice little shower of delicate perfume over the hands and you feel like a lady!

The coarsened pores of the hand need astringents, but the constant washing of them has a drying-out effect, so one has to be a bit conservative about using astringents, as they, too, are drying. The perfect lotion for the hand has an astringent quality combined with an oil. A pet home-made combination is lemon juice and glycerin, or rose water and glycerin, and this does whiten and soften and refine the texture of many hands.

A Bald Fact.

Bessie, aged four years, who was drowned with her mother, caught sight of a baldheaded man.

"Oh, mother," she exclaimed in high shrill tones, "what's that bald head?"

"He hasn't a hair on his head. Isn't it sad?"

"Yeah!" replied her mother. "He will hear you."

"Oh," replied Bessie in subdued tones, "doesn't he know it?"

TIRE SALE CORDS

30x3 $7.50
30x3 1/2 7.95
32x3 1/2 9.75
31x4 11.95
32x4 12.95
33x4 13.25
34x4 13.95
34x4 1/2 18.95
36x5 20.95

Send $1.00 Deposit

Automobile Tire Co.
2 Courtland Wal. 1629
Washington St. Viaduct

TRUCK BODIES
All kinds, built to order. Repairing, Painting and Lettering. Auto Wheels Tightened.

YANCEY BROS.
90 N. Jackson St. IVY 1383.

J. E. HALEY
"YOUR DECORATOR" WALL PAPER and Painting
80 W. Peachtree IVY 6026

AUSTRALIA
SUVU
HONOLULU, NEW ZEALAND
The well equipped Royal Mail Steamers
GOA (15,000 tons) Jan. 4, Mar. 7
MAKURA (15,000 tons) Jan. 4, Mar. 7
For fares, etc., apply Can. Pac. Railway, Healey Bldg., cor. Forsyth and Wilcox Sts., Atlanta, or to Canadian Australian Line, Winch building, 741 Hastings St., West Vancouver, B. C.

Have You Tried
Phoenix Cup Coffee

Druid Hills Bungalow

Just finished; red brick with white trim; a very attractive 6-room bungalow having 3 bedrooms, also a living room, dining room, breakfast room and kitchen; bathroom of genuine white tile; basement is finished; has a good heating plant. This lovely bungalow is located on a lot 60x200 on Harvard Road; it is in walking distance of Emory University; lot is nicely shaded; location is in a community of home owners; price $12,500; a moderate cash payment and monthly notes will buy this very attractive home. We can make better price for large cash payment.

ADAIR REALTY & TRUST CO. HEALEY BLDG. WALNUT 0100

Lend your funds on Atlanta Mortgages at 7% and 8%
Safe investments in sums of $500 to $100,000
Thirty-three years without loss. Founded 1890

WEYMAN & CONNORS

Wal. 0942 621-7 Grant Building
Loans Insurance Rents Leases

18-Karat Service!

That's genuine enough! You'll feel like counting on it.

No matter how small the order may seem to you, we consider it very important. An order for a jar of paste will receive the same attention as an order for a steel file.

Let us show you some 18-kt. service!

Foot & Davies Company

"Everything for the Office"
"Five Seconds from Five Points"

Strong, Durable Concrete Driveways
Vibrolithic Process—Built by Responsible Men

THE DRIVEWAY COMPANY
1612 Healey Bldg. Phone WAL. 4013

ROSEMARY FUNERAL DIRECTORS
QUALITY, COURTESY AND EFFICIENCY
W. PEACHTREE AND KIMBALL STS.
HEMLOCK 6380 NO. 344 S. PRYOR
MAIN 1040

Best Red Ash Jellico Block Coal, $8.00 Ton
Best Nut Coal, $7.50 Ton

ATLANTA COAL COMPANY
IVY 8195
Delivery made to any part of city

Alonzo Richardson & Company
1420-1425 Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.
540 Munsey Building, Washington, D. C.

Certified Public Accountants
Auditing and Accounting in All Its Branches
Special Income Tax Department

FOR SALE
Flat newsprint paper suitable for small publishers and job printers.
The price is right.
P. O. Box 1731, Atlanta, Ga.

FREE

2 Gallons Woco-Pep
Today, Saturday, November 3rd,
At the Opening of Our New Service Station at
624 PEACHTREE ST.
(Between 3rd and 4th Sts.)

With every purchase of 5 gallons Woco-Pep, or more, we will give a coupon good for 2 gallons Woco-Pep at any of our stations after Saturday.

WOCO-PEP—King of Motor Fuels is worth 5 cents a gallon more than gasoline, as it will increase mileage from 10 to 25 per cent, and will form less carbon. Your motor will start much easier and quicker these cold mornings on Woco-Pep than on gasoline.

"If your motor could talk, it would ask for Woco-Pep"

WOFFORD OIL CO.

HARRIS DEFENDS COUNTY INCREASE

Taking sharp issue with the City Club of Atlanta and in its claims that smaller counties of the state increase county taxation, and branding attempts to influence the recently appointed tax commission to favor consolidation of smaller counties as "deliberately planned propaganda," W. H. Harris, prominent resident of Fort Valley, in a formal communication to the Constitution and tax commission, Friday, scores such efforts as "misleading" and submits figures to show that state revenues have been increased by the creation of additional counties.

Mr. Harris, who was one of the staunch supporters at the last general election of the proposed county of Peach, which was defeated following heated contest of the election returns in the counties affected, directs attention to what he terms "deliberately planned propaganda that seeks to take advantage of the present unrest among the people to prejudice the cause of the new county movement, or of the new counties already created."

Answers Dr. Coulter.

In his communication Mr. Harris calls attention to published claims made by Dr. E. M. Coulter, of North Carolina, in which he is quoted as declaring that "the state of Georgia is a tax haven." This statement coming from Dr. Coulter is without foundation, according to Mr. Harris, who points out that "North Carolina is composed of much larger counties than Georgia and is the banner high taxation state of the south."

"Dr. Coulter does not attempt to show wherein new counties have increased state taxation above the 5 mills that have been levied each year for many years," asserts Mr. Harris. "Neither does he show how it would be possible for new counties to increase that constitutional limit."

"He does, however, go the City Club of Atlanta one better in the matter of the Fulton-DeKalb consolidation by proposing more representation in the legislature for such a populous county."

Rate Would Be Higher.

"The tax burden is very properly described as a county burden, but the city club, in its very laudable enthusiasm for a certain cause, is forgetful of facts when the claim is made that the number of counties in Georgia causes this high county taxation. If that claim were correct then the tax rates would be higher in small counties than in large ones. The reverse is true."

In submitting proof of his claim, Mr. Harris quotes official figures showing the areas of certain counties of the state obtained from the secretary of state's office and the county tax rates obtained from the comptroller general's office.

"There are 16 counties in Georgia," declares Mr. Harris, "which have areas of less than 200 square miles. The average county rate for those 16 counties this year is $12.90 per $1,000."

There are 57 counties in Georgia more than twice as large with areas each of more than 400 square miles. The average county rate for these larger counties is $14.35 per $1,000.

LOYD GEORGE IS URGENT IN ADDRESS

New York, November 2.—America was called upon tonight by David Lloyd George in his farewell address in the new world to perform, along with the British empire, its full duty to the world.

"You responded to Europe's need in 1917," he declared. "But the work is only half done, and if no completed civilization is done with this generation to a catastrophe such as the world has never seen."

Speaking with lofty eloquence to a brilliant audience, the former British premier discussed conditions in Europe, declaring to those who say "Europe and the world are under a cloud" that there are millions underneath.

"Follow through and keep your eyes on the ball," pleaded the little Welshman, in claiming the Hughes proposal for an international commission to solve Europe's reparations trouble.

Adopting the golfer's vernacular, the war-time premier warned of bunkers and hazards ahead, but expressed in solemn words his confidence in the step taken by the United States to bring order out of chaos abroad.

Before sailing for home tomorrow on the Majestic after touring Canada and the United States, Mr. Lloyd George urged America not to be harsh on Europe and added:

"All vengeance is unbalanced. Every vindictive man or woman is partly to blame."

"Who?" he asked, "smashed Germany and Austria? Who created their impotence to carry out treaties?"

"All," he said, solemnly, "were responsible for victory, and all had their responsibility for what followed."

Only two countries, the United States and the British empire, he declared, could establish justice in the world.

France, he said, was committed to holding the wolf by the ear, even though the wolf later should turn and rend her.

Mr. Lloyd George spoke to a crowd of house heavily guarded by uniformed police and plainclothesmen. There was no disorder indoors, but outside the hall, a few persons, said by the police to be advocates of the Irish republic movement, were arrested.

TWO MEN REFUSE PLEAS AT TRIAL

Detroit, Mich., November 2.—Eugene Sandheim, president of the Cadillac Automobile Insurance Company of Detroit, for which a petition for a receivership has been asked by Leonard T. Hands, state insurance commissioner, and Eugene K. Corle, treasurer of the company, were arraigned before Judge Charles S. Burton in recorder's court late today, following their arrest of charges of embezzlement.

The men stood mute refusing to enter a plea. Their bonds were fixed at $10,000 each, which at a late hour had been made good by the company.

Commissioner Hands alleged gross mismanagement and misappropriation of funds.

TWO OHIO TEACHERS KILLED ON TRACKS

Steubenville, Ohio, November 2.—Two Jefferson county teachers, en route to this city to attend the opening of the Eastern Ohio Teachers' convention, were killed on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad at Toronto, at 7:15 o'clock this morning. Miss Olive Irvin, 22, of Richmond, Ohio, died instantly from a crushed skull, and Miss Helen Bernard, 29, of Fremont, Ohio, died 30 minutes later from internal hemorrhage, shock and the removal of her right arm at the shoulder. They were waiting for a freight train to pass and stepped in front of the oncoming flier.

4 PER CENT OF HOGS KILLED BY CHOLERA

Washington, November 2.—Cholera killed approximately four per cent of the hogs on farms in the United States during the last year. The bureau of animal industry, announcing this estimate today, said losses were heaviest in Iowa, Nebraska, Indiana, Missouri, Illinois, Georgia, Minnesota and South Dakota, in the order named. Each of these states, it is estimated lost more than 100,000 head from the disease.

The total number of swine lost from hog cholera exceeded 2,500,000, valued at approximately $29,300,000.

TO ADJUST BOUNDARY OF ULSTER FREE STATE

London, November 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—The British government has issued formal invitations to the Free State and Ulster governments to appoint delegates to meet British government representatives in London for an attempt to adjust the Ulster Free State boundary question. Both governments have accepted, but owing to the meeting of the imperial conference it has not yet been possible to fix the date for the first meeting of the boundary conference.

CITY GUN MEN NEED NEW GATS

New York, November 2.—With a noisy clatter a ton of scrap iron was dumped over the side of a scow into the Atlantic ocean off New York Friday afternoon and 2,000 gun men will have to buy new weapons.

The police, in compliance with the law, carried all the weapons seized in the last year to a point in deep water and threw them overboard. There were 1,800 pistols, 275 shotguns and rifles and 325 sword-canes, knives, black-jacks and handy lengths of lead pipes.

WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE FROM FATTY ARBUCKLE

Providence, R. I., November 2.—Minta L. Arbuckle has filed in the superior court here a petition for a divorce from Roscoe (Fatty) C. Arbuckle. The petition is brought on the ground of desertion and neglect to provide. The divorce was served on Arbuckle at a local hotel here on October 22. The petitioner claims he deserted her in April, 1917, and says she came to Providence in September, 1919, to enter the employ of the Stuart Film company.

Special Matinee Of Shrine Circus For Youngsters

This is the children's day at Yaarab temple's Shrine circus, now in progress at the Auditorium, and a special matinee will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for the special benefit of the children of Atlanta. Potentate Gibson has issued special invitations to the children of every charitable institution in Atlanta and vicinity, and special arrangements will be made to take care of the patients at the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children. Noble Lon Credle, chairman of the Shrine automobile committee, has arranged with nobles to bring the children and their nurses to the Auditorium, where a special section will be set apart to care for the little ones who can not walk.

The 60 performers in the 14 big acts of the circus have entered into the spirit of the occasion, and with a desire to please the thousands of little ones who will throng the Auditorium this afternoon, will introduce the children to the delights of the children. Potentate Gibson has issued a special request for nobles to furnish the children with sufficient stunts for the delight of the children. The circus will be present as guests of the temple, and nobles to bring the children and nobility should turn out en masse to aid the officers of the temple.

Friday night the Auditorium was packed from the arena to the roof with the huge audience that came to witness the show and participate in the fun of the big circus.

"Who?" he asked, "smashed Germany and Austria? Who created their impotence to carry out treaties?"

"All," he said, solemnly, "were responsible for victory, and all had their responsibility for what followed."

Only two countries, the United States and the British empire, he declared, could establish justice in the world.

France, he said, was committed to holding the wolf by the ear, even though the wolf later should turn and rend her.

Mr. Lloyd George spoke to a crowd of house heavily guarded by uniformed police and plainclothesmen. There was no disorder indoors, but outside the hall, a few persons, said by the police to be advocates of the Irish republic movement, were arrested.

FIRST PLACE HELD BY PINE AND OAK IN TREE CONTEST

With pine and oak running neck and neck for nomination as the American national tree on early returns, the battle between the two elementary science in Atlanta schools and assistants, were counting Friday more than 50,000 ballots cast in the primary held here. Announcement of the vote is not expected before Monday, Miss Rainwater said.

NO BAN TO BE PLACED ON CHEMICAL WARFARE

Paris, November 2.—The League of Nations committee appointed to inquire into chemical warfare, says Lucien Chassigne, editor of Le Journal, has concluded to recommend the continuance of this mode of war making at the same time defining the types of chemical destruction the nations ought to accept and reject.

The authority of this statement, says M. Chassigne, is Colonel Raymond Bacon, of the United States chemical warfare service, and the announcement of the committee's decision appears in the review Chemical Warfare. This publication observes that the committee's report finds the use of chemical agents in warfare and must revise the chemical warfare section which she has allowed to fall into disuse.

M. Chassigne concludes that France must not neglect the warning and must revise the chemical warfare section which she has allowed to fall into disuse.

FLURRY AT CAPITAL OVER MADDOO'S VISIT

Washington, November 2.—William G. Maddoo, who is spending a week here, today renewed acquaintances with personal and political friends, including several of his associates in the Wilson cabinet. Yesterday he and Mrs. Maddoo visited Mr. Wilson at his 8 o'clock dinner.

The arrival of the former treasury secretary at the capital started a new flurry of reports that important developments were impending in connection with his presidential boom, but he indicated today that he would have no public statement to make for several days at least.

Counterfeiting fell off 90 per cent at the close of the process of putting silk threads in bank notes.

CHILDREN LIKE EDUCATORS

Like Educators because they are comfortable and look nice. Mother likes them, too. They wear longer Play Shoes.

Children's Play Shoes

Sizes 5 to 2.....$1.95
Tan only. For school wear.

FIRST STEPS.....$1.49
SOFT SOLES.....89c

Felt House Slippers—Old Rose, Tan Trim; Blue, Tan Trim—
Sizes 5 to 2.....$1.00

Other Bedroom Slippers for children. Priced up to $1.50

EDUCATORS

Brown Calf, Black Calf, Patent Leather, Gray Suede Tops, Patent—Brown Suede Tops

Educators are less expensive.

Play Shoes

Sizes 5 to 8.....$2.95
Sizes 8 to 11.....$3.45
Sizes 11½ to 2.....$3.95

Educator Dress Shoe

Sizes 5 to 8.....$3.25
Sizes 8 to 11.....$3.95
Sizes 11½ to 2.....$4.95

One Lot—Sizes 5 to 8

$1.59
Brown or Black

Other good School Shoes for children, special.....$2.95

63 Whitehall ALL AMERICA SHOE STORE 63 Whitehall

GEN. W. H. GORDON, OF FORT BENNING, TO BE PROMOTED

Washington, November 2.—President Coolidge has approved recommendations made by Secretary Weeks for the promotion of Brigadier General W. H. Gordon, commandant of the infantry school at Fort Benning, Georgia; William H. Ray, now on leave at La Jolla, California, and Harry H. Bangholls, commanding the District of Washington, to be major generals, and Colonel Charles J. Symmonds of the army general staff and Legoy S. Upton, chief of staff of the Seventh Corps Area, headquarters at Omaha, Nebraska, to be brigadier generals.

WIDOW KILLS HERSELF AND HER TWO CHILDREN

Lincoln, N. J., Nov. 2.—Mrs. Anna Hazledough, 29, a widow, killed herself and her two children by gas asphyxiation in their modest home here. She apparently turned on the gas after putting the children, Frank, 10, and Andrew, 5, to bed, Wednesday evening. The bodies were found last night.

The child, three years old, is in a hospital recovering from burns suffered last week when he tipped over a pan of boiling water.

The police believe Mrs. Hazledough was crazed with grief over the death of her husband, a year ago, and with worry over the future of her little family.

MELLON FINISHES PINCHOT DEBATE

Continued from First Page.

Efficient enlargement of our equipment and forces, together with a more active cooperation upon the part of the local authorities, the eighteenth amendment and the national prohibition act can be enforced in any other law. To this end the best efforts of this department will be directed."

Without making further reference to Mr. Mellon's speech, the treasury head called attention to the appropriation of $8,500,000 with which he was expected to make the law effective in "forty-eight states, the District of Columbia, Porto Rico and the territories of Hawaii and Alaska."

Change Is Radical.

"The eighteenth amendment proposed a radical revolution in the social habits of a people," the secretary said. "It was adopted at the time of its adoption that it could not be immediately wholly enforced, but all understood it to be an undertaking of years, and one which necessarily must be progressive in its character. That it is a task of supreme difficulty the experience of his department for the last four years has abundantly proved. This difficulty is further aggravated by the fabulous prices offered for illicit liquor and the consequent opportunities for large and easy gain. While a great deal has been accomplished, much has failed of accomplishment. Patience, perseverance and united effort are necessary in the undertaking."

Mr. Mellon said that "by far the greatest problem" in enforcement is the checking of rum running and unlawful importations from foreign countries. These violations he described as "flagrant and notorious," but he declared he believed the coast guard, if given ample funds for the purchase of equipment which see absolutely necessary, could be made satisfactory and effective instrument for the prevention of unlawful importations from Canada."

Coast Guard Inadequate.

The coast guard, the secretary said, is doing "very effective service" against rum runners but with the other duties with which it is charged, he added, its equipment is wholly inadequate. He announced that the department had under consideration plans for expansion of the guard and shortly would make known how much money will be asked of congress for the work.

Mr. Mellon said he hoped that a better understanding with the Canadian government would result from the forthcoming conference with Canadian officials on prohibition questions and that any accords reached in that meeting would result in more effective prevention of unlawful importations from Canada.

Reference was made by the secretary to the proposed treaty with Great Britain by which search and seizure of rum runners outside the three-mile limit would be authorized. Expansion of the searching area, he said, would make it doubly imperative to strengthen the coast guard. Turning to the internal efforts at enforcement, Mr. Mellon said there were only 1,522 field agents and an administrative unit of about 700 with which to make the country of rum.

Is Small Force.

"Notwithstanding the large area

COOLIDGE COUSIN TO HOE OWN ROW

Continued from First Page.

mont is a question. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge stumped the state and wrote Coolidge a few days ago that everything looked good to him.

Professional politicians, whose business it is to organize the 1924 election, are paying more attention to the Maryland and Kentucky gubernatorial fights than anything else.

In Maryland Governor Ritchie, a democrat, and a belligerent wet, who has talked out in meeting at both of the white house prohibition conferences, is running for re-election against Alexander Armstrong, republican attorney general. Republicans are ostensibly dry, but Ritchie is charging his opponent with pussy-footing on the liquor issue. Women appear to be organized behind the republican candidate and the anti-racing leaders are against Ritchie. Democrats predict they will elect Ritchie by 10,000 to 30,000. But the unknown strength of the Ku Klux Klan, which figures prominently in a Maryland state election for the first time, makes predictions hazardous.

Cox Stumps Kentucky.

In Kentucky, republican leaders were considerably disappointed that President Coolidge did not come to their assistance in the closing days of the campaign. Harding visited the state as a candidate in 1920 and saw it elect a republican state ticket and a United States senator, although it barely failed to give him the electoral vote by less than 5,000.

Postmaster General Nease and other republican speakers have been in the state but the lack of white house assistance has discouraged state leaders, especially since James M. Cox, who has many friends in the state, has been stumped by the republican candidate for governor, Charles I. Dawson, started under the handicap of a factional row within his party but that has been smoothed over. William J. Fields, democratic congressman, is the opposition candidate. He is assailing the republicans on national questions.

"We have in the United States 74

million people, and a belligerent wet, who has talked out in meeting at both of the white house prohibition conferences, is running for re-election against Alexander Armstrong, republican attorney general. Republicans are ostensibly dry, but Ritchie is charging his opponent with pussy-footing on the liquor issue. Women appear to be organized behind the republican candidate and the anti-racing leaders are against Ritchie. Democrats predict they will elect Ritchie by 10,000 to 30,000. But the unknown strength of the Ku Klux Klan, which figures prominently in a Maryland state election for the first time, makes predictions hazardous.

COOLIDGE COUSIN TO HOE OWN ROW

Continued from First Page.

mont is a question. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge stumped the state and wrote Coolidge a few days ago that everything looked good to him.

Professional politicians, whose business it is to organize the 1924 election, are paying more attention to the Maryland and Kentucky gubernatorial fights than anything else.

In Maryland Governor Ritchie, a democrat, and a belligerent wet, who has talked out in meeting at both of the white house prohibition conferences, is running for re-election against Alexander Armstrong, republican attorney general. Republicans are ostensibly dry, but Ritchie is charging his opponent with pussy-footing on the liquor issue. Women appear to be organized behind the republican candidate and the anti-racing leaders are against Ritchie. Democrats predict they will elect Ritchie by 10,000 to 30,000. But the unknown strength of the Ku Klux Klan, which figures prominently in a Maryland state election for the first time, makes predictions hazardous.

Cox Stumps Kentucky.

In Kentucky, republican leaders were considerably disappointed that President Coolidge did not come to their assistance in the closing days of the campaign. Harding visited the state as a candidate in 1920 and saw it elect a republican state ticket and a United States senator, although it barely failed to give him the electoral vote by less than 5,000.

Postmaster General Nease and other republican speakers have been in the state but the lack of white house assistance has discouraged state leaders, especially since James M. Cox, who has many friends in the state, has been stumped by the republican candidate for governor, Charles I. Dawson, started under the handicap of a factional row within his party but that has been smoothed over. William J. Fields, democratic congressman, is the opposition candidate. He is assailing the republicans on national questions.

"We have in the United States 74

million people, and a belligerent wet, who has talked out in meeting at both of the white house prohibition conferences, is running for re-election against Alexander Armstrong, republican attorney general. Republicans are ostensibly dry, but Ritchie is charging his opponent with pussy-footing on the liquor issue. Women appear to be organized behind the republican candidate and the anti-racing leaders are against Ritchie. Democrats predict they will elect Ritchie by 10,000 to 30,000. But the unknown strength of the Ku Klux Klan, which figures prominently in a Maryland state election for the first time, makes predictions hazardous.

COOLIDGE COUSIN TO HOE OWN ROW

Continued from First Page.

mont is a question. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge stumped the state and wrote Coolidge a few days ago that everything looked good to him.

Professional politicians, whose business it is to organize the 1924 election, are paying more attention to the Maryland and Kentucky gubernatorial fights than anything else.

In Maryland Governor Ritchie, a democrat, and a belligerent wet, who has talked out in meeting at both of the white house prohibition conferences, is running for re-election against Alexander Armstrong, republican attorney general. Republicans are ostensibly dry, but Ritchie is charging his opponent with pussy-footing on the liquor issue. Women appear to be organized behind the republican candidate and the anti-racing leaders are against Ritchie. Democrats predict they will elect Ritchie by 10,000 to 30,000. But the unknown strength of the Ku Klux Klan, which figures prominently in a Maryland state election for the first time, makes predictions hazardous.

Cox Stumps Kentucky.

In Kentucky, republican leaders were considerably disappointed that President Coolidge did not come to their assistance in the closing days of the campaign. Harding visited the state as a candidate in 1920 and saw it elect a republican state ticket and a United States senator, although it barely failed to give him the electoral vote by less than 5,000.

Postmaster General Nease and other republican speakers have been in the state but the lack of white house assistance has discouraged state leaders, especially since James M. Cox, who has many friends in the state, has been stumped by the republican candidate for governor, Charles I. Dawson, started under the handicap of a factional row within his party but that has been smoothed over. William J. Fields, democratic congressman, is the opposition candidate. He is assailing the republicans on national questions.

"We have in the United States 74

million people, and a belligerent wet, who has talked out in meeting at both of the white house prohibition conferences, is running for re-election against Alexander Armstrong, republican attorney general. Republicans are ostensibly dry, but Ritchie is charging his opponent with pussy-footing on the liquor issue. Women appear to be organized behind the republican candidate and the anti-racing leaders are against Ritchie. Democrats predict they will elect Ritchie by 10,000 to 30,000. But the unknown strength of the Ku Klux Klan, which figures prominently in a Maryland state election for the first time, makes predictions hazardous.

COOLIDGE COUSIN TO HOE OWN ROW

Continued from First Page.

mont is a question. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge stumped the state and wrote Coolidge a few days ago that everything looked good to him.

Professional politicians, whose business it is to organize the 1924 election, are paying more attention to the Maryland and Kentucky gubernatorial fights than anything else.

In Maryland Governor Ritchie, a democrat, and a belligerent wet, who has talked out in meeting at both of the white house prohibition conferences, is running for re-election against Alexander Armstrong, republican attorney general. Republicans are ostensibly dry, but Ritchie is charging his opponent with pussy-footing on the liquor issue. Women appear to be organized behind the republican candidate and the anti-racing leaders are against Ritchie. Democrats predict they will elect Ritchie by 10,000 to 30,000. But the unknown strength of the Ku Klux Klan, which figures prominently in a Maryland state election for the first time, makes predictions hazardous.

Cox Stumps Kentucky.

In Kentucky, republican leaders were considerably disappointed that President Coolidge did not come to their assistance in the closing days of the campaign. Harding visited the state as a candidate in 1920 and saw it elect a republican state ticket and a United States senator, although it barely failed to give him the electoral vote by less than 5,000.

Postmaster General Nease and other republican speakers have been in the state but the lack of white house assistance has discouraged state leaders, especially since James M. Cox, who has many friends in the state, has been stumped by the republican candidate for governor, Charles I. Dawson, started under the handicap of a factional row within his party but that has been smoothed over. William J. Fields, democratic congressman, is the opposition candidate. He is assailing the republicans on national questions.

"We have in the United States 74

million people, and a belligerent wet, who has talked out in meeting at both of the white house prohibition conferences, is running for re-election against Alexander Armstrong, republican attorney general. Republicans are ostensibly dry, but Ritchie is charging his opponent with pussy-footing on the liquor issue. Women appear to be organized behind the republican candidate and the anti-racing leaders are against Ritchie. Democrats predict they will elect Ritchie by 10,000 to 30,000. But the unknown strength of the Ku Klux Klan, which figures prominently in a Maryland state election for the first time, makes predictions hazardous.

COOLIDGE COUSIN TO HOE OWN ROW

Continued from First Page.

mont is a question. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge stumped the state and wrote Coolidge a few days ago that everything looked good to him.

Professional politicians, whose business it is to organize the 1924 election, are paying more attention to the Maryland and Kentucky gubernatorial fights than anything else.

In Maryland Governor Ritchie, a democrat, and a belligerent wet, who has talked out in meeting at both of the white house prohibition conferences, is running for re-election against Alexander Armstrong, republican attorney general. Republicans are ostensibly dry, but Ritchie is charging his opponent with pussy-footing on the liquor issue. Women appear to be organized behind the republican candidate and the anti-racing leaders are against Ritchie. Democrats predict they will elect Ritchie by 10,000 to 30,000. But the unknown strength of the Ku Klux Klan, which figures prominently in a Maryland state election for the first time, makes predictions hazardous.

Cox Stumps Kentucky.

In Kentucky, republican leaders were considerably disappointed that President Coolidge did not come to their assistance in the closing days of the campaign. Harding visited the state as a candidate in 1920 and saw it elect a republican state ticket and a United States senator, although it barely failed to give him the electoral vote by less than 5,000.

Postmaster General Nease and other republican speakers have been in the state but the lack of white house assistance has discouraged state leaders, especially since James M. Cox, who has many friends in the state, has been stumped by the republican candidate for governor, Charles I. Dawson, started under the handicap of a factional row within his party but that has been smoothed over. William J. Fields, democratic congressman, is the opposition candidate. He is assailing the republicans on national questions.

"We have in the United States 74

million people, and a belligerent wet, who has talked out in meeting at both of the white house prohibition conferences, is running for re-election against Alexander Armstrong, republican attorney general. Republicans are ostensibly dry, but Ritchie is charging his opponent with pussy-footing on the liquor issue. Women appear to be organized behind the republican candidate and the anti-racing leaders are against Ritchie. Democrats predict they will elect Ritchie by 10,000 to 30,000. But the unknown strength of the Ku Klux Klan, which figures prominently in a Maryland state election for the first time, makes predictions hazardous.

Chamberlin's Bargain Basement

Snapped up at a fraction of their cost of making --these CHILDREN'S and JUNIOR coats $5.90

WHY! Surplus stock of big New York makers who cleaned house to get ready for next season!

Broadcloths, Silvertones Yalamas Velours, Cheviots, Herringbone Mixtures, Overplaid

READ, 190 BIG values, sizes 2 to 14 in lot at $5.90

IMAGINE -- 19 different styles, 14 colorings -- $5.90

LOOK! 1/2 the lot have fur collars

Is Your GIRL'S Size in This List?

COOLIDGE COUSIN TO HOE OWN ROW

Continued from First Page.

mont is a question. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge stumped the state and wrote Coolidge a few days ago that everything looked good to him.

Professional politicians, whose business it is to organize the 1924 election, are paying more attention to the Maryland and Kentucky gubernatorial fights than anything else.

In Maryland Governor Ritchie, a democrat, and a belligerent wet, who has talked out in meeting at both of the white house prohibition conferences, is running for re-election against Alexander Armstrong, republican attorney general. Republicans are ostensibly dry, but Ritchie is charging his opponent with pussy-footing on the liquor issue. Women appear to be organized behind the republican candidate and the anti-racing leaders are against Ritchie. Democrats predict they will elect Ritchie by 10,000 to 30,000. But the unknown strength of the Ku Klux Klan, which figures prominently in a Maryland state election for the first time, makes predictions hazardous.

Cox Stumps Kentucky.

In Kentucky, republican leaders were considerably disappointed that President Coolidge did not come to their assistance in the closing days of the campaign. Harding visited the state as a candidate in 1920 and saw it elect a republican state ticket and a United States senator, although it barely failed to give him the electoral vote by less than 5,000.

Postmaster General Nease and other republican speakers have been in the state but the lack of white house assistance has discouraged state leaders, especially since James M. Cox, who has many friends in the state, has been stumped by the republican candidate for governor, Charles I. Dawson, started under the handicap of a factional row within his party but that has been smoothed over. William J. Fields, democratic congressman, is the opposition candidate. He is assailing the republicans on national questions.

"We have in the United States 74

million people, and a belligerent wet, who has talked out in meeting at both of the white house prohibition conferences, is running for re-election against Alexander Armstrong, republican attorney general. Republicans are ostensibly dry, but Ritchie is charging his opponent with pussy-footing on the liquor issue. Women appear to be organized behind the republican candidate and the anti-racing leaders are against Ritchie. Democrats predict they will elect Ritchie by 10,000 to 30,000. But the unknown strength of the Ku Klux Klan, which figures prominently in a Maryland state election for the first time, makes predictions hazardous.

COOLIDGE COUSIN TO HOE OWN ROW

Continued from First Page.

mont is a question. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge stumped the state and wrote Coolidge a few days ago that everything looked good to him.

Professional politicians, whose business it is to organize the 1924 election, are paying more attention to the Maryland and Kentucky gubernatorial fights than anything else.

In Maryland Governor Ritchie, a democrat, and a belligerent wet, who has talked out in meeting at both of the white house prohibition conferences, is running for re-election against Alexander Armstrong, republican attorney general. Republicans are ostensibly dry, but Ritchie is charging his opponent with pussy-footing on the liquor issue. Women appear to be organized behind the republican candidate and the anti-racing leaders are against Ritchie. Democrats predict they will elect Ritchie by 10,000 to 30,000. But the unknown strength of the Ku Klux Klan, which figures prominently in a Maryland state election for the first time, makes predictions hazardous.

Cox Stumps Kentucky.

In Kentucky, republican leaders were considerably disappointed that President Coolidge did not come to their assistance in the closing days of the campaign. Harding visited the state as a candidate in 1920 and saw it elect a republican state ticket and a United States senator, although it barely failed to give him the electoral vote by less than 5,000.

Postmaster General Nease and other republican speakers have been in the state but the lack of white house assistance has discouraged state leaders, especially since James M. Cox, who has many friends in the state, has been stumped by the republican candidate for governor, Charles I. Dawson, started under the handicap of a factional row within his party but that has been smoothed over. William J. Fields, democratic congressman, is the opposition candidate. He is assailing the republicans on national questions.

"We have in the United States 74

million people, and a belligerent wet, who has talked out in meeting at both of the white house prohibition conferences, is running for re-election against Alexander Armstrong, republican attorney general. Republicans are ostensibly dry, but Ritchie is charging his opponent with pussy-footing on the liquor issue. Women appear to be organized behind the republican candidate and the anti-racing leaders are against Ritchie. Democrats predict they will elect Ritchie by 10,000 to 30,000. But the unknown strength of the Ku Klux Klan, which figures prominently in a Maryland state election for the first time, makes predictions hazardous.

COOLIDGE COUSIN TO HOE OWN ROW

Continued from First Page.

mont is a question. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge stumped the state and wrote Coolidge a few days ago that everything looked good to him.

Professional politicians, whose business it is to organize the 1924 election, are paying more attention to the Maryland and Kentucky gubernatorial fights than anything else.

In Maryland Governor Ritchie

GEORGIA AND AUBURN IN ANNUAL CLASH TODAY

Fourteen Conference Elevens Will Play Today

Results of Grid Battles Today Will Bear Heavily Upon Standing of Teams

Interest of Southern Fans Centered On Alabama and Tech in Atlanta, Auburn and Georgia in Columbus.

With half the football season already a matter of record, only one-third of the southern conference games have been played. Today, however, fourteen teams meet in conference battles and the results will bear heavily on standings for the season.

Two rivals from Alabama invade Georgia for conflicts with strong enemies. Alabama university comes to Atlanta to meet Tech's Yellow Jackets and the Auburn Plainsmen meet Georgia university on neutral ground at Columbus. Rugged contests are presaged by ancient enmity and the fact that the four elevens are in fighting trim. The two feature battles will be closely watched for any advance hope they may give on Alabama's annual battle with Georgia two weeks hence and Auburn's classic with Tech here on Thanksgiving day.

North and South Carolina universities fight it out at Columbia, S. C. The Tar Heels have an advantage in the matter of conference games, having won one and lost one, while their neighbors lost their only conference start.

Virginia Polytechnic institute, aggressive contender for conference honors, has a worthy foe in Clemson at Blacksburg, Va. The Tech eleven, after walloping Maryland, slipped and fell before Washington and Lee, and needs victory tomorrow to strengthen its standing. Clemson, with but two conference games on its list, played a scoreless tie with Auburn in its first start.

Washington and Lee, with a victory and a tie with Kentucky on record, takes on Virginia at Lexington. The Generals have demonstrated themselves to be a scrappy outfit and threaten Virginia, which has lost its only conference game to date and which has been roughly handled by other foes.

Two good games are on the cards for Tennessee cities. Knoxville will see Tennessee and Tulane try to improve their conference standings, the Volunteers having won and lost one game and Tulane having lost one. Vanderbilt and Mississippi A. and M. meet at Nashville. The Commodores won their first conference game by defeating Tulane, and the Aggies have won from Ole Miss and have lost to Tennessee.

Other conference elevens meet less formidable rivals with conference games scheduled for next Saturday. The Cadets from Virginia Military institute tackle Emory and Henry at Lexington, and North Carolina State meets Davidson at Charlotte. Mercer, of Macon, goes to Gainesville, Fla., to tussle with the Florida Gators. Mississippi and Birmingham-Southern play at Oxford, Miss.

Washington and Lee, with a victory and a tie with Kentucky on record, takes on Virginia at Lexington. The Generals have demonstrated themselves to be a scrappy outfit and threaten Virginia, which has lost its only conference game to date and which has been roughly handled by other foes.

Two good games are on the cards for Tennessee cities. Knoxville will see Tennessee and Tulane try to improve their conference standings, the Volunteers having won and lost one game and Tulane having lost one. Vanderbilt and Mississippi A. and M. meet at Nashville. The Commodores won their first conference game by defeating Tulane, and the Aggies have won from Ole Miss and have lost to Tennessee.

Other conference elevens meet less formidable rivals with conference games scheduled for next Saturday. The Cadets from Virginia Military institute tackle Emory and Henry at Lexington, and North Carolina State meets Davidson at Charlotte. Mercer, of Macon, goes to Gainesville, Fla., to tussle with the Florida Gators. Mississippi and Birmingham-Southern play at Oxford, Miss.

Facts on Race at Latonia Today

Cincinnati, Ohio, November 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Salient facts concerning the Latonia championship stakes in which Zev and My Own, together with three other starters, will meet tomorrow.

Place—Latonia Race Track, Latonia, Ky.
Time—3:30 p. m., Central standard time.
Distance—One and three-quarter miles.
Weight—126 pounds.
Purse—$50,000 to the winner in addition to a gold cup.
Contestants—Zev, by The Finn-Miss Kearney, owned by Harry F. Sinclair; trainer, Sam Hildreth; jockey, Earl Sande.
My Own, by King James-Belle Landon, owned by Admiral Cary T. Grayson; trainers, W. H. Brooks and W. P. Burch; jockey, Clarence Kummer.
In Memoriam, by McGee-Enchantress II, owned by Carl Wiedemann; trainer, G. J. Gilmore; jockey, Mark Garner.
Rialto, by Chickie and Matinee, owned by Mrs. Payne Whitney; trainer, James Rowe, Jr.; jockey, Frank Colletti.
Taylor Hay, by Faux Col-Emma Star, owned by C. W. Hay; trainer, C. W. Hay; jockey, Larry McDermott.

Stribling May Substitute For McTigue in Tunney Bout

Georgia Youngster Watches Jack Renault Knock Out Floyd Johnson at Madison Square Garden.

STIBLING MAY GET CHANCE.
New York, November 2.—Young Stribling, Georgia school boy boxer, who aspires to lightweight honors, may substitute for Mike McTigue, holder of the world's 175-pound crown, in the latter's inability to go through with his scheduled match with Gene Tunney, American champion, at Madison Square Garden December 10. This was announced tonight when Stribling and Tunney were introduced from the ring before the Johnson-Renault match. Stribling recently fought McTigue to a draw in Columbus, Ga.

New York, November 2.—Jack Renault, rugged Canadian heavyweight, battered Floyd Johnson, Iowa battler, into defeat tonight in the fifteenth and last round of a furious, spectacular fight in Madison Square Garden.

Renault scored a technical knockout when Johnson's seconds tossed a towel into the ring after the Iowa had gone down twice in the final round under the Canadian's hammering attack. But Johnson, though helpless and bleeding from gashes about the head, was on his feet when the end came, staggering back by instinct to the fray he had lost only after one of the most courageous ring exhibitions ever witnessed in the historic Garden arena.

The finish came with but 31 seconds of the final round left and after Johnson, by sheer grit, had managed to weather a terrific bombardment for the last seven rounds. The young Iowa was on the verge of a knockout in both the ninth and tenth rounds, groggy under Renault's cool, merciless attack, but just when it seemed he was about to go down he rallied spectacularly and actually fought Renault off his feet with determined, if futile, rushes in the eleventh, twelfth and thirteenth rounds.

Renault, jarred but apparently unhurt by the flurry of his rival's blows, kept a steady stream of blood flowing from deep gashes under

Johnson's left eye, his nose, lips and chin.

The Canadian unleashed a slashing drive in the fourteenth, sending Johnson about the ring under a fusillade of ripping hooks and uppercuts to the head and body. Somehow Johnson managed to weather the storm and in the fifteenth he tried gamely to rally. But his punches bounded off Renault harmlessly and he soon was helpless under another withering attack. Only the instinct of a fighting heart kept Johnson on his feet under the bombardment.

Three In Towel.
Sent back by a half shove, a half hook to the chin, Johnson seemed to wilt as he went to the floor for the first count. An easy target as he arose, he was sent sprawling down again, only to regain his footing and totter toward Renault as the towel ended the fray and the westerner's championship aspirations.

Johnson's gameness and aggressiveness were his only assets, but they stood out as the high spot of the battle. Renault proved himself a crafty ring general, a relentless foe and powerful biter, but there were many occasions when, in the face of his opponent's gameness, he missed chances to apply a finishing blow.

Twice Johnson's impetuous attack carried Renault off his feet and sent him through the ropes, but the Canadian climbed back each time, apparently unharmed. Johnson jarred his rival with lefts to the head at times, but his punches carried no effectiveness. His rushing tactics made the first half of the fight interesting, but after the eighth round it was only a question of how long Johnson's courage could enable him to withstand the Canadian's attack.

Johnson entered the ring tonight weighing 196, while Renault was a half-pound heavier.

TO LET CONCRETE FOR PONCEY STANDS
The contract for the rebuilding of the Ponce de Leon grandstands will be let today, according to R. J. Spiller, owner of the park. The plans have been completed some time and the bids will be opened and the contract let today.

According to R. J. Spiller the stands will be the most up-to-date concrete stands in the south and will serve for football crowds as well as baseball. The sum to be spent in rebuilding the burned stands will run high and it has been reported that the total cost of the work will amount to more than $90,000.

Tuskegee is determined to win this year.

The Tigers defeated them last year on their own field.

Coach Harvey carried the squad through signal practice yesterday and the team showed exceptional form, executing the plays like a well-oiled machine.

RACING PROGRAM ABANDONED IN KANSAS CITY
Kansas City, Mo., November 2.—P. J. Bannister, president of the Kansas City chamber of commerce, who recently announced that the chamber would work for the return of horse racing in Missouri, has decided to drop the movement.

"On mature reflection of the question," he said, "I have come to the conclusion that race meetings would not be successful without gambling, which could be restricted as in other states, but at the same time, it would become a legalized form of gambling and therefore, I am unwilling to make further effort for horse racing."

Mr. Bannister had planned to appoint a committee to draw up a racing bill for presentation to the next session of the state legislature.

Both Teams Will Enter Game With Odds About Even; Fans Already Arrive for Contest

Both Squads Reported To Be in Excellent Shape—Columbus Is Gaily Decorated With Colors of Both Schools.

MIKE'S GOOD WISHES.
Auburn, Ala., November 2.—(Special.)—The Auburn Tiger spirit, made famous during the past quarter of a century by Mike Donahue and others, which has been far above fever heat for many days, was again shot upward late tonight on the receipt of a telegram from Coach Donahue, now of Louisiana State university. The communication received is as follows:

"John E. Pitts, Auburn, Ala.—To Captain Reagan and the Auburn football team: You have my most sincere wishes for success in your coming game. Remember that so far everything has been merely preparatory to your traditional games. As Auburn men, and with the leadership that you have, I know you will live up to the traditions of any Auburn team. You have done remarkably well so far and for the future individually and collectively, I wish you every success possible."
"MIKE DONAHUE."

BY HOMER GEORGE, Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, Ga., November 2.—(Special.)—With all Columbus and much of both Alabama and Georgia parading the streets, riding the roads and yelling either "Give 'em hell, Georgia" or "Eat 'em up, Tiger," everything is set here tonight for the battle between the Red and Black and the Blue and Orange, which will take place tomorrow.

Only one drawback is now in evidence and that is rain. Even rain is unable altogether to quiet the multitudinous enthusiasm which the game brings to the fore.

At 10 o'clock tonight a light rain began falling and the weather man is out with a prediction for rain tomorrow. Yet Columbus is already packed to the outer limits with football enthusiasts, while thousands are getting ready to make the trip. If the rain is not too heavy, the prediction of the Columbus boosters is for the biggest crowd which ever saw a game between the two old rivals.

Georgia is on the ground, following the precedent of other years. Coach Woodruff says the team is ready and makes only one prediction and that is that "it will be a regular Georgia-Auburn game so far as I can see. Of course, I hope for a victory, but I am not making any prediction."

Auburn, on the other hand, has not arrived, but will come to town on a special train which is due to arrive about 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. Boozie Pitts, the coach from the Alabama plains, was reached over the long distance phone and said:

"No one is able to tell what we will do except that we will fight mightily for victory. The team is in excellent shape and every man on the squad will make the trip and be ready to do his all. It ought to be a battle worth watching, so say the least."

The rain, which is falling tonight and which is predicted for tomorrow, will play havoc with the outlined plays of both teams and the coaches will possibly have to resort to such a change in program as to completely upset any surprises or plans arranged in advance. It is a question which will be favored by the mud, as both are supposed to have very fast backfield men and both have been coached particularly in forward passing. Certainly rain will play havoc with the latter.

This is a big event with the citizens of Columbus, and as in the past, the city is decorated to a fare-the-well. Little candy and dog and ribbon galore are in all the windows down town and a general holiday air pervades. Fifteen or more thousands are expected to be on hand by tomorrow at noon and preparations have been made to handle all to the satisfaction of each visitor. In this respect Columbus always does herself proud.

Georgia Favored.
With the Georgia team on the ground, as last year, and with Auburn arriving early tomorrow, nothing but football is being talked every day. The Georgia boosters figure Georgia to win, say the crowds; but always the hope goes wrong when Georgia and Auburn meet. Most everyone in Columbus is sure that it is anybody's game and it is quite likely this theory is correct.

Many say the thing that makes them believe in a victory for Auburn is the fact that the game does favor Georgia. For several years the game has favored Auburn and last year was the first time in three seasons when they won. So taking this into consideration it is figured that Auburn will upset Georgia just as Georgia upset Auburn in 1920 and 1921.

One thing is certain and that is it will be a close, hard-fought game. The scores are always small when Georgia and Auburn clash and this season it will not be different. That much is a cinch. Since 1915 neither team has beat the other by more than one touchdown. The last year's score piled up was back in 1915 when Auburn scored 14 points to nothing for Georgia. Georgia had won the previous year while in 1914 it was 0 to 0 tie.

Georgia has made a special preparation for this game. Following the debacle at Yale they returned and defeated Tennessee at Knoxville, but last Saturday they rested and are in the finest possible shape for Auburn. On the other hand Auburn had fairly easy game last Saturday and they report themselves in as fine shape as one could wish. Both teams have offered an advance all-in and it will be the best which turns up with the big end of the score.

Both teams are under new coaches this season and a different brand of football is expected from what has ruled the day for several years. True, Stegeman is still at Athens and Pitts was an assistant to Donahue. But that means little as Woodruff and Thomas have the most experience in making Georgia while Pitts has always wanted an opportunity to try out theories. This is Woodruff's home and he has worked and prayed to earn a victory here.

THE LINE-UP.
AUBURN.—Ollinger, Richardson, Taylor, Harkins, Grayson, Reagan, C. J. Day, Lawrence, Bennett, Brice, Thomson, Pruitt, Kilpatrick, Fletcher, Williams, Randall, Howe, Butler, Leland.
Officials—Referee, Elcock (Dartmouth); umpire, Black (Davidson); head linesman, Irwin (Missouri); field judge, Wood (Notre Dame).

Georgia Freshmen Humble Strong Mercer Rat Team

Macon, Ga., November 2.—(Special.)—The crippled Georgia freshman eleven rushed to victory over the Mercer freshmen this afternoon by a score of 19 to 0. The game was fairly evenly played during the first half, although the Bull Pups showed their superiority by talking a well-earned touchdown in the second quarter; but in the last half, and particularly in the final period, the great offensive of the Red and Black crumpled up the Mercer defense.

A brilliant star in the losing fight of the home team was "Red" Lawrence, the little quarterback. This young back showed great speed and open field running ability, making frequent scintillating end runs and doing practically all the ground gaining against the Bull Pups. He was always hard to stop, racing around the would-be tacklers with ease; but the Georgia defense was too much for him to get loose. He put words of pep and fight into the Macon crew.

The outstanding star of the game, however, was George Morton, quarterback for the Red and Black. This Athens boy rarely failed to gain and his attempts averaged about five yards. Time after time he dodged and twisted his way through half the Mercer team that was massed to stop him. He had speed and plenty of it when circling the end and when in the broken field was more elusive than a will-o'-the-wisp. It was a case of too much Morton for the Merceries.

In between the great gains of Morton the other backs contributed their share of success. Shivers, probably ranking next to Morton in the line, made possible by the effective interference of his teammates, although in this department the Bull Pups were suffering from a relapse after their splendid showing against the first-year men of North Carolina a week ago.

The defensive work of the left side of the Mercer line was equally good. Tipton at end, and both Dunn and Davis often broke through the cordon of interference, and downed the runner. The only lack of success during the afternoon was blocked by Davis, who recovered it but was tackled before he could get loose. Grant and Banks on the other side of the line played well. In fact, very little of the Georgia freshmen's gains were made through the line.

In the initial period the Bull Pups and Merceries battled on even terms but early in the second quarter the Red and Black began a march on their own 34-yard line and were not stopped until they had piled up four first downs and tallied a marker. A beautiful 25-yard sprint by Morton placed it within striking distance, and a pass from him to Kain added the finishing touches. Hollis failed at goal.

Staging a plucky comeback in the third period, the Mercer freshmen held their opponents scoreless by stiffening their defense and by making three first downs in succession, but a poor kick gave Georgia the ball on the 39-yard line and a long pass to Kain again started the scoring play. An untimely fumble paved the way for the final score. From the 15-yard line the Athenians made it short work and this time Hollis added the extra point on a drop kick.

Don't Miss the Kickoff
SAT AT Thornton's Cafeteria
12 N. Forsyth St. Rialto Bldg.
And So On Time.
Ask your Grocer for
Phoenix Cup Coffee
He carries it for you

HEAD STRAIGHT FOR MUSE'S—"OVERCOATLAND"

STOP THE CHILLY WINDS WITH STYLE TODAY GET INTO ONE OF THE HANDSOME

MUSE OVERCOATS

Today you should dress well for many reasons (one of them is probably looking for you at 8:30 this evening? or is she yours now?)

Today pick the Muse Overcoat for your stand against winter; a Muse Coat of magnificent protection; sturdiness, strength and unforgettable good style . . . coats that suggest the powerful executive, and youth, at one and the same time!

THE GREAT MUSE COATS

—bespeaking discerning taste and character. Tailored finely by Society Brand at $40 up, and by ingenious Hickey-Freeman at $50 up. (And for the par excellent medium-weight coat, the Hickey-Freeman Glen Sprays, of imported fabrics, at $68.

THE LIGHT MUSE COATS

—light in weight, solid in comfort: "Muse Knit-tex" Coats, invisibly knitted; light to wear and snug to be in, and worth their price just to be seen in! These are $35—while at $25 up, the clever Gabardines and Whipcords (shower-proof) are presented—and how finely they present you!

RIGHT NOW---HEAD STRAIGHT FOR

MUSE'S

"The Style Center of the South"

Peachtree :: Walton :: Broad

Cooper's union suits
$1.85

A well-made mid-weight union suit ---just the thing for southern wear. Our stock of winter underwear is complete now---buy yours early

Wool hose 75c a pair

EISEMAN'S

—the house of Kuppenheimer good clothes

56-58 Peachtree "Thru to Broad"

We've Got the Town Beat in These

Men's Shoes

$4.90

An $8.00 Value

This is a Special Price for Saturday

Black or Tan
Calf Top
Rubber Heel and Welt
Sole.

Compare this Wonderful Shoe, men, with anything in Atlanta for $8, and if it doesn't class them all, bring them back. Select from 20 different styles at this low price. You get more and pay less at Black's.

Greatest Shoe Values in Town

7 Decatur St.

At 5 Points

TECH-ALABAMA GAME WILL START TODAY AT 2 O'CLOCK

Mrs. Dozier Lowndes Retains City Golf Title

Wins Honor for Second Time By Defeating Mrs. Robinson 4 and 3 in Title Match

Wind and Cold Weather Interfere With Participants — Mrs. Lowndes Demonstrates Her Superiority.

BY MRS. CLARENCE BRADLEY.

The chase for the women's city golf championship cup ended yesterday morning and the victor's crown still rests on the brow of Mrs. Dozier Lowndes, the winner of the city championship in 1922.

Mrs. Lowndes has clearly demonstrated her superiority in the Atlanta women's golf circles. She defeated Mrs. L. J. Robinson 4 and 3 to go in the final. Mrs. Robinson put up a game fight but was unable to do so.

The high wind and almost freezing weather kept the scores from being lower. Mrs. Lowndes shot a 44 for the first side and even five for the six holes played coming in, while Mrs. Robinson had a 47 for the first side and even five for the six holes played on the second side.

Both players were playing a fine game. Mrs. Lowndes played inside her opponent on holes Nos. 1, 3, 5, 6, 8, 9, 11, 12 and 14. Mrs. Robinson was inside on Nos. 2, 4, 7, 10, 13 and 15. The winner had the edge on most of the tee shots, her drives outstanding her opponent from 10 to 20 yards.

Mrs. Robinson appeared uncertain of her position on a number of holes, but made some fine recoveries. One of the finest shots of the match was the spoon made by Mrs. Robinson on the thirteenth hole, when her drive from the tee sliced into the rough on the side of a fairway and she laid her spoon 150 yards up the fairway almost to the green in two.

Mrs. Jague Wins. The final match in the first flight was played yesterday morning with Mrs. J. E. Jague winning from Mrs. Henry Clay Burr. Mrs. Jague's short but steady playing overcame the long drives of her opponent. Mrs. Burr was badly off her tee shots, but she averaged three putts to the green in the match. The dry weather and high winds of Wednesday and Thursday tried out Mrs. Jague and made putting very difficult.

In the championship match Mrs. Robinson drove first under the tree. Her drive was well down the fairway and Mrs. Lowndes' drive was inside about fifteen yards. Mrs. Robinson played safe on the second hole, while Mrs. Lowndes tried for the green, and came to grief when her ball kicked into the trap, but she came out in 3 and halved the hole with a 5.

On No. 2 Mrs. Robinson's drive was to the right of the green, and Mrs. Lowndes' drive was in the trap near the green. She came out in 2 but was over. Mrs. Robinson's putt was short. Mrs. Lowndes' drive was to the cup and laid Mrs. Robinson a dead stymie. Both were down in 4.

On No. 3 both drives were to the right of the green, and Mrs. Robinson was in the trap, her third was in the trap, her fourth was out but 15 feet past the pin. Mrs. Lowndes' putt coming back for a five. Mrs. Lowndes' iron was over the green in 2 and in the trap in the water. She played out from the water and was down in 5, going 1 up. On No. 4 Mrs. Lowndes got a corking good drive down the fairway but she took a nasty hop and went into the rough to the right. She hooked her second into the rough, but came out near the green in 3. Mrs. Robinson got a good drive, but she sliced into the rough on the right; her third was also sliced into the rough; she made a brilliant recovery and laid up dead in 4. Mrs. Lowndes was short on her fourth. Mrs. Robinson won with a 5, taking one putt.

Both Driving Well. On No. 5 Mrs. Robinson was well down the fairway on her drive, and had a corking good second shot straight down the fairway. Her third was just short of the green, but she looked up on her fourth and missed the shot. Her fifth was dead to the pin and she was down with one putt. Mrs. Lowndes' drive was well down the fairway. Her second was sliced into the rough, but came out with a beautiful putt. Her third was near the green and she was on in 4, taking 2 putts for a five.

On the sixth hole Mrs. Robinson was on the edge of the green. Mrs. Lowndes in the rough to the right. Mrs. Robinson's approach was over the cup, and Mrs. Lowndes almost holed out her putt. Mrs. Robinson missed her putt back for three, and Mrs. Lowndes won with a par three, going one up.

On the seventh Mrs. Lowndes missed her drive and was in the rough to the left, but she played a fine putt near the green and was on in three. Mrs. Robinson got away with a good drive and was in two, but her putt was short and Mrs. Lowndes played up for the cup and ran over, laying Mrs. Robinson a dead stymie. Both were down in five.

On the eighth Mrs. Lowndes drove the winter green and Mrs. Robinson hooked to the right in the rough and her second was short. Mrs. Lowndes held up dead and Mrs. Robinson came down in two putts. Mrs. Lowndes took one putt and was down with a par three. Mrs. Lowndes won with a par three, going one up.

On the ninth Mrs. Lowndes drove the winter green and Mrs. Robinson hooked to the right in the rough and her second was short. Mrs. Lowndes held up dead and Mrs. Robinson came down in two putts. Mrs. Lowndes took one putt and was down with a par three. Mrs. Lowndes won with a par three, going one up.

On the tenth Mrs. Lowndes drove the winter green and Mrs. Robinson hooked to the right in the rough and her second was short. Mrs. Lowndes held up dead and Mrs. Robinson came down in two putts. Mrs. Lowndes took one putt and was down with a par three. Mrs. Lowndes won with a par three, going one up.

On the number ten both got well over the lake on their tee shots. Mrs. Lowndes' brassie was short, she played an iron on her third and went over the green. Mrs. Robinson's third was on the green, and Mrs. Lowndes' approach ran ten feet east.

Have You Tried
Phoenix Cup Coffee

DECATUR IS DEFEATED, 15-7

Gainesville, Ga., November 2.—Gainesville High school defeated Decatur High in one of the hardest fought games ever seen here. The score was 15 to 7. Early in the game Rothstein, for Gainesville, kicked a field goal. In the third half, Hardy, Gainesville, blocked a punt behind the goal and Gainesville recovered for a touchdown. Decatur scored when Smith ran 10 yards off tackle.

HALIFAX BOAT RACE IS OFF

Halifax, N. S., November 3.—The international fishermen's race committee today formally declared off the race tomorrow between the Lunenburg schooner Bluenose and the American challenger Columbia. The decision was reached after considerable wrangling and after Captain Walters of the Bluenose declared he would not race.

The trophy will be held by the trustees for competition off Gloucester, Mass., next year. The action of Walters in defying the committee and putting out to sea caused considerable resentment here. When some one on the dock called for three cheers for the Bluenose as she was chafing off there was no response.

Captain Angus Walters, of the Lunenburg schooner Bluenose, defied the international race committee, which last night ruled that yesterday's race should go to the American challenger, Columbia, after the Bluenose had apparently won, and he declared positively that he would not race tomorrow.

"I go home," the Bluenose has won, and I'll do no more racing this year," Captain Walters was quoted as having declared. The international committee ruled that the Bluenose had forfeited yesterday's race, which it had won by a margin of two and one-half minutes, by sailing to the landward instead of seaward of a shallow water buoy. The rule had been promulgated by the committee at the start of the race, when Captain Ben Pine, of the Columbia, protested he had been fouled by the Bluenose when the Canadian crowded the American into dangerous waters.

FLORIDA AND MERCER PLAY

Gainesville, Fla., November 2.—(Special.)—Everything is in readiness to ring up the curtain on what promises to be one of the hardest fought grid battles of the season when Florida clashes with the University of Florida Gators tomorrow afternoon on Fleming field.

Gainesville is running over with persons from all parts of the state who are here to witness what has been advertised as "the season's classic." All hotel accommodations were exhausted at noon today and every train continues to bring more football fans into the city.

Although every man on the Mercer squad is keyed up to the highest spirit of optimism, the Mercer eleven will be slightly handicapped tomorrow, as Smith and Simmons are both suffering from wrenched backs. Kid Cecil with a sprained ankle, Sid Ellison with an injured knee and Tarnan Bowling, who is suffering with a rising on the back of his neck.

However, according to reports emanating from the pond of the Gators, Mercer is not the only team to be hunched up. Norton, one of the mainstays of the Florida line, is crutches Joe Merrin, another line man, is hobbling with a sprained ankle. Ark Newton, star halfback, also has a game wiper, and there are other minor injuries, it is reported.

was well down the fairway and her third was on the green. Mrs. Burr's drive sliced into the rough, her second was short of the trap and she looked up on her third and was trapped. She came out on the green in 4 and went four up when she holed out a long putt for a five. The eleventh was halved with five. The twelfth was also halved. On the thirteenth Mrs. Burr got a good drive and her brassie hit the top of the trap and fell back and it cost her two to get on the green and the best she could do was a six for a half.

On the fourteenth Mrs. Jague had a fine drive from the tee, her second

Fine shoes here

The "Haig combination"

$13¹/₂

Made of finest tan calf—a leader in style, a wonderful value

Stock No. 1101—same last as above in blucher style at thirteen fifty

Stock No. 1108—same as above, made of new tan moor calf, blucher style, brass eyelets, priced at ten dollars

Stock No. 1116—same as above, tan and black medium-weight oxford at eight dollars

EISEMAN'S

56-58 Peachtree "Thru to Broad"

Saturday's Grid Games

| Home Team | Opponent | At |
|--------------------------------|----------------------------|------------------|
| Alabama Poly. | Georgia | Columbus |
| Amherst | Wesleyan | Amherst |
| Bates | Trinity | Fayetteville |
| Arkansas | Oswegatchia | Lewiston |
| Dickinson | Trinity | Danville |
| Baylor | Texas A. & M. | Waco |
| Brown | St. Bonaventure | Providence |
| Buffalo | Hamilton | Buffalo |
| California | Nevada | Berkeley |
| Carnegie Tech | Lehigh | Berkeley |
| Centre | Kentucky | Chattanooga |
| Chattanooga | Sewanee | Chattanooga |
| Colby | Boston University | Waterville |
| Colorado | Colorado College | Boulder |
| Columbia | Middlebury | New York |
| Creighton | Haskell | Omaha |
| Dartmouth | Cornell | Dartmouth |
| Detroit | Marquette | Detroit |
| Dickinson | Gettysburg | Des Moines |
| Drake | Iowa State | Des Moines |
| Elon | Trinity | Greensboro |
| Furman | Oglethorpe | Greensboro |
| Georgetown | Boston College | Georgetown (Ky.) |
| Georgetown College | Alabama | Atlanta |
| Georgia Tech | Alabama | Atlanta |
| Harvard | Tufts | Cambridge |
| Holy Cross | Vermont | Worcester |
| Howard College | Millisaps | Birmingham |
| Idaho | Gonzaga | Oscos |
| Illinois | Chicago | Bloomington |
| Indiana | Hanover | Urbana |
| Iowa | Michigan | Iowa City |
| Iowa Hopkins | West Maryland | Baltimore |
| Kansas Agricultural | Missouri | Manhattan |
| King | Milligan | Bristol |
| Lafayette | Washington and Jefferson | Little Rock |
| Louisiana | Transylvania | Louisville |
| Loyola | Dallas | New Orleans |
| Maine | Bowdoin | Orono |
| Maryland | St. John's | College Park |
| Minnesota | Northwestern | Minneapolis |
| Mississippi | Mississippi Southern | Oxford |
| Mississippi College | Louisiana State | Vicksburg |
| Montana | Whitman | Missoula |
| Muhlenberg | Bucknell | Allentown |
| North Carolina State | Davidson | Charlotte |
| Notre Dame | Purdue | South Bend |
| Oberlin | Cincinnati | Columbus |
| Ohio State | Denison | Columbus |
| Oklahoma | Kansas | Norman |
| Pennsylvania | Pittsburg | Philadelphia |
| Princeton | Swarthmore | Princeton |
| Quantic | Villanova | Quantic |
| Richmond | Randolph-Macon | Richmond |
| South Carolina | North Carolina | Columbia |
| Spring Hill | Southwestern | Mobile |
| Stanford | Olympic Club | Palo Alto |
| Syracuse | Penn State | Syracuse |
| Tennessee | Tulane | Knoxville |
| Texas | Rice | Austin |
| The Citadel | Newberry | Austin |
| U. S. Naval Academy | Colgate | Annapolis |
| Ursinus | Albright | Annapolis |
| Utah | College of Idaho | Salt Lake City |
| Vanderbilt | Mississippi Agricultural | Nashville |
| Virginia Military Institute | Emory-Henry | Lexington |
| Virginia Polytechnic Institute | Clemson | Blacksburg |
| Washington and Lee | Virginia | Lexington |
| Western Reserve | Wooster | Cleveland |
| Williams | Massachusetts Agricultural | Williamstown |
| Yale | U. S. Military Academy | New Haven |

Virginia Eleven Will Meet Washington and Lee Today

Arnold and Doffey Are Expected To Be Mainstays of Old Dominion's Attack.

University, Va., November 2.—(Special.)—Benny Arnold and Carter Doffey will be the mainstays of the University of Virginia in the game with Washington and Lee on Saturday as far as the offensive power of the team is concerned, but if Coach Neale follows anything like the same policy against the Generals as against Trinity last week a good many other Virginia backfield men may get into action.

With Doffey running the eleven as halfback and Arnold in left half either Sam Maphis or Paul Walp will fill the other halfback position with Mait Wilson as fullback. This is the backfield that will probably start against the Generals.

But if Virginia has any offensive strength at all it is in the reserve power of her backfield and during the Washington game, three times he carried over a touchdown, and he had crossed the goal line a fourth time after a 40-yard run, but Virginia was called back for being off-side.

On the Culver Military Academy team, of which he was captain in his final year, Doffey received valuable training especially during a period in which Rockne, of Notre Dame, gave some of the Culver lads special coaching in the St. Johns and V. M. I. games Doffey worked well as an end, but not until he was given his chance behind the line could he demonstrate his ability as a team general and a broken field runner.

FRENCH, SHRINER & URNER MEN'S SHOES

Another Step Forward—

We have brought French, Shriner & Urner Shoes to Atlanta. This is another step forward in our desire to give the men in Atlanta the best there is.

More French, Shriner & Urner Shoes are sold each year in New York than any other men's high-grade shoe. Why?

Come in and try on a pair of these famous shoes and you will know the answer.

CHAS. V. WILKIE
Mgr. Shoe Dept.

D. Shalloway & Co.

Men's Outfitters
15 Edgewood Ave.
Out-of-Town Orders Solicited

Superiority Built in—Not Rubbed On

JACKET RATS DROP BATTLE

University Alabama, November 2. (Special.)—The Alabama Freshmen completely hushed the Georgia Tech freshmen this afternoon, 17-0. The Tech Rats were helpless before the terrific line plugging and sweeping end runs of the local rats, while they were completely outwitted as well.

The tide rats made three times as many first downs as the little Tornado. The points came through two touchdowns and a field goal kicked by Quarterback Rosenfeld in the second quarter.

The terrific line assaults of Caldwell and Estes, right halfback and fullback of the Rats couldn't be stopped. They burst the line for three to fifteen yards every time they carried the ball. This brought about a touchdown in the third quarter. The same methods brought about the second touchdown in the last quarter. Johnny Murray, center, and Hank Jickard, guard, also played a jump game. Rosenfeld, quarter, ran the ball for the first time in a jump game. Rosenfeld, quarter, ran the ball, led interference, punted and ran with the ball in mastery fashion. Caldwell and Estes, mentioned above, were the other star backs.

MARIST TEAM PLAYS TODAY

Marist and Darlington High will play this morning at 10 o'clock on the Marist campus in what promises to be one of the best games on the Marist schedule.

Recently Tech High met the strong Darlington High team, coached by Paul Lyman, former Tech star, and came out on the lone end of a 19 to 6 score, but since that time Tech High has made many changes. Marist, on the other hand, has been coached by Joe Bean, an old football and basketball coach in Atlanta. Last season he taught the Marist eleven more than 50 plays and each of those were executed with the same degree of accuracy and it was to that end that the Gaulets were able to make such a good record for the season.

Marist has lost only one game this season and that to Boys' High by a decisive score, but it must be considered that several of the Marist stars were out of the game and also that Boys' High had the breaks of the game, coupled with a large amount of football luck.

Coach Joe Bean has taught the Marist team many new tricks this season, and only last week Marist exhibited a reproduction to the Florida shift which was used effectively against Georgia Tech. Marist also knows the Tech shift and the game may result in a battle of the jump shift, for Paul Lyman is reported as having taught the shift perfectly to his Darlington eleven.

John Staton Says Alabama Knows Every Jacket Play; Crimson Pointed for Game

Alabama Has Had Little Trouble Rolling Up Points When She Cared to Display Any of Her Attack.

BY JOHN STATON.

Georgia Tech and Alabama will meet this afternoon on Grant field at 2 o'clock. Please note the change in starting time. All the October games began at 2:30 o'clock, but from today on until the end of the season, the games will begin promptly at 2. Both teams have reached the height of their efficiency and the game this afternoon will be a mighty struggle from beginning to end. Tech can not possibly reach top form before November. The shift is so intricate, and the whole system so complex, that it takes at least two months for the team members to learn how to work as a unit. Team work is the fundamental of the Tech system, and before the team as a whole can attain its maximum drive, every fellow on it must learn to work with his partner. As for Alabama, she has built her whole schedule around this game. It is the mother planet around which the lesser games revolve. Alabama has played one real good football team this season in order to gain experience. Outside of the Syracuse game, no other dangerous opponents have been met. In short, the Crimson Tide has been saving up for the encounter this afternoon.

It's going to be a great battle. The Line-up. 'BAMA. Staton Clements Buckner Jones Frye Campbell Huggins Compton Hunt Gillis Williams Barnes Farnsworth Oliver Wyckoff Hubert

JUNIOR HIGH TEAMS CLASH

This morning at 9:30 o'clock the third game of the Junior High league will be played at Spiller park between the Joe Brown Maroons and the William Bass school. Football has taken great strides in the Junior league and this fight promises to be a real gridiron tussle.

Both teams have met with defeat in the hands of the O'Keefe eleven, and two more evenly matched teams could hardly be found. Coach Doyle has a quartet of backfield men, headed by Brady, that would do justice to any high school team. Carroll, at center for the Purple and Gold eleven, has been playing a powerful defensive game and his work will be watched with interest.

Coach Ellsworth has been drilling his men hard all week in anticipation of today's game and the fighting Maroons are reported in first condition. Ed Heving at quarter for Coach Ellsworth's team has been displaying wonderful ability and he will be worth watching. Captain Daniels can be counted on to do his share of the damage to the Bass line with his line plunges.

Last Saturday a large crowd of rosters followed these teams to Grant park and the ticket sale indicates a record crowd for today.

The teams will line up as follows: BASS. Pos. BROWN. Vess Collins Henderson Darby Adams White Carroll Campbell Price Howell Frabble Harris Hadden Hoppin Hening Logan Smith Daniels Newman Hillborne Daniels (C.)

The University of Montpellier, France, has a medical school tracing back to the tenth century.

ANNOUNCING

The Opening of Atlanta's

NEWEST SHOE STORE FOR MEN

TODAY, SATURDAY, NOV. 3

A Shop for Men Exclusively

Specializing

IN SMART SHOES AT

$6 $7^a $8

We Invite a Visit

QUALITY WITHOUT EXTRAVAGANCE The VARSITY BOOT SHOP

77 Peachtree St.

—Opposite Flatiron Building

